THE WORD TODAY: 'ROLL 'EM'

Youngsters and their parents stage their annual invasion of the White House grounds in Washington, D.C. today during the annual Easter egg roll. Typical of the visitors, in the foreground, is 3-year-old Lely Paulson of Washington, D.C. Before the gates were closed in midafternoon approximately 12,000 children and adults joined in the romp, a 74-year-old Easter Monday tradition which dates back to the days of Benjamin Franklin. Who Will Get Council Position?

By BRYCE W. ANDERSON

Three members of the San Rafael Planning Commission are among at least seven persons being put forward to fill a vacancy on the city council.

The vacancy comes about through election of Councilman David Menary Jr. as city attorney. His term on the council has two years to run.

Mentioned as having "indicated interest" in the council appointment are, among others, Gene F. O'Connor, Carl S. Brown and Orlando Conti, all members of the planning commission. Conti has twice in the past been an unsuccessful candidate for election to the city council.

Also definitely interested in the council appointment is Lothar Salin, who ran for the council in last Monday's election but failed to unseat either Dr. Charles W. Aby or Fred E. Jensen, incumbents who

More Steel Rises Bring Congress Inquiry Order

Republic Third Firm To Announce Increase

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen. Paul H. Douglas (D-Ill.), today scheduled a series of "impartial and factual" congressional hearings on steel prices, production costs and profits.

Douglas, acknowledged senate authority on economics, said his House-Senate Economic Committee would begin hearings April 22 and 23. He stressed they would be "non-partisan" and part of a previously agreed study of the domestic economy.

The move came within a week in which three steel companies—Republic, Wheeling and Lukens—raised prices on certain products one year after President John F. Kennedy's historic clash with U.S. Steel over a price raise in April, 1962. (See also story page 2.)

Douglas said he had no intention of obtaining and using subpoena powers to get cost data or to force witnesses to appear. Industry representatives will be invited to testify, Douglas said, and the Iron and Steel Institute, the Industry Trade Assn., and the AFL-CIO Steelworkers Union will be asked to send observers.

The use of subpoenas led to the abortion of a similar inquiry into steel prices called by the Senate antitrust and monopoly subcommittee of Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.), after the April, 1962, steel crisis.

(Republic Steel Corp., the nation's third largest producer, was the third company putting selective price increases into effect in an announcement made today, the Associated Press reported.

(Republic said in Cleveland, Ohio, it is increasing by an average of $5.24 a ton prices of carbon steel products.

NEAR FAIRFAX

Planners Approve 1,800-Acre Zoning

Limited agricultural zoning for nearly 1,800 acres of steep, wooded land near Fairfax was approved unanimously today by the Marin County Planning Commission.

The approval for agricultural zoning to replace the county's old interim "D" zoning for the area came after two public hearings. At the first hearing March 18, residents near the area objected to proposed single-family residential zoning as being "too restrictive."

"Our first job is to get rid of the interim zoning," said Chairman William Upton. "The agricultural zoning will allow more uses but will still allow even more restrictive zoning as time goes on."

"One reason we want to eliminate the 'D' zoning," said Commissioner Felix H. Warburg, "is that the old zoning allows duplexes. The new zoning will prevent that."

The largest single section in the area, between Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, the city of Fairfax and Bolinas Road, is about 800 acres including Boy Scout Camp Tamarancho.

At suggestion of Warburg, part of the area along Bolinas Road and a small section near White's Hill were excluded from the agricultural zoning and held for future consideration.

The zoning approved by the commission will allow single-family residences on 10,000-square-foot lots as well as non-residential uses such as riding academies, dog kennels, and even hospitals.

E. W. Elliott of 650 Cascade Drive, Fairfax, owner of 500 acres, had previously protested residential zoning, but asked the commission today to exclude about 19 acres south of Bolinas Road and consider that section for residential use after all. He said he was about to sell the land for subdivision.

Also asking for "more restrictive" zoning was Gilbert P. Murphy, an architect living near Bolinas Road, who said many residents of the area would like to keep horses, but objected to too general an application of agricultural zoning.

The commission will consider other uses for the Bolinas Road area May 6. The agricultural zoning for the bulk of the land will be considered by the board of supervisors for setting of public hearing dates on April 23.

Netherlands Princess At Muir Woods

Princess Beatrix Wilhelmina Armgard of The Netherlands slipped quietly into and out of Marin today in a brief visit to Muir Woods National Monument.

The princess told Lawson H. Brainerd, supervisory park ranger, "I am impressed by the solitude, the sheer beauty and the size of the trees."

Brainerd was with the tour party which took the princess's mother, Queen Juliana, through the park in the mid-1940s.

The Dutch princess was in company of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Zellerbach, her host and hostess during her Bay Area sty, Brainerd said. (See story, page 2)

Cassini Rites

NEW YORK (UPI)—Nearly 150 relatives and friends attended the funeral today of Mrs. Charlene Wrightsman Cassini, 38, who died here last Tuesday after taking an overdose of sleeping pills.

Candidates, Issues In Schools Election

Tomorrow is election day throughout Marin County.

Every community will be voting on district school trustees or members of the county board of education, or both. In several districts, tax and bond measures will also be on the ballot.

San Rafael residents, who voted April 8 in the city election, will go to the polls again to help choose a member of the county board of education and three trustees of Marin Junior College District.

Biggest bond issue proposal is for $1,600,000 in Dixie Elementary School District — where voters also turned out last week for a share in electing the San Rafael Board of Education.

Kentfield School District residents will decide the fate of an $850,000 bond issue.

Tamalpais High School District — which includes Reed, Sausalito, Mill Valley, Larkspur, Kentfield, Ross, San Anselmo, Fairfax and Lagunitas Elementary School Districts — has a ballot proposal to continue the $1.90 operating tax limit, due to expire June 30 if not renewed.

Lagunitas District has a whopping $1.05 operating tax rate hike proposal on the ballot—which has split its five candidates for two trusteeships. This would raise the ceiling from $2 to $3.05, plus debt payment and "override" taxes.

A smaller increase is proposed in Tomales Bay Elementary School District, to raise the 80-cent operating tax lid to $1.30, again plus debt service, etc. All the tax proposals are to continue the new ceiling indefinitely.

Sixteen of the country's school districts have contests for trusteeships. There is one

Marin's Easter Sunrise Services, Egg Hunt Washed Out By Rain

All Easter sunrise religious services were forced indoors by rain yesterday, as was a children's Easter egg hunt scheduled for Albert Park in San Rafael.

Weekend rain varied from .66 of an inch in Sausalito to 1.16 in downtown San Rafael. It came in a series of showers interspersed with brief glimpses of sunshine.

The Weather Bureau, which had been predicting rain daily throughout the week—and being right each time—changed its prediction today. Tomorrow will be fair, the bureau said.

About 150 persons turned out despite rain for a sunrise service scheduled atop San Rafael Hill, sponsored by the Marin Council of Churches. But as a downpour started before dawn, the service was moved indoors at the First Presbyterian Church.

The service scheduled at Cushing Memorial Theater on Mount Tamalpais, sponsored by the 666th Radar Squadron and Mill Valley churches, was held instead at the Mill Valley Radar Station's base theater. One hundred and fifty worshipers showed up with umbrellas and rain gear.

Similarly, the outdoor service planned at Fort Baker was moved to the post chapel, and a Novato community sunrise service that was to have been held in the parking lot of Good Shepherd Lutheran Church moved inside the church itself. Crowds were much smaller than usual in all cases because of the rain.

The San Rafael 20-30 Club had planned to hide 1,800 Easter eggs for youngsters in Albert Park. But as the showers continued, the hunt was moved to San Rafael High School, with a small turnout.

Novato children were more fortunate. The sun stayed out long enough for a real scramble on Saturday afternoon for 2,160 colored eggs hidden by Novato Volunteer Firemen in the clipped grass of the Patterson Ranch.

San Rafael topped the rainfall readings, with 1.16 inches over the weekend to noon today. Novato and Larkspur's Chevy Chase district were close behind with 1.15 and 1.14 inches, respectively. Other readings for the 48-hour period to 8 a.m. today included:

Galapagos Island Volcano Erupts

QUITO, Ecuador (UPI)—The Chico Volcano on Isabella Island, largest in the Galapagos group off the Ecuadorean coast, erupted yesterday and was still spewing smoke, lava and ashes today, according to reports reaching here.

There was no report of deaths or injuries in the fragmentary reports reaching here.

The reports said the volcano, located in the center of the island, gave little warning before the eruption.

Gravy On Head? He Asks $25,000

A San Rafael bar-owner, who contends his employee poured some gravy like substance over his head, filed a $25,000 damage suit against the employee for "assault and battery."

William G. Taylor, who operates the Old Fashioned Bar at 1105 Fourth Street, says employee Kenneth Kelly poured the substance over his head and body last April 5. Taylor filed the suit in Marin Superior Court, alleging he was humiliated in front of his patrons and has become highly nervous and easily disturbed.

Blizzards Hit Sierra Highways

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Snow and high winds made driving hazardous over the northern Sierra highways today as blizzards blurred visibility.

Highway 40A, the Feather River route, was reported closed just before 8 a.m.

Highway 40, the Donner Summit highway, was subject to temporary closing, with blizzards blowing.

Conditions were almost as bad on Highway 50, the Echo Summit route.

Easter Throngs

NEW YORK (UPI)—Plenty of sunshine and an absence of publicity stunts made for a dignified and pleasurable Easter parade along Fifth Avenue yesterday.

SCHOOL POSTS VOTING DAY TOMORROW

It will be a short voting day tomorrow for voters in eight small Marin school districts.

Although most districts will have polls open during the usual hours of 7 a.m. to 7 p.m., the eight will have balloting for a shorter time.

In West Marin District, polls will open at 10 a.m. to 7:30 p.m. In Nicasio, Point Reyes, Bolinas-Stinson, Tomales Bay, Union, Lincoln and Lagunitas districts, voting hours will be from 1 to 7 p.m.

25,000 Pilgrims Leave Holy Land

JERUSALEM, Jordan (UPI)—Nearly 25,000 pilgrims headed for home today following the commemoration of Easter in this historic city.

Shouts of "Christ Is Risen" and the joyous pealing of bells rang out over Jerusalem while jubilant clergy, choirs and pilgrims celebrated the central belief of the Christian faith—the resurrection of Christ more than 1,900 years ago.

Five Die In Germany As Balloon Explodes

SCHWELM, Germany (UPI)—Two more victims died yesterday bring to five the number killed in the explosion of a gas-filled sports balloon.

Police said an unidentified person lit a cigaret while the balloon was being deflated after a perfect landing near here Saturday. The escaping gas exploded.

Sergeant York Ailing Again

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Sgt. Alvin C. York, the ailing hero of World War I, was listed in critical condition today with heart trouble, possible pneumonia and a blood circulatory disturbance.

York

The 75-year-old veteran from Pall Mall, Tenn., was brought to St. Thomas Hospital Saturday after his condition became worse. His wife and seven children were called to the bedside.

York rested well yesterday, though his condition has not changed materially since his admittance.

Attendants said he was conscious and talked with his doctor and members of the family.

He was awarded the Medal of Honor, the nation's highest military decoration, for what Gen. John J. Pershing termed the greatest individual feat of World War I.

Governor Says State Economy Excellent

SACRAMENTO (AP)—Gov. Edmund G. Brown says California's economy is off to "an excellent start in 1963," with 20 firms announcing new plants or expansions in the million-dollar class.

The total new investment in the first three months of the year was estimated at 408 million dollars, Brown said. During all of 1962 it was only 700 million dollars.

"All indications," said Brown, "are that we will sustain a high level of growth throughout the year."

Pilot Averts Further Tragedy

OSLO, Norway (UPI)—The pilot of an Icelandair airliner which crashed yesterday, killing all 12 persons aboard, may have averted a bigger tragedy with quick thinking, autorities said today. The lives of villages on the ground had been imperiled.

Reumert

The victims included Danish actress Anna Borg Reumert, 60, a star and instructor in the royal theater in Copenhagen. Six other passengers and five crew members perished.

"The plane crashed exactly where it had to in order not to cause tragedies," a police official said.

A witness said the plane changed its course slightly just before the accident.

Princess Beatrix said the remainder of her journey will include visits to Washington, D. C., New York, and Ottawa.

Mail Carrier Floods City Hall

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Mail carrier Noel Volz, 32, broke into City Hall yesterday and turned on firehoses on all four floors.

In a half-hour he had created rivers running up to four inches deep and had sent water cascading down an elevator shaft to the basement. Police said he broke a dozen windows, overturned lobby displays, stripped trees in City Hall Plaza and threw the limbs into the fountain pool.

Volz told newsmen he chose Easter because, "If anything, it's the proper time. I've been wanting to do this for a long time. I thought City Hall needed a flushing out."

He was booked on charges of suspicion of burglary, resisting arrest, assaulting a police officer and malicious mischief.

RACIAL STRUGGLE IN ALABAMA

'Flabbergasted' Crew Lets JFK Take Catamaran Tiller

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — A barefooted President John F. Kennedy succumbed yesterday to the lure of an unusual sailboat. He hitched a boat ride and soon was at the tiller for a 15-minute sail, taking a soaking from salt spray.

The crew rated the World War II PT-boat skipper a good sailor and one chuckled over having "ordered the president of the United States around."

Kennedy had taken his family on an afternoon cruise after they attended a private Mass at the oceanfront home of his ailing 74-year-old father, former Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy.

It had been a traditional Easter, with the First Lady photographed in her pale pink sleeveless sheath Easter dress and Caroline, 5, and John Jr., 2, enjoying a fluffy Easter toy bunny and taking part in egg rolling.

The president took his daughter for an Atlantic swim off the yacht's ladder.

Then, as the 92-foot presidential yacht was ending a two-hour cruise, a speedy twin-hulled, sloop-rigged catamaran swept in and caught the president's eye.

He stood up to watch it whip past on close runs and finally shouted: "Any chance of getting a ride?"

The three men and three girls aboard the Pattycat said later they had run their boat up close to the Honey Fitz, joking about giving Kennedy a ride.

Mainly, though, the girls just wanted a closer look at the president. "I was just flabbergasted," said Toni Briant, 24, when she realized Kennedy wanted to come aboard.

"The girls were screaming so I wondered how he kept a straight face," said crewman Charles Graves, a pre-dental student at Palm Beach Junior College.

A ladder was put over the side of the Honey Fitz, Kennedy donned a tan windbreaker, took off his shoes and boarded the sailboat with his friend and wartime PT-boat buddy, Undersecretary of the Navy Paul Fay.

There wasn't enough room on the sailboat, so the three girls temporarily were transferred to the Honey Fitz, where they chatted with Jacqueline Kennedy.

They noted fashionable Mrs. Kennedy shift and regretted that they were in shorts and rugged bad weather sailing jackets.

"And I was barefooted," lamented Chris Greer, 19, a language major at Palm Beach Junior College. With her and Miss Briant was Rita Tedder, 20. All are from West Palm Beach.

The president introduced them to Caroline, who stopped playing with her toy Easter bunny long enough to curtsy.

Mrs. Kennedy offered them refreshments, and with an evident interest in sailing asked questions about the 27-foot Pattycat, skippered by Paul Lindenberg, 28, a West Palm Beach boat designer and builder.

Graves and the other crewman, Dr. Ivan Schmidt, a West Palm Beach surgeon, joined in rating Kennedy a real good sailor.

Second Firm Raises Its Steel Price

NEW YORK (AP)—President John F. Kennedy was reported today to be skeptical on whether the price increase announced by the Lukens Steel Co. meet the "public interest" criteria he suggested for the industry.

Kennedy, anxious to head off any steel industry rush to boost prices, held a series of telephone conferences yesterday after Lukens became the second company to announce price increases on part of its products.

The Wall Street Journal said today: "The nation's big steel producers, convinced President Kennedy will tolerate selective price increases, are expected soon to seek their first substantial price relief since mid-1958. Indications over the holiday weekend were that their move could start this week."

The Wheeling Steel Corp. announced increases in prices on a number of its products last Tuesday. On Thursday, Kennedy issued a statement on the Wheeling action.

Laos Factions Sign Food Supply Accord

VIENTIANE, Laos (UPI) — Leaders of the pro-Communist Pathet Lao and neutralist forces signed an accord today to permit sending of food supplies to neutralists bottled up between the battle-scarred Plain of Jars and Dhan Dong.

Signing of the agreement was disclosed by members of the international control commission and the British and Soviet ambassadors who returned here today after accompanying Laotian Prime Minister Souvanna Phouma to the plain yesterday.

The group, including diplomats from five nations, was capitalizing on a temporary cease-fire to press mediation efforts among rival Laotian factions in an effort to head off new fighting in this troubled Southeast Asian kingdom.

LAWMAKERS HAVE TEN WEEKS TO TO FINISH JOB

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The Easter break marks a definite dividing line for California's legislature. Little has happened in the first 14 weeks of the 1963 session; plenty remains to be done before adjournment in less than 10 weeks. The following review brings you up to date on the situation at the Capitol.)

By MORRIE LANDSBERG

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Every major issue remains to be decided in the California Legislature as the 120 lawmakers return to their desks today from a long Easter weekend.

The situation, building toward a frantic finish by June 21, may not differ from other sessions in recent years, but here's how it stands:

Budget? Still in committee.

Dealth penalty? Awaiting Assembly action.

Withholding tax? Not set for its first hearing.

Fair housing? Has to get by a second committee.

Education funds? Up in the air.

Welfare benefits? Not set for hearing yet.

Only a single bill of more than ordinary interest has cleared both houses. It's the administration proposal to establish special school programs for "culturally disadvantaged" youngsters. Gov. Edmund G. Brown probably will sign it shortly.

The 3.25-billion-dollar state budget is not expected to reach the Assembly from its Ways and Means Committee until early May. That committee also is holding the session's key civil rights bill, directed at discrimination in private housing.

There's a good chance, however, that the Assembly will go to a vote on the death penalty issue in the next week or so. The bill, backed by Brown, would suspend capital punishment for a four-year trial moratorium.

The Senate has passed legislation to increase highway user taxes by 70 million dollars a year. It also has sent a bill to the Assembly postponing the effective date of the 1961 Fisher teacher training act from July 1 to Jan. 1, 1964.

The Assembly, meanwhile, has voted for conflict-of-interest regulations affecting state employees; agreed to allow Indians to chew hallucinatory peyote during religious rites, and to permit the reading of the Bible in public schools if it's done to teach literature, not religion.

Neither house has been exactly idle in going over the heavy volume of bills in a general session, held every other year. The defeated list includes proposals to:

Repeal anti-hot cargo, anti-secondary boycott laws; authorize local school districts to select their own textbooks; limit inter-county transfer of liquor licenses; require chemical tests for drunken driving; enact a Purity of Elections act; realign supervisorial districts on a population basis and ban tobacco ads in school publications.

Still other pieces of legislation have been given the interim study treatment. These range all the way from making it a misdemeanor to abandon a cat to prohibiting the sale of model airplane glue to teenagers.

A controversial bill giving a tax break to some duPont stockholders has been delayed for 30 days by the Assembly.

Among still others that have survived their first committee hearings are measures:

Arming the Fair Employment Practices Commission with broader investigating powers; providing state aid for public libraries; setting aside one per cent of state tideland oil income for local beaches; and increasing the number of horse racing days.

There have been no decisions at all on Governor Brown's programs to revise tax payments, billboards, further reorganize the state government, revise the state's welfare setup, legislate against consumer frauds and abolish separate sanity trials in criminal cases.

But the governor's bills have plenty of company in the pending bin. These others include:

Licensing marriage counselors, regulating auto repairmen, allowing therapeutic abortions, restoring permission for women to work overtime in defense industries, requiring licenses to sell products manufactured in Communist countries and legalizing bingo for charity.

Most of the big decisions, by design or not, are usually made in the final two or three weeks of a session. This year's shows no signs whatsoever of being any different.

Comedian Returns

NEW YORK (AP)—Comedian Lenny Bruce, ousted from Great Britain for the second time within a week, tearfully commented at Idlewild airport yesterday that he was too embarrassed to discuss the situation.

Bruce had flown to London Saturday. He was denied admission and ordered to return to the United States.

The American, known for his "sick jokes," flew to London a week ago and was denied admission.

There has been no official indication why Bruce was ordered from the country.

MOST WANTED — Howard Jay Barnard, 39, described as a robbery specialist and escape artist, has been added to the Federal Bureau of Investigation's "Ten Most Wanted Fugitives" list. Bernard made his last escape from a moving train near Orland, Glenn County, on Nov. 2, 1962 while being transported under guard from Seattle to Vacaville. Barnard is five feet, eight inches tall and weighs 150 pounds. He has tattoos of an American flag and scroll on his upper right arm.

BOTULISM DANGER TO CATS IS OVER

The danger of cats contracting botulism by eating a brand of tuna fish cat food has passed, according to Dr. Malcolm H. Merrill, director of the State Health Department.

The health department had asked all grocery stores to remove cat food cans with the serial numbers WY2 and WY3 from shelves "as a precaution" after tuna for human consumption with the same code numbers, packed by Washington Packing Corp. of San Francisco, was found to be contaminated.

The tuna cat food, Tuna 4 Cats, and a number of cases of Drakes Bay tuna had turned up on market shelves in Marin County. Tastewell and Ocean Beauty tuna were also believed to be contaminated.

Merrill said yesterday, "We have not found any can of tuna packed as cat food with any indication of botulism." Tuna for human consumption, suspected of being tainted, has been withdrawn from market shelves, Merrill said.

Boy, 18, Arrested For Skier's Slaying

RENO (UPI) — Thomas Lee Bean, a stringy, tousle-haired teen-ager who has confessed to the strangulation slaying of British ski star Sonja McCaskie, was to be arranged on a murder charge today.

The lean, dark, 18-year-old was arrested Saturday after a camera missing from the apartment of the 24-year-old murder victim was found in a pawn shop, and the pawn ticket was traced to Bean.

After police questioning, he admitted strangling the blonde divorcee with a piece of twine and methodically dismembering her body.

It was the sight of women's underwear hanging on a clothesline, Bean told police, that determined his victim. He said he was prowling Miss McCaskie's neighborhood when he saw the underthings. He entered through an unlocked rear door and strangled the attractive skier when she awoke.

Dist. Atty. William Raggio said he would seek a murder indictment from the grand jury, eliminating the need for a preliminary hearing.

Young Bean re-enacted the crime after his confession Saturday night. He said he spent five and a half hours in the apartment of his victim.

Bean, a Reno High School student, had spent eight months in a Nevada reformatory for attempting to strangle a woman in Salt Lake City.

The youth's father, Elza Bean, stood by his son as he was questioned yesterday. "I'd be a helluva a father if I didn't stick by him," said the elder Bean, who added to newsmen, "we felt he was not all right."

Two Boys, 12, Admit Thefts In Mill Valley

Two 12-year-old boys from Mill Valley have admitted breaking into Valley Mercantile store at 401 Pine Street in Tamalpais Valley last week and stealing assorted items including cigarettes, tobacco, pencils and pocket knives.

The boysand their parents are scheduled to appear before Sheriff's Juvenile Inspector Harvey E. Teague tomorrow morning.

John L. Olivera, employe at the store, reported the thefts Friday night. He said about six cartons of cigarettes, some beer, candy bars and sunflower seeds, worth about $28 in all, were missing from the store, which is closed for business. The thieves had entered by breaking the screen and door to the rear of the store.

Inspector Teague said the boys denied taking any beer. They said the store had been ransacked before they entered for their loot.

U.S. Farms Off

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The number of farms in the nation last year declined 3 per cent to 3,688,000, according to Agriculture Department figures. This number is nearly 2 million less than in 1950. Department experts look for another drop this year to 3,580,000 farms.

Greyhound Lines Shuts Marin City Ticket Office

The Western Greyhound Lines ticket agency, a landmark for 20 years at the entrance to Marin City, died a quiet death today.

"Things are slow," said depot manager Margot Marker at noon. Of course, she added, "it's muddy as usual." She said a few people were buying tickets for the week and commute books in order to save 10 per cent reduction.

The depot, located in a temporary World War II building, was to close at 6:30 p.m. since Greyhound had announced it will no longer have a ticket agency in Marin City but that passengers will be able to buy tickets on the buses.

There is indication that the disappearance of the depot, to be demolished for site improvements for redevelopment starting May 1, might be subject to some after-cries. A petition, with 1,000 signatures, protesting closing of the depot, is to be discussed at tomorrow's meeting of the board of supervisors.

Miss Marker said that a small shelter has been built, facing into the wind and rain, on Donohue Avenue near Drake Avenue where buses are to stop starting tomorrow.

The bus cafe depot, operated by Mamie Rae Judson, is to remain open through April 30.

County Planners Turn Down Gallinas Village Duplexes

Because of the loud protests of Gallinas Village residents, a request to build duplexes in the community was withdrawn today from the Marin County planning commission.

International Investment Co. of Oakland had proposed 36 duplexes at Vendola Drive and North San Pedro Road. Residents in the area protested last week to the Gallinas Village community services district board, saying duplexes "do not belong in our residential community."

"In view of recent objections to this reclassification by a number of property owners in Gallinas Village and in deference to their wishes," wrote Dudley Deane of the investment firm, "we hereby withdraw our petition for amendment."

The company had asked that the single-family area be rezoned to allow duplexes on an eight-acre site.

A request for subdivision, under existing zoning for one-family homes, will be considered by the commission May 20.

Felon Kicks Another In Courtroom

A San Quentin convict kicked another convict in the face in open court this morning and was dragged out by three prison guards.

Robert Gene Glover, 31, a Kern County robber, had appeared before Judge N. Brusatori of Marin Superior Court on a charge of assault by a life termer. The judge appointed William O. Weissich to defend the convict, and the case was put over two weeks for plea.

As Glover walked back down the aisle, he suddenly kicked at another convict, Alvin Thompson Jr., 23, who was sitting in the courtroom. Thompson, an Alameda car thief, was in court on a charge of having a sharp instrument in prison.

Dist. Atty. Roger P. Garety said he turned around and saw the guards grab Glover around the neck, pull him away from Thompson and haul him out of the courtroom. No one was seriously hurt.

"There is evidence of prior bad feeling between the two," said Garety.

Both Glover and Thompson had testified last year in the murder trial for Alfred J. Jimenez, 25, and Robert B. Dorado, 26. Convicts Jimenez and Dorado were found guilty of killing Abel A. Nevarez, 26, at the prison on Dec. 12, 1961.

The district attorney said the and Thompson may stem from the Nevarez slaying.

COUNCIL

were voted another term. Salin was the only candidate went to the people for endorsement besides the two incumbents.

The vacancy will be filled by appointment by the four remaining councilmen. The city gives them 20 days after the vacancy occurs—which is tonight with Menary's oath of office as city attorney -- in which to appoint. If the council fails to act within that time, the appointing power falls to the board of education.

The city charter requires the affirmative votes of three councilmen for the appointment, and provides that "all legislative sessions of the council, whether regular or special, shall be open to the public."

Mentioned as interested in the appointment, besides Salin and the three planning commissioners, are Walter Zurcher, Melvin Geister, and Dr. Louis Lustre Robinson. Others may have indicated interest to individual councilmen.

Although Salin is the only candidate who went before the public to seek election, he is not expected to get the appointment. Councilmen Jensen and L. H. Bud Baar have expressed opposition to naming him.

Conti may be considered an unlikely choice for the same reason that apparently militates against Salin: he has gone before the voters in the past for election, and been rejected.

Zurcher, owner of the San Rafael Toy Shop, is being urged for appointment by some members of the San Rafael Chamber of Commerce retail merchants committee.

Brown, executive manager of the Associated Home Builders of Marin, reportedly has backing from the construction industry.

O'Connor, an insurance man, has been active in the San Rafael Beautiful Committee, as well as serving on the planning commission, and frequently attends council sessions—as does Brown.

Geister, a partner in Geister Brothers, trucking company, has been a frequent spokesman for Bret Harte industrial property owners before the council—usually a highly critical one.

Dr. Robinson may be considered a "dark horse" candidate. His former wife is owner of one of the lots for which the city is negotiating for a new city hall site.

Coin Thief Will Eat —In Jail

Parking meter coin thief Joe Junior Johnson, 34, of San Francisco, who shrugged to the judge, "Well, you gotta eat," will be assured of meals for some time—at San Quentin.

Judge N. Charles Brusatori of Marin Superior Court this morning sentenced Johnson to state prison for repeated thefts from parking meters.

San Rafael police caught Johnson red-handed on Nov. 22, 1961. He drew one year county jail and probation for two years. As soon as he got out of jail Johnson was caught again, stealing from meters in San Francisco last January.

This morning in court, Johnson explained why he had to steal the coins: "Well, you gotta eat."

"I'm not being facetious," replied the judge. "But whether you go downstairs (county jail) or to prison, you'll be eating."

LOST WALLET RETURNED, BUT TOOK BIT OF DOING

An honest man turned Charles J. Lesca's sadness to joy, though it took a bit of doing.

Lesca, who lives in Petaluma, reported to Novato police Friday afternoon that he had lost his wallet containing $160 and all his identification papers, at the Novato Inn at 7410 Redwood Highway.

Howard Doyle of Boyes Springs spotted the wallet lying in front of the inn when he was making a delivery. He phoned Lesca at an address in Healdsburg, which was on his driver's license, but Lesca had moved. Doyle then contacted Healdsburg police to get their help in locating Lesca. He finally located him through his employer, a poultry dealer.

The wallet with all of its money and identification papers, was finally returned to Lesca on Saturday afternoon. He gave Doyle $25 reward.

Thousands In London In Ban-Bomb Brawl

LONDON (UPI) — Tens of thousands of jeering, nose-thumbing "ban-the-bomb" demonstrators brawled with police through the heart of London today in a wild melee that surged to the walls of Buckingham Palace and Parliament.

Police estimated the crowd at 35,000 but Canon John Collins, a ban-the-bomb leader, said it swelled to 70,000 as the crowd converged finally on Hyde Park's marble arch "speaker's corner" with cries of "get your official secrets here."

This was a reference to distribution during the weekend of thousands of pamphlets listing secret hideouts to be used by the government in event of nuclear attack — a security breach so serious that Prime Minister Harold Macmillan took personal command of an investigation expected to implicate thousands.

Central London was paralyzed by scuffles and fistfights as reinforced police charged into the unruly crowd on white horses. Tourists gaped in amazement as the fighting swirled through such fashionable shopping districts as Regent Street.

At 5 p.m. police said they had made 73 arrests and expected the arrests might approach 100.

The number of injured was not determined. One girl suffered facial bruises when a policeman threw her to the ground. Another man was kicked by a police horse and taken away in an ambulance.

At least two policemen were hurt, both in a five-minute battle outside Admiralty House, Macmillan's residence near Trafalgar Square. One suffered facial cuts, the other was hit by a bus in the chaotic traffic.

Two boys were swept away by policemen when they unfurled a small banner giving the location of an underground "regional seat of government" which the government would use in the event of nuclear war.

At one point marchers linked arms and blocked the street outside the government offices of Whitehall. Banners proclaiming peace and anarchy fell to the ground. Women screamed as the mounted policemen charged in to break up the mob.

There were long-haired youths in blue jeans—some of them Americans. They marched by the thousands—groups from Ghana, dancers from India, steel bands from the Caribbean, middle-aged men and women carrying Communist banners.

There were members of Parliament, clergymen in white collars, young mothers pushing baby carriages. They were joined by 48 persons who had achieved their own publicity by refusing to fasten their seat belts aboard an airliner at Duesseldorf, Germany, for three days.

As the column passed Victoria Station on a swing toward Parliament, leaders shouted "Keep calm, keep calm . . . don't use violence . . . no violence . . ." But there were more scuffles and fistfights with police.

As they moved through Whitehall more fistfights broke out at the Cenotaph Memorial to Britain's war dead. A woman with a large yellow bag sat in the road and refused to move. The demonstrators passed over her.

The invasion of London climaxed a four-day march from the government's nuclear weapons establishment at Aldermaston, 60 miles northwest of London.

As the marchers neared London, they broke into three groups. Two were composed of members of the campaign for nuclear disarmament, various peace groups, union delegations, national groups and members of the Socialist and Communist parties. They marched quietly, four abreast, past Buckingham Palace, parliament and Piccadilly Circus.

Chiropractor's Role In Health Explained

by Dr. Robert W. Pearce

Do you know what a chiropractor does? Many folks make the mistake of thinking that a chiropractor gives massages to people with sore backs. That's far from the truth.

Actually, a doctor of Chiropractics works with a person's nerves. You see, the center for all nerves is in the brain. These nerves flow down through the spine to all parts of the body.

Often these soft nerves are pinched by the hard bones of the spine. Sickness then results . . . for no part of the body can work properly without nerve energy from the brain.

By correcting defects in the spine, chiropractors have been able to restore this nerve energy and help folks with almost every type of sickness you can name.

Chiropractors use X-ray and other scientific instruments to determine whether your spine is in line. They have been so successful in getting sick people well that more than 500 insurance companies now pay claims for Chiropractic care.

OBITUARIES

Ex-Pitcher Earl Kunz Dies At 64

Earl (Pinches) Kunz, 64, former big league pitcher for the Pittsburgh Pirates and Marin County resident, died yesterday in his Sacramento home after a heart attack.

Kunz played for the Oakland Oaks, Sacramento Senators, San Francisco Seals and Seattle Rainiers in the minor leagues.

The Pirates purchased Kunz's contract for $25,000 and four players from the Sacramento Senators of the Pacific Coast League in 1923. He played for the Pirates for two years.

Kunz lived in Fairfax and San Rafael from 1920 to about 1940 in the off-season. After retiring from baseball, he operated restaurants and raced horses.

Kunz got his nickname, Pinches, because of his ability as a pinch-hitter—a rare role for a pitcher.

He is survived by his wife, Alvena Kunz, and two daughters and a son, Mrs. Dorothy Flynn of Greenbrae and Patricia and Walter Kunz of Sacramento.

Funeral services will be held Wednesday at the George Klump Mortuary in Sacramento.

JAMES PATTON

James Patton of 209 First Street, San Rafael, a Marin resident for 50 years, died Saturday in his home after a short illness.

Patton, 86, a native of Ireland, was a retired carpenter and teamster. He was a member of the San Rafael Gospel Chapel.

He is survived by his wife, Frances, and a brother, Matthew Patton of Canada.

Funeral services will be held at 11 a.m. tomorrow at Keaton's, San Rafael. Burial will be in Mount Tamalpais Cemetery.

LELA HONESS

Mrs. Lela Velora Honess, 88, aunt of Roy A. Brown of San Rafael, publisher of the Independent-Journal, died Saturday night at her home in Asheville, N. C., after long illness.

Mrs. Honess was born in Iowa and spent most of her life in Chicago. She and her late husband, Dr. Charles Honess, lived about a year in San Mateo County about a decade ago before moving to Asheville.

She reared her nephew after the death of his mother, her sister-in-law, when he was an infant.

Mrs. Honess was active in welfare work and in the Presbyterian Church.

The funeral will be in Asheville.

ANDREW BENNETT

Andrew (Shorty) Bennett, 97, a self-employed gardener and rock mason for the last 30 years, died yesterday at San Rafael General Hospital after a short illness.

Bennett was born in San Jose. He had lived in Mill Valley 44 years, residing at 147 California Street.

A law suit, filed last October by the county welfare department, is still pending against Bennett. The county was seeking to recover $16,779 in welfare checks paid Bennett since June 28, 1938.

Bennett counted out $300 from his wallet last June as evidence of his inability to pay his own way in a boarding home. But nurses at San Rafael General Hospital found $5,000 in his wallet when he registered in October at the hospital as a welfare patient.

Bennett has been on old age assistance, according to welfare Director Betty L. Presley.

He has no known survivors. Funeral services will be held Wednesday at 10 a.m. at the Russell and Gooch Mortuary, Mill Valley. Burial is pending at Fernwood Cemetery, Sausalito.

BOETTCHER II

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Charles Boettcher II, member of a wealthy Colorado family who was held in a 1933 kidnaping, died today of a heart attack in his sleep. He was 62.

Boettcher and his wife had been living on Nob Hill since last November after spending a year in Hawaii.

Mrs. Boettcher said she found her husband dead at 4 a.m. She said he had been ill with heart trouble for a considerable time.

Boettcher was abducted from the garage at his Denver home in February 1933 and held for $60,000 ransom. He was freed unharmed several weeks later after his father, the late Claude K. Boettcher, paid the ransom.

The kidnapers were captured and sentenced to long prison terms.

Boettcher's grandfather, Charles, founded sugar beet, cement and stockyards industries in Colorado and was a figure in other business ventures.

2 Contests To Be Decided On County Education Board

Two contests for positions on the Marin County Board of Education will be decided by voters tomorrow.

Three candidates are vying to represent area 4, composed of the Reed, Larkspur, Ross and Kentfield school districts.

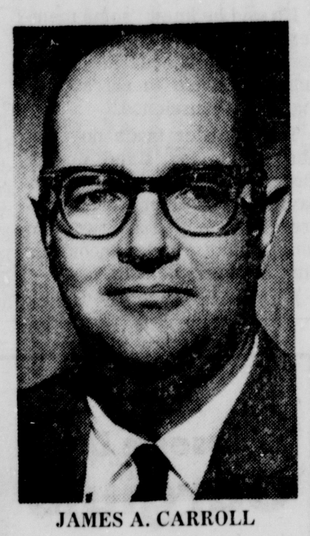
They are Henry B. Grandin Jr., James A. Carroll and Theodore V. Cole. Cole is husband of retiring board member Alce Ann Cole.

Two seek to represent area 2, the territory of San Rafael High School District. They are incumbent Adele Alphers and Irwin Taranto.

Two other candidates for the county board, incumbent Walter L. Johnson of Ignacio for area 1 (North Marin) and Ben Rourk Jr. of Olema for area 6 (West Marin), are unopposed.

HENRY B. GRANDIN JR.

IRWIN TARANTO



JAMES A. CARROLL

ADELE J. ALPERS

THEODORE V. COLE

These are the candidates in area 2:

Mrs. Alphers, 67, of 139 Bayview Drive, San Rafael, has been a member of the county board ever since before it became an elective body in 1956.

Active for many years in local and state Parent-Teacher Associations, she was recently given the Golden Apple award by the Bay Section of the California Elementary School Administrators Assn. She has served eight years on the Marin County Committee on School District Organization.

She is president of the Marin County Juvenile Hall Auxiliary and an adviser to the Marin Youth Assn. of University Women.

She has served twice as president of the county board.

Mrs. Alpers, a native of Oakland, is a widow. She studied two years at the University of California at Berkeley.

Taranto, 27, of 144 Duran Drive, San Rafael, a Radio Corp. of America systems representative in San Francisco, is a native of New York City. He has a bachelor's degree from City College of New York, has worked as an insurance broker, a securities broker and analyst, and in the electronic computor field.

He and his wife, Arlene, have two sons, Barry, 5, attending Santa Margarita School, and Marc, 4.

He believes one of the first steps in providing better education in Marin County is creating larger and more complete school districts through unification. The county schools office must provide more specialized services which the districts cannot now provide, he says.

He is concerned over the cost of education and wants a more business-like and efficient operation. He foresees the day when the 180-day school year will overlap and schools will be in service all year long.

These are the candidates in area 4:

Carroll, 31, of 33 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, Ross is a teacher and chairman of the English department at Herbert Hoover Junior High School, San Francisco.

A native of San Francisco, he has a bachelor's degree in English and Latin and a master's degree in secondary education from the University of San Francisco. He and his wife, Ann, have a boy, James Jr.

He is a member of the San Francisco Municipal Improvement League, California Teachers Assn. and American Classical League. He is a Korean War veteran.

He believes the primary responsibility of the county board is maintaining high standards of curriculum.

He favors an elective county superintendent of schools because it provides an "extra margin" of voter control. He thinks it is desirable to have at least one person with professional training on the county school board and says his training would be an asset to the board.

Grandin, 36, of Upper Road, Ross, is an owner and secretary of Barton Development Co., developers of commercial properties. He is president of the Ross Parent-Teacher Assn.

He attended the U.S., Naval Academy during World War II, was graduated from Pomona College, and received a master's degree in business administration from Stanford University. He studied in Europe under a State Department grant in the "Marshall Plan in Action" program.

He and his wife, Mary, have five children, the four oldest attending Ross School.

He is a trustee of Sunny Hills Home, secretary-treasurer of the Stanford Business School Alumni, a Cubmaster and district director of Boy Scouts.

He believes in as much local control and responsibility for education as possible and sees the county board as "an important service system to influence the quality of education.

"I want Marin to have the best educational system in the United States—and this should include vocational training at the high school level just as it should include top-flight preparatory courses," he said.

Cole, 46, of 140 Rancheria Road, Kentfield, is a native of Peoria, Ill. He is production manager of Special Products division of Union Machine Co. in San Francisco.

Cole studied for eight years at night school to receive a bachelor's degree in business administration from Golden Gate College in San Francisco.

He served on the board from 1956 to 1961 when he resigned because of moving from the Novato area which he then represented. He is a Navy veteran and saw duty in the Pacific during Warld War II.

He has three children, Stephen, an adult; Linda, a junior at Redwood High School, and Cynthia, a ninth grader in Nevada City, the home of his first wife. He also has a stepson, Renny Rust, a sophomore at College of Marin.

Cole favors an appointive rather than an elective county school superintendent. He argues that the superintendent should follow the policies set by the elective board. With the present situation of an elective superintendent, he believes there could be serious conflicts that might "stalemate" progress toward better education.

Public Speaking Finals Wednesday

Finals of the public speaking contest sponsored by Fairfax Parlor 307, Native Sons of the Golden West, will be held Wednesday at 8:30 p.m. in the Fairfax Women's Clubhouse on Park Road.

The winner of the contest will compete in the sectional contest on a topic relating to California. The four top winners in the state will compete at the state convention, May 24 in the Veterans Memorial Hall in Sonoma.

FAMILY WITH LONGEVITY — Five generations were present for an Easter dinner in Novato yesterday. From left are Mrs. H. J. Fisher, her son William R. WEDDING ANNIVERSARY, BIRTHDAYS

Five Generations Gather For Easter

It wasn't just Easter Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Bolton of 18 Queva Vista, Novato.

It was a double birthday celebration, a wedding anniversary and a sendoff for a son going into the service — plus the gathering of five generations.

From top to bottom they were:

Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Fisher of Palm Lane Trailer Court, Novato, great-great-grandparents in their 80s who have been married 55 years.

Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Henderson of Roseville, great-grandparents married 43 years.

Mr. and Mrs. William Bolton, the grandparents, who were celebrating their 18th wedding anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Fowler of Citrus Heights, near Sacramento, the parents (Mrs. Fowler is Mrs. Bolton's daughter by a former marriage).

The three Fowler children are Deborah, 5; Sandra, 4, and Thomas Jr., 1.

Due to leave May 1 for military service is Robert Saylors, 22, of Broderick, son of Mrs. Bolton by a former marriage.

"The last time we had a picture in the paper, she (Mrs. Fowler) was just a little thing and my great-grandmother was still alive," said Mrs. Bolton. "We live a long time in this family."

There were 18 present in all for Easter dinner. By evening, when most of the visitors had departed, the "second shift" arrived—Bolton's parents, who had been unable to be present earlier.

Wet Marin Roads Cause String Of Injury Accidents

A Novato motorist suffered head cuts in a freak rear-to-rear auto accident on Highway 101 at Terra Linda today.

The accident was the latest in a string of injury accidents during the weekend on Marin streets and highways which were for the most part wet from the intermittent rainfall.

Hansel Harding Stevens of Napa, southbound between Marinwood and Terra Linda, braked for traffic about 9:30 a.m. Richard J. Connell of 1523 South Novato Boulevard, Novato, behind him, also hit the brakes. Connell's car spun completely around, crashing with Steven's auto rear-to-rear, the California Highway Patrol reported.

Connell was admitted to Novato Hospital for treatment, but his injuries were not believed to be serious.

A 73-year-old Nicasio man employed as a caretaker suffered broken neck vertebrae last night when his car skidded on a curve of the Petaluma-Point Reyes station road and hit an embankment, the California Highway Patrol reported.

Richard Hugh McFadden was southbound about 1.2 miles north of Nicasio road when the accident happened about 6:15 p.m., reported officer Gerald Walkup. He was treated at Novato hospital, then transferred to San Rafael general hospital, where his condition today was "fair."

A woman dispatcher for Yellow Cab Co. in Petaluma suffered a nose cut last night when her car hit a power pole in the Novato area.

Mona Sylvan Putnam, 54, was driving on Atherton Avenue about 225 feet west of Bugeia Lane when the accident happened about 11:20 p.m.

Jerry Lee Page, 18, of Marin City was cited by Sausalito police yesterday at 6:34 p.m. for driving without his glasses after his 1953 Mercury sedan hit two parked cars at Spring Street and Bridgeway.

A passenger, Edward Green, 18, of 343 Drake Avenue, Marin City, was treated for a cut right knee at Marin General Hospital. David Barrow, 18, of House 95, Marin City, also a passenger, was taken to hospital but not treated.

Police Chief Howard Goerndt said Page, who lives at 175 Drake Avenue, was northbound when his car struck cars of Louis Treasrau of 2007 Bridgeway and Carl Nielsen of San Francisco.

Jeannette June Mickle, 22, of Santa Rosa, suffered a sprained neck yesterday yesterday when her southbound car skidded off the rain-wet freeway near the Linden Lane overpass in San Rafael, said the California Highway Patrol.

The vehicle shot over the embankment and landed on the railroad right of way. Miss Mickle was treated at Marin General Hospital.

A 15-year-old Belvedere girl was slightly injured in a sideswipe collision on Highway 101 about one-half mile south of the Alto overpass at 12:35 a.m. yesterday.

The girl, Kathy Wilson, of 39 Bella Vista, was taken to a private physician for treatment, the highway patrol reported. She was a passenger in a car driven by Benjamin C. Train, 16, of 41 Pixley Avenue, Apt. 6, Corte Madera. The CHP said Train, northbound, was changing lanes when his car went over the center divider, colliding with one driven by Sherwin Miller, 33, of 315 Edgewood Avenue, Mill Valley.

Watersoaked brakes were believed responsible for a rear-end collision on Highway 101 in San Rafael Saturday night, officers said.

Barbara Ann Green, 18, of 18 Chickasaw Court, Corte Madera, told officers she braked her northbound car when another vehicle ahead of her slowed suddenly, "but there was nothing there." It hit the rear of a car driven by Leon Strauss Jr., 47, of 256 Parkway, Novato, who had slowed because of flares set out to warn motorists of an earlier accident. Strauss received minor injuries, for which he told officers he would seek private treatment.

Four persons were injured Saturday at 5:50 p.m. in a three-car rear-end collision on the northbound on-ramp to Highway 101 in Corte Madera. However, all went to private physicians.

Highway patrolman said Winnie Irene Weiser, 38, of Sonoma, and Ethelynn Nellie Mott, of 31 Lisbon Street, San Rafael, had stopped on the access ramp to wait for freeway traffic to clear A third car driven by John F. Crooks, 29, of 109 Labrea Way, Santa Venetia, ran into the rear of the Mott car.

The injured were Mrs. Weiser, Verna Williams, 42, of 176 Picnic Avenue, San Rafael, a passenger in the Mott car, and two Crooks children, Debra, 2, and Paul, 4.

THIEF HITS NOVATO CITY HALL FOR STALE COFFEE

A burglar broke into the Novato City Hall yesterday, but he didn't get much.

Mayor M. E. Silva at 6 p.m. noticed a broken window in the former bank building on Grant Avenue used as city hall. Police found nothing had been disturbed except that whoever entered drank some stale coffee.

Similarly unproductive was a break-in at Trombley's Novato Hardware at Highway 101 and Atherton Avenue. Eugene Trombley, owner discovered at 11 a.m. yesterday that someone had pried open a rear door and then tried to break the safe with a pickax, but without success. A few tools appeared to be missing, he said today.

Pastor Finds Support For Tax Deductions

Rev. Karel F. Botermans of San Anselmo today reported nothing but approval in initial responses to his announcement that he paid only 39 per cent of his federal income tax because the other 61 per cent would go toward a "defense program" aimed at extermination of millions of people.

Rev. Botermans, Dutch-born minister of the Unitarian-Universalist Church of Marin, said members of his congregation and complete strangers had kept his telephone busy with messages of congratulation and encouragement since the story of his stand appeared in Saturday's Independent-Journal.

He said he knew "some members of the congregation disagree with me, but they have encouraged me to act according to my conscience."

The minister made no mention of his tax stand during Easter Sunday services yesterday. Many members of the congregation stopped afterward to congratulate and encourage him, however, he said.

Botermans, who was active in the Dutch Underground during the World War II German occupation of his native land, wrote letters announcing his decision to President John F. Kennedy and Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, among others. He said in them that he is aware of the possible consequences of refusal to pay the full tax but "I cannot any longer willingly pay for the production of our military machine which is designed to kill and overkill millions upon millions of human beings, whether they be friends or foes."

He declared the believes "I have international law on my side" as he regards the U.S. "defense" program as actually preparation for genocide.

Sculpture Stolen

Barney West, Corte Madera and Sausalito artist, told Sausalito police Saturday that his six-foot wooden sculpture, "Madonna in Prayer," was stolen from his work yard at Bridgeway and Litho Street on Good Friday. West, who lives at 146 Redwood Avenue, Corte Madera, said the statue is valued at $900.

Businesses Plagued By Thefts

A rash of burglaries plagued business establishments in Marin County during Easter weekend, sheriff's deputies reported.

Several rifles and knives were stolen from the Sausalito Boat and Tackle Shop at Waldo Point last night or early today. Owner Richard Urbais arrived for work about 5 a.m. and found the back door broken. He told Deputy Sheriff Ernest Nielsen and Identification Technician Edward Klementovich that two .22 caliber rifles, one 30-06 automatic rifle with scope, a pellet gun, and five picket knives are gone. Total loss is about $250.

About 2:25 a.m., Deputy Sheriff Joseph Kelly noticed a rear window open at Goodman Building Supply at 775 Redwood Highway, Mill Valley. The officer said the rear door and office doors had been pried open. The automatic coffee maker was damaged. How much money was taken, if any, was not known.

At nearby Seville Electric Co., 765 Redwood Highway, owner Raymond H. Kostens reported a similar break-in at 8 a.m. The side door was broken, but nothing appeared to be missing.

Rifle Missing

A .22 calibre single-shot bolt-action rifle, worth $35, is missing from a home near Corte Madera, owner Theodore C. Mollinet of 1401 Casa Buena reported to the sheriff Saturday night. Tschirgi said the thief must have reached in through a broken storeroom window.

'Freedom Riders' Granted Appeal By Supreme Court

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court agreed today to hear the appeal of 10 northern clergymen convicted of unlawful assembly for their 1961 "freedom ride" protest against segregation at the Talahassee, Fla., airport.

In another action regarding the racial issue, however, the court refused to examine a lower court decision that allowed the all-white Chicago suburb of Deerfield, Ill., to condemn land intended for integrated housing. The community held the sites were needed for parks, according to a state supreme court decision.

The high federal court turned down an appeal from that ruling without comment.

It also took these actions:

Ruled 6-3 that the Southern Railway is entilted at least temporarily to lower rates on big shipments of grain from the Midwest to the South and Southwest.

The Arrow Transportation Co., a Tennessee River barge line, protested the rate reduction while proceedings still are pending before the Interstate Commerce Commission. Dissenting were Chief Justice Earl Warren and Justices Tom C. Clark and Hugo L. Black who said the decision "sounds the death knell to barge transportation on the Tennessee River."

Agreed to examine the federal case against David Thomas Dealy and Leonard Malcolm Oeth who in 1962 forced an airplane pilot at gunpoint to fly to Cuba. A federal district judge in Miami dismissed charges on grounds the crime did not fall within the scope of either the federal kidnaping or the aircraft piracy acts.

Let stand a Texas decision that a state may sue alleged violators of its antitrust laws even though the federal government has taken action for the same violations.

Billie Estes Sentenced To 15 Years

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) — Bankrupt promoter Billie Sol Estes was sentenced today to 15 years in prison for mail fraud and conspiracy in manipulating worthless fertilizer tank mortgages worth 24 million dollars.

U.S. Dist. Judge R. E. Thomason overruled a defense motion for a new trial. He described the one-time millionaire financier as "the most gigantic swindler in history."

Estes was convicted March 28 by a federal jury in El Paso on five of 14 counts in an indictment resulting from his complicated mortgage deals wtih farmers and finance companies.

Estes, whose financial empire of fertilizer tanks, grain storage and cotton allotments collapsed a year ago, was given an eight-year prison term last November on state charges growing out of his fertilizer tank mortgages.

Two Die As Auto Hits Guard Rail

PETALUMA (AP) — Two San Francisco motorists were flung to their death on a rainswept Highway 101 last night.

They were Joseph H. McGinn, 53, and Mervin Zant Graff, 42, the driver.

Both lived at 166 Inverness Drive, San Francisco.

Their southbound car hit a guard rail and both men were tossed out onto the northbound lane. Two motorists saw the men and swerved to avoid them. The two cars collided and one or both passed over the men.

TAXES DUE ON CAR, EVEN IF ON BLOCKS

SACRAMENTO (AP) — You have to pay personal property taxes on your car, even if you've got it up on blocks and don't register it, says Atty. Gen. Stanley Mosk.

If you don't register it and pay the state license fee, which is in lieu of local taxes, you must pay the local taxes, Mosk said in an opinion released yesterday.

He said equipment attached to such a vehicle — such as two-way radios or well-drilling equipment — is subject to tax if it costs $200 or more.

Treated For Fall

Mrs. Angus O'Brien, 77, of San Francisco was reported in good condition today at her home after being treated for a head injury at Kaiser Foundation hospital following a fall at the home of her son, John O'Brien, 53 Sunshine Avenue, Sausalito.

Quentin Inmate, 23, Is Found Hanged By Bedsheet In Cell

A 23-year-old San Quentin inmate, in prison for escape from the California Rehabilitation Center in Corona, was found hanged in his cell in the maximum security portion of the prison at 8:35 a.m. today.

Charlres Lee McMurray had used a rope which he wove out of his bed sheeting and attached to a ceiling fixture to hang himself, according to William Bradley, assistant county coroner.

McMurray, who was in the rehabilitation center for treatment as a narcotics addict, was found by Sgt. R. J. Milloy after he failed to make an 8 a.m. check-in required of maximum security prisoners. At 6:30 a.m., McMurray had talked to a fellow inmate in a neighboring cell, Bradley said.

McMurray had a history of arrests for armed robbery, burglary, escape and narcotics dating back to 1953, according to Bradley. He was brought to San Quentin in September, 1962, and was serving a one-year-to-life sentence.

Rifle Stolen

San Franciscan William Carl Huber told Marin County sheriff's deputies yesterday that someone broke into his summer house on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard in Forest Knolls recently and stole a .22-caliber rifle and two bottles of wine.

Easter Seal Drive Results Are Due

"Somewhat disappointing so far" was the indication from initial tabulations today of the 1963 Easter Seal fund drive in Marin County, according to chairman Roderic L. Robinson of Mill Valley who thought final figures might show "half the money" of the usual total.

Robinson said that replies to the seals sent out have been greater in number but less in cash return so far as the first check-overs went. But complete official results won't be known until the end of this week.

SERVING ALL OF MARIN COUNTY

8 EDITORIAL PAGE Monday, April 15, 1963 San Rafael, Calif.

TODAY'S EDITORIAL

Everyone Should Vote On School Issues Tomorrow

A chance to stand up and be counted, and to have your say in the operation of Marin County schools will be afforded citizens in every section of the county tomorrow—provided they will take a few minutes time to go to the polls, and VOTE.

Voting in a school election, as well as any other election should be a must—for we have no right to sit back for four years and gripe about how our trustees run our schools, if we, individually and collectively, are too busy, (or too lazy) to vote.

In addition to electing school district trustees in every district except San Rafael, voters in Tamalpais and Kentfield districts will have to decide upon a substantial bond issue and a major tax policy question.

While we all strive to maintain high educational standards, we must remember that the quality of our schools, and school personnel, can only equal the time, interest and attention which the citizens in general, and parents in particular, are willing to devote to the program.

In the Tamalpais Union High School District, voters will express their views on the proposal to continue the present $1.90 operating tax rate, in order to maintain the quality of educational programs at Tamalpais, Drake and Redwood High Schools.

This program, which merits support of the citizenry, lacks the complexity of most school issues. The rate was approved in 1959 on a limited five year basis, and only twice in the last four years have trustees levied the maximum rate.

In the Kentfield district, the voters are being asked to take a stand on the $850,000 school bond issue. Proponents of this issue contend that the funds are needed to provide for the estimated increase in school attendance through 1970. The funds will be used for classrooms, a library at Greenbrae, instructional materials, storage rooms, shower and locker facilities, a principal's office and other school facilities.

Proponents claim passage of the bonds will not boost taxes.

In urging a vote, backers of the two key issues expressed a fear that public apathy—failure to take time to vote—would be the only reason either measure might fail at the polls.

Inasmuch as the expenditures of the school system costs as much as the combined outlay of our city and county governments, it behooves each of us to take time tomorrow to exercise our sacred franchise, and take a stand on these important measures.

Dogs Ignore Danger In Chasing Autos

Our neighbors' lovable boxers, mother and son, have suddenly adopted the dangerous habit of chasing cars and trucks as they go up and down our street. Such is the path to dogicide.

Most dogs chase cars out of their age-old hunting instinct. It is a hard habit to break. One method we have read about is to fill a water pistol with very diluted ammonia water and give it to them in the face as they chase the auto. But one would have to be sure to make it pienty diluted.

Dogs are like people. Sometimes only a bad accident will discourage them.

And some dogs seem to be compulsive car chasers. Pavlov's dogs drooled as a reflex action. Others chase cars.

Such impulsive pets are a danger to themselves as well as to the people who try to avoid hitting them at all costs.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Voter Apathy On Schools Hit

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

I wish to thank the many people who worked for me, supported and voted for me in the recent San Rafael Board of Education election campaign.

It was discouraging to realize that only approximately 30 per cent of the voting residents outside the San Rafael city limits, and 50 per cent of the San Rafael city residents were sufficiently interested in our schools and education to vote in Monday's election, especially since our schools are using approximately 58 per cent of our property tax dollars, and our school costs in Marin County increased 20 per cent last year in comparison to an average of 8 per cent increase for the rest of the state.

There is a real need for parents and citizens to take a greater interest in our schools and our educational system, to work constantly to bring about improvements in curriculum, communications, discipline and financial responsibility, to attend school board meetings, to read about and keep informed of the latest trends, developments, ideas and experiments in education, to come forth with opinions and suggestions: in short, to take a more active interest in the operation and management of our schools.

Mental Illness Stand Lauded

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

I wish to express the deep appreciation of the Marin Mental Health Foundation for your editorial discussing the mental outpatient clinic to be opened by the Foundation. Your excellent presentation of the basic facts touched off a great deal of public interest and conviction of the need of such a clinic. This is evidenced by the number of letters and inquiries we have received.

Little Space For Outdoor Lovers In State For '83

By PAT KEEBLE

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — California has thousands of outdoor-loving people with lots of leisure time, but if you think they're a problem now wait until 1983.

At that time, a University of California agronomist thinks, there will be twice as many of them—all looking for the right to camp, hunt, fish, hike or observe nature on the same amount of land there is today.

Merton Love, chairman of the university's agronomy department, told a recent wildland conference that the solution was not to leave all wildlands alone.

RATHER, he said, man must use his knowledge of soils, climates and plant growth to improve them in the same way he has used it to improve agriculture.

He said youngsters today were attracted to careers in outer space. "Not enough young people are going into agriculture and forestry to work on the problems of space on earth," he said.

He chided wildland lovers for "thinking too small."

"We are grateful for a $5,000 grant of funds for wildlands research. We should think in terms of hundreds of thousands of dollars, to help make this land on earth a little more useful to all of us," Love said.

LEWIS CLARK, Alameda, a national vice president of the co-sponsoring Sierra Club urged more attention to multiple uses of land, adding, "A number of land uses are compatible."

He said these would include "grazing, dairying, hunting, fishing, camping, hiking, contemplating the scenery, study of game habitats or use for ecological study and biological research.

He noted there were other legitimate but incompatible land uses, such as mining, lumbering, farming, industry and subdivisions. But he said, "we must think deeper on the term multiple use."

10 YEARS AGO

Possible end of winter floods in San Rafael was seen as city councilmen ordered first steps to form a special assessment district, perhaps including the whole city.

A homeowner living above the old railroad tunnel through White's Hill, Mrs. Anna Grimm, sued Marin County for $6,000 damages done to her home in 1951 when the county removed supporting timbers to give county emergency vehicles easier passage through the tunnel.

TRY AND STOP ME

BENNETT CERF

A Paris socialite took umbrage at a remark made about him by a widely read, very arrogant newspaper columnist, and demanded satisfaction on the dueling field. Neither man knew much about swordplay, but the socialite actually succeeded in wounding his opponent superficially before friends pulled them apart. While they were bandaging the columnist's wound, he delivered his best bon mot. "I believe," he said, "that this is the first time in my life I was ever stuck for a phrase."

Shortly before the outbreak of the Civil War, President Lincoln had a mild attack of smallpox (the doctors called it varioloid) to add to his troubles. Informed of the nature of his illness, Lincoln didn't lose his precious sense of humor. "It is too bad," he noted drily, "that this one time while I have something to give everybody—no one comes near me!"

"Writing and Its Consequences" was the subject of a recent symposium in Chicago. Which reminded an elderly lawyer of a famous adage: "Do right and fear no man. Don't write and fear no woman."

I-J REPORTER'S NOTEBOOK

By THERON NEWELL

Democrats Steal March On GOP In Naming Of Novato Streets!

I haven't heard any official comment yet from the Republicans, but the Novato City Council took some very partisan action last Wednesday night.

They approved a street light for the intersection of Truman Drive and Jackson Drive, obviously both Democratic streets.

When I do hear the official Republican comment on this, I suppose it will run something like this: "The Democrats need the extra light to see their way out of the darkness."

Or, on the other hand, I expect the residents of Washington, Lincoln, Tyler, Harrison, Pierce, Buchanan, Garfield and Wilson streets to demand equal lighting.

LAST MONDAY the Novato police got a call that some boys were disturbing the peace. When they responded to the call, they found two boys rowing a boat in a drainage ditch.

Of course, nothing was done to the boys. I merely bring this up to remind people who might have forgotten that this was the first day of Spring vacation and it had been raining. Wherever there is water and spare time, there you will find boys.

It must be awful to grow so old and remote from the world that one forgets what magic there is in youth. Things that we older people take for granted in our every day world, are things to be explored and become a great adventure when one is young.

I DON'T THINK that there ever was a boy who didn't throw rocks at frogs in ponds. I can't ever remember of one hitting a frog, and I seem to remember that the frogs seemed to be enjoying the game as much as the boys. It is just something that is a part of being a boy — like playing in water and getting muddy. Also it seems to make for healthier boys and more rounded men.

When I went to the city council meeting the other night, I saw five boys just standing and talking. At first my adult suspicions wondered what deviltry they were up to. Then I remembered—momentarily I had forgotten the magic in a spring night. Who hasn't lingered outside making small talk, just to enjoy such a night?

SEVERAL YEARS ago I was in New Mexico at this time of year, and went to the Santo Domingo Pueblo on Easter Sunday to see the "rites of spring," Indian dances. They were beautiful and symbolic, with the children dressed up in their ancient tribal finery.

Among the spectators was a little white girl in her Easter finery of white lace dress and matching hat. She and a dark skinned Indian girl of the same size got together and just stared at each other.

It would have made an excellent picture--the white and dark skinned girls, each realizing in her own way that this was the birth of a new season with its similarly, yet different symbolisms — each wanting to exchange experiences with the other in looks and words.

It was a picture that I have always regretted not taking.

AT THE NOVATO volunteer firemen's meeting last week, they were planning the annual Easter egg hunt scheduled for last Saturday.

They made plans for the three age groups of children —1 to 4, 5 and 6, and 7 and 8 years old.

Up spoke one fireman — "And mothers one to 60."

Everyone laughed, because they all knew that the mothers actually hunt the eggs for the children.

Science 'Trick' Feared In Space-Spectacular

By ALVIN B. WEBB JR.

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI)—A bit of scientific trickery seems suspiciously afoot these days. It concerns that familiar creature called the "space spectacular."

"Spectacular" is a good, colorful word. It also is perhaps the most overworked word of the space age—and there is a hint that it is being used where the less appetizing term "stunt" might be more appropriate.

The case in point is the Federal Space Agency's spectacular (that word again) announcement recently that it would use the new Saturn "super-rocket" to place a pair of nine-ton satellites into orbit this year.

The shots were promptly billed as this nation's "most spectacular" space ventures of this year—by no less than the National Aeronautics and Space Council headed by Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson.

It is quite true that these will be far and away the largest satellites ever launched by the United States. But there is more here than immediately meets the eye.

THE FIRST of these giant satellites will weigh in at 18,000 pounds—of which 9,000 pounds will consist impurely of Cape Canaveral tap water. In fact, the only useful item in the whole bulk will probably be a tape recorder with a human voice announcing in parrot fashion something to the effect that "I am in orbit . . . I am in orbit."

These two shots will be milestones, but to concentrate on the satellites alone will be to lose their true significance—the first two-stage shots of the mighty rocket that will send teams of astronauts into earth orbits for rehearsals of moon flights.

BILLING such satellites as "spectacular" is a mild form of deception that has been practiced by both sides virtually since the start of the space race.

America's famed Atlas "10-B" shot of late 1958 was also a case of using "spectacular" where "stunt" was probably more appropriate.

The Atlas shot into orbit, and jubilant scientists promptly proclaimed the advent of the "four-ton satellite" era.

THE FACT that most of the satellite was useless Atlas tankage and that the only valuable item aboard was a small tape recorder with a Christmas message from President Eisenhower was blithefully passed over.

But again, it was a tremendous propaganda bonus.

DOUBTLESS the United States needs such a "bonus" again this year. This is a time in which old programs are "phasing out" and new ones still are getting ready. America's space shot schedule is slender.

Hard-core scientists and technicians deplore the "spectacular" label on their endeavors, but they are willing to admit privately that it does create a "good atmosphere."

Particularly when it comes to prying money out of an impressionable Congress.

IF ALL this business about the Saturn shots being the "most spectacular" space launchings of the year for America, where is Air Force Maj L. Gordon Cooper Jr. left?

Cooper is scheduled to make America's next manned orbital flight—and probably the only one this year — on May 7. His goal will be to circle the globe 22 times, or longer than his three U.S. orbiting predecessors combined.

But the Mercury man-in-space program is dying. And a surprising lack of interest in the upcoming Cooper voyage, combined with the heavy emphasis on the Saturn flights, seems to be one of the symptoms.

'I DON'T SEE ANY BIRDIE'

What Easter the Seal does see, though, is a piece of fish held by Channel 7 TV cameraman Buck Joseph, and that's why she's sticking her whiskery nose almost into the movie camera lens. Helping feed Easter her birthday "cake" of fish are Donna McHugh (center) and Leilani Bottleson, daughter of Albert Bottleson, director of the Louis A. Boyd Natural Science Museum. All this was on account of Easter's second birthday celebration Saturday at the museum. The children of Marin were her guests. (Independent-Journal photo)

Mill Valley's Community Choir Sings An Admirable Performance

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

Music was admirably chosen and performed by the Mill Valley Community Church Choir for last night's concert—both as an Easter observance and memorial to the late Mill Valley physician, Dr. Donald C. Fowler.

Rich sonority and exquisite tonal effects were not due just to the acoustical qualities of St. Stephen's Church in Belvedere, for David Reed has trained the choir of some 25 voices to produce sustained, resonant tone in a wide range of dynamics and clean-cut phrasing.

In the first group of works from Palestrina, Bach, Faure and Schuetz, most impressive was baritone Robert De Haan's solo, "Libera Me Domine" by Faure.

The high point of the entire concert was the second section, consisting of two chorales from Brahm's "German Requiem." The chorus measured up to the challenge of this master work. Rarely does accompaniment deserve major attention, but Jean Barnard's piano artistry did in these selections. Every note was clearly heard yet never predominant.

Other enjoyable moments were in Schein's "Erschienen Ist Der Herrliche Tag," when Reed, a baritnoe, joined his wife, mezzo-soprano Ethelee, in a duet, and in the opening sonata for trumpet and organ by Purcell with Clifford Reynouls playing the trumpet and Ethlee Reed at the organ.

In selections from J. S. Bach's Cantata No. 4 and elsewhere there was evidence the chorus could profit by further practice to achieve greater flexibility in ornamental passages.

Solemnity of the memorial dedication precluded applause by the audience of more people than might have been expected considering the weather.

Signs By Sam Knock Demos

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Samuel took some potshots at the Democratic city government recently about potholes in a street near his home.

Sherman put up eight signs on utility poles along the street. One read, "Drive slowly—danger ahead." Another warned, "Bad bumps on this road."

A final sign advised: "Road condition reports by S. Sherman, Republican."

State Gate Taxes

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—During 1962 the State Athletic Commission derived $169,140 in in gate taxes. Of this amount, $81,377 came from boxing, $87,763 from wrestling.

Opening lead — ♡ A

North didn't know what to do over the opening bid of four hearts. A double would be for penalties, and North wasn't sure of taking four tricks. A bid for eleven tricks would be just as risky, so North passed.

FOUR SPADES

North thought he knew what to do when South bid four spades. He jumped to six spades and smiled.

"Why shouldn't he smile?" you ask. What can possibly happen to take the smile off his face?

Just remember that Jack Ehrlenbach, the famous Flying Dutchman of Los Angeles, was in the East seat. Ehrlenbach conjured up a bogeyman that robbed South of his slam.

PLAYS KING

West opened the ace of hearts, and Ehrlenbach played the king of hearts.

"Clever, but useless," you mutter.

West naturally continued with the jack of hearts, and declarer ruffed in the dummy with the queen of spades to prevent a possible over-ruff. After all, West hight have started with a nine-card heart suit for his opening bid of four hearts.

PRODUCED HEART

When East produced a heart at the second trick South realized that he had been hornswoggled into wasting dummy's queen of trumps. Why? What did East have in mind?

South slowly came to the conclusion that Ehrlenbach had the three missing trumps and was hoping to get a trump trick. This conclusion hung together with West's opening bid and with East's fancy play at the first trick.

So declarer led the seven of spades from dummy and let it ride for a finesse!

West took the setting trick with his singleton jack of spades, and North hasn't smiled once since that day.

ALMANAC

Today is Monday, April 15, the 105th day of 1963.

The moon is approaching last quarter. The morning stars are Venus and Saturn. The evening star is Mars.

On this day in history:

In 1861, President Abraham Lincoln sent Congress a message recognizing a state of civil war and calling for 75,000 volunteers for the Union Army.

In 1865, Vice President Andrew Johnson was sworn in as the 17th president of the United States, three hours after the death of Lincoln.

A thought for the day—American writer Thomas Wolfe said: "There is no spectacle on earth more appealing than that of a beautiful woman in the act of cooking dinner for someone she loves."

Menary To Be Sworn In Tonight

The San Rafael City Council will meet tonight with only four members to tackle anew the problem of the Bret Harte Drainage Assessment District.

Swearing in of city officials elected last Monday will open the meeting at 8 p.m. in the city hall. David Menary Jr., now a member of the council, will be sworn in as city attorney, leaving the council with four members. Otherwise it will be unchanged, as Mayor John F. McInnis and Councilman Charles W. Aby and Fred E. Jensen were all re-elected.

The Brete Harte Assessment District will come up as renewal of a frequently continued public hearing. Boundaries of the proposed district were expanded in the latest attempt to overcome majority protests to the million-dollar district.

The council will have before it a letter from the San Rafael Chamber of Commerce urging it to move out of the old city hall so the lot can be made available for parking. Council members have recently expressed themselves as opposed to a precipitate move, with a new city hall planned for completion within two years.

In another "get out" letter, the council will hear from the city's school department, which wants portions of E Street School now used by other city departments vacated by July 15. E Street School is to be used for classes again until Glenwood School is completed early next year.

This presents an involvement. The city is acquiring the portion of the school property where its public works, building and planning departments are housed, for extension of Third Street. A wrangle may be in prospect as to who ousts whom from what.

Opening of bids on the Third Street-Grand Avenue storm drain project also is scheduled.

As an aftermath of the long discussion which followed firing of Lt. Nick Giampoli from the police department, the council may call for an examination for police lieutenant to fill the vacancy.

Board Due Survey On Police Salaries

Fairfax offers new policemen the highest salary in Marin County for beginning law enforcement officers, according to a survey which will be submitted tomorrow to the board of supervisors.

The information on comparitive salaries was requested by the board prior to consideration of a uniform salary schedule, proposed by the sheriff and eight police chiefs.

Asst. Personnel Director Robert D. Elliott found salaries for starting patrolmen range from $515 a month in Fairfax to $400 a month in Belvedere.

Between the high and low are ranged in descending order: San Rafael, Marin County Sheriff's Department, Corte Madera, San Anselmo, Novato, Sausalito, Ross and Mill Valley.

The board will discuss the salaries at its meeting, which will begin at 9 a.m. in the Civic Center.

The supervisors will also review a revised job description for a new chief building inspector and will hear a report on comparative janitor costs for public meetings at the Civic Center and the old courthouse in San Rafael. For several months the board has discussed charging a fee for public meetings in the Civic Center.

At 2 p.m. the first planning matter will be proposed amendments to the Marinwood master plan to allow construction of about 300 apartments near the entrance to Marinwood. The board's hearing of the amendments, approved by the county planning commission, has been continued for nearly five weeks.

Teacher Salaries On Agenda

Teacher salary schedules for next school year will be discussed again and possibly adopted tomorrow at 8 p.m. by the San Anselmo School District board in the Isabel Cook School faculty room.

Teacher representatives asked at a recent meeting for selective increases throughout the schedule.

In other business, the board will call for bids on three projects.

Two of them will cost about $2,000 each, which would permit the board to seek bids informally. The third, a plan for tennis courts at Hidden Valley School, would require formal bid advertisement since it is expected to cost $9,000 or $10,000.

The smaller jobs were recommended by the city fire department. One is a modification of a fire alarm system at Brookside School and the other is installation of solid core doors at Isabel Cook School.

Supt. Steven Parodi will report on the status of plans for the Wade Thomas School addition, which has been tentatively approved by the State Division of Architecture.

LAND DONATION BILL INTRODUCED

Special to the Independent-Journal

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The Federal Government could donate surplus land to state park and recreation agencies under a new bill sponsored by Sen. Clair M. Engle (D-Calif.).

Senator Engle said the legislation provides assistance to the states in meeting the growing demand for more outdoor recreational facilities and has the full support of the National Conference on State Parks and the National Park Service.

Senator Engle joined with Sen. Hubert Humphrey (D-Minn.) in introducing this bill.

The measure amends the Federal Property and Administrative Services Act of 1949 to enable the Federal Government to donate surplus property to state agencies for public recreation, park, historic monuments, promotion of fish and wildlife management and development activities. The Secretary of the Interior would implement this authority.

Use for parks of a portion of the Southern Marin forts which has been marked for future disposal has been proposed.

Framed Dollars Taken From Wall

A burglar who broke into the Depot Cafe in Marin City may have been disappointed Saturday night to find the cash register empty, but the night wasn't a total loss.

Sheriff's deputies said the burglar took two framed dollar bills off the wall.

The burglary was reported by Horace K. White, 16, of 59 Cole Drive, who noticed a broken window while he was waiting for a bus. Owner of the cafe is Mamie Rae Judson of C-44, Apt. 345, Marin City.

Hub Planners Due Cluster Proposal

A request by Robert Ryan for planned development zoning of about 10 acres of land at the end of Sonoma Avenue will be considered by the San Anselmo Planning Commission when it meets at 8 o'clock tonight at the city hall.

Ryan plans a cluster apartment development for the property, which is hilly. The land already is zoned for multiple dwellings.

Chairman Charles R. Leitzell said the commission once considered rezoning Ryan's property for single family residences, which surround it, but decided it would be a hardship on the owner.

Among other matters on the agenda is an application by San Francisco Theological Seminary for a permit to build a shop building on two lots now occupied by two small cottages.

A hearing will be held on an application by Ray E. Nolan to rezone two lots in the Karlsrue Subdivision from single to multiple dwellings.

Fleur de Lys Restaurant Shut

The Fleur de Lys Restaurant at 112 Spaulding Avenue, San Anselmo, has closed for an indefinite period, it was announced today by owner Robert Charles.

Charles kept his establishment open yesterday for Easter dinner, but said he had found it increasingly difficult to divide his time profitably between San Anselmo and the Fleur de Lys at 777 Sutter Street, San Francisco which he will continue to operate. He did not rule out the possibility of reopening in Marin County but said there is no definite plan now.

The hillside French restaurant overlooking the City of San Anselmo was opened in May, 1959. Charles had previously maintained a similar establishment for a brief period on San Anselmo Avenue in 1956. This was closed before he opened the Fleur de Lys in San Francisco.

Scientists Work On Moon Landing

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—Engineers are looking for a soft-touch way to land a space vehicle on the moon.

Engineers at the Bendix aerospace division here say the shock absorber used must cushion the impact but cannot contribute to rebound that will make the space vehicle bounce.

They now are testing an aluminum honeycomb that will crush under the impact of the space vehicle's landing.

Diaper Drooping 22-Months-Old Girl Wins In Adults' Art Show

SOUTHGATE (AP)—Theresa Bates, the Grandma Moses of the falling diaper set, is in the midst of an art controversy today—and could not care less.

Theresa, at 22 months of age, is too young to care.

She was a prize-winner yesterday in an art show for adults.

Some of the mature artists in the show called her work a happy accident" and then angrily yanked their paintings from the show.

One artist who didn't remove his paintings was Albert G. Bates, Theresa's father. Bates, also one of the 10 prize winners, entered his daughter's work.

The father said Theresa's prize work was done one night after she had watched him paint in the kitchen.

"I left for awhile and when I came back, she had made a long mural across the kitchen cabinets," said Bates. "So I taped paper up on the refrigerator and just let her go to it. She did three pictures and I picked the best for the show."

Judge Robert A. Chuey, an art teacher, said: "Many times children's art can be better than adult art. It seems to me that much adult art and many artists become tired and lacking in fresh viewpoints, whereas a child is untarnished, not yet corrupted."

Pat S. Brown, president of the sponsoring South Gate Art Assn., declined comment but barred children's entries for next year.

Nation's Tax Head Files —Tonight Is Deadline

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mortimer M. Caplin, the nation's chief tax collector, has safely beat the income tax deadline —but not by much.

At the dinner hour Saturday, Caplin deposited Form 1040 in a letterbox near his Northwest Washington home. The deadline is midnight tonight.

(This also is the deadline for filing California state income tax with the tax franchise board.)

Caplin doesn't want to be known as a Hairbreadth Harry although, like millions of other Americans, he concedes he did dilly-dally a bit.

The Internal Revenue Service commissioner told a reporter last night he got the adding and subtracting done a week ago. Why did he wait a week to get the form in?

Well, during the week, Caplin had a revenue agent "give me an audit." Then, on Saturday, the tax chief spent an hour doublechecking the agent who had doublechecked him, had Mrs. Caplin sign the joint return, and got the form away.

Explaining the extra care, the former professor of tax law at the University of Virginia said: "I suppose my position is rather unique when it comes to income tax."

S. F. Cheers Giants At Big Parade; Opener Tomorrow

The National League Champion San Francisco Giants aren't going to win 'em all in 1963, but they got a welcoming-home parade today anyway.

They lost their first game of the season yesterday, a 3-1 thing to the Chicago Cubs after capturing their first four tilts. Then they grabbed a plane for San Francisco.

They open the 1963 Candlestick Park campaign tomorrow against the Houston Colt combine that they've already trounced three times this young season.

The Giants missed out on a parade last year when the New York Yankees edged them in the final game of the season at Candlestick. So this is a sort of a belated congratulations to the club that won the playoff for the National League title from the Los Angeles Dodgers. The team then went seven rounds with the Yankees before losing the World Series.

The parade today was through the main section of the city, then up to the steps of city hall, where they were officially welcomed home by the mayor.

Tomorrow's game is a sellout. It has been for six weeks, with all 42,000 seats snapped up. The weather, which has been rainy for the past week, is supposed to clear up in time for the start of the 14-game home stand.

Tomorrow at the ball park pennant raising ceremonies are scheduled for 12:30 with the game starting at 1 p.m.

Following Houston will come Chicago, Cincinnati, St. Louis and Milwaukee. By that time, Giant fans will have had a good chance to look over the 1963 performances of their heroes.

They wouldn't have had much to cheer about if they had watched the team in action against the Cubs at Chicago yesterday.

Larry Jackson, with a ninth-inning assist from Lindy McDaniel, had the San Francisco sluggers eating out of his hand. They got only three hits off jackson and one off his reliever.

The lone San Francisco run came in the last inning when Chuck Hiller was safe on an error and scored on Willie McCovey's double.

Pitcher Juan Marichal failed to go the distance for the second straight time. The Cubs got only five hits and two runs off him in the five innings he worked. But that was enough.

Old Billy Pierce (1-0), who has won 13 games without a defeat at Candlestick Park, will be on the mound tomorrow for the Giants. There haven't been many nice things said about this windy, some-times watery park, but Pierce loves it.

Manager Alvin Dark came off the road well pleased with the performances of his troops. He was a bit unhappy with the fielding which was a major feature of the club last year. But the hitting and the pitching have been above expectations.

Felipe Alou, Willie Mays, Orlando Cepeda and McCovey each has clouted two homers. And the clutch hitting, except for yesterday, has been superb.

"If we can win four of five on the road the rest of the season," says Dark, "we'll be in pretty good shape."

A team usually is content to capture half its games while travelling and then make up the extra mileage while at home.

But if the Giants can do as well at home a sthey have done on the road they'll be away and winging for their second straight pennant.

Giants Pin Hopes Of Pennant On Three Regular Starting Hurlers

CONNOLLY

Not since 1914 when the Boston Braves, under the late George Stallings as manager, has a ball club swept to a pennant with three regular starting pitchers.

In last place in late July the mighty Bostonians, using three clutch pitchers —Tyler, James and Ludolph — roared down the stretch and went on to win the National League pennant and the World Series.

When you size up our glorious S.F. Giants pitching you must simmer down to three solid, known performers—Jack Sanford, Juan Marichal and Billy O'Dell. Without attempting to slight Billy Pierce, he has to be considered as the "tag-along" guy who could easily be one of the winningest of them all.

Placing the chances of a repeat performance as 1963 National League flag winners on the shoulders of three pitchers is stretching things pretty fine. Roughly 75 per cent of the pitching load has to be carried by Sanford, O'Dell and Marichal. Those three wil rotate, or should as starting pitchers with Pierce being sandwiched in every fifth day. Should Jack Fisher become a member of the Giant starting staff, it could change the complexion of the whole picture.

THE RELIEF chores for the starting pitchers, at this period, look exceptionally well. Bob Bolin, Jim Duffalo, Gaylord Perry and now, the new southpaw Jim Constable, might be just what the doctor ordered.

If Manager Alvin Dark isn't being coy, he can't help recognize Bolin and Duffalo as his long relievers along with Don Larson. Properly handled and smartly directed the Giant bullpen, heretofore a nightmare, could easily become a safety valve for Dark.

THE THEORY of the Giants is for a starting pitcher to throw as hard and as long as he can. After that the outcome depends on how the relievers perform.

Outside of their questionable pitching stability, the Giants are far and away the best ball club in the National League and perhaps in organized baseball. They make more hits, score more runs, hit more home runs and are scored upon less than any other team in the circuit.

In 1962 the Giants averaged better than seven runs per game, so if they duplicate that feat this coming season the pitchers have something in their favor.

THE GIANTS are home today and await the season's opener tomorrow.

So far their work since the season opened is above reproach. All they have to do against the Houston Colts is to tame them as they did in Houston to satisfy all hands. Following the Colts come the Chicago Cubs in four games, two with Cincinnati, two with St. Louis and two with Milwaukee, in that order.

MUCH TOO HIGH—Jose Pagan, San Francisco Giants shortstop, goes high in the air as he leaps in futile try for a throw from center fielder Willie Mays in yesterday's game. Chicago Cubs Andre Rodgers starts his safe slide into second base on the eighth inning play. (AP Wirephoto)

Cubs Capitalize On Trade; Dodgers, Cincy Lose Again

By Associated Press

"We made the trade of the year."

So said Bob Kennedy, the head of the horde of Chicago Cub coaches, talking about the deal that brought Larry Jackson and Lindy McDaniel to the Cubs from the St. Louis Cardinals during the winter.

"We got our ace starter, and our best relief pitcher, in one deal," the Cubs' head coach said.

Kennedy's words looked very wise today. Jackson tamed the mighty San Francisco Giants for the first time this year, 3-1, yesterday, with ninth-inning help from McDaniel.

The defeat dropped the Giants into a first-place tie with the Pittsburgh Pirates and the Philadelphia Phils, all with 4-1 records.

Alvin McBean scattered 10 hits and pitched out of two bases-loaded messes, to best the Cincinnati Reds and Joey Jay, 1-0 for the Pirates.

Jack Baldschun, the relief workhorse of the Phils—132 games in the last two years—picked up the decisions in both ends of a doubleheader victory over the Cards, 4-3 in 10 innings, and 5-4.

KOUFAX BEATEN

The Houston Colts whipped Sandy Koufax and the Los Angeles Dodgers 5-4, and the hapless New York Mets went down 1-0 in 10 innings before the Milwaukee Braves, in the other National League games.

Jackson's sparkling performance against the Giants was in line with the fine pitching the Cubs have gotten all season. In five games, all against the Dodgers and the Giants, Cub pitchers have a 1.20 earned run average. Jackson, who lost the opener to Don Drysdale of the Dodgers, has allowed but two earned runs in 15⅔ innings.

FOURTH STRAIGHT

McBean pitched the Pirates to their fourth straight, although he left the bases loaded twice and stranded two men in three other innings.

Joey Jay pitched a five hitter for the Reds for eight innings, but three of the hits, singles by Smoky Burgess, Donn Clendenon and Bill Virdon, came in the fourth inning for the only run.

It was Cincinnati's fourth straight defeat after an opening victory.

The St. Louis pitching staff, which had 53 consecutive scoreless innings including the last 21 innings of last season, came down to earth with a thud against the Phillies. Wes Covington doubled home a run in the sixth inning of the opener to snap the string. Charley James tied the score at 3-3 with a Cardinal homer in the ninth, and then Earl Averill's short sacrifice fly in the 10th pushed over the winner.

In the second game, Ray Sadecki had a 4-0 lead for the Cards until Tony Taylor hit a two-run home in the seventh and Don Demeter hit another in the two-run eighth. Taylor reached first on Dick Groat's error in the ninth, was sacrificed to second and scored the winner on Demeter's single off relief pitcher Ron Taylor. Baldschun worked 2⅓ innings—⅓ of an inning in the first game—in picking up the two victories.

Koufax, who has never beaten the Colts in five starts, lost his first against one victory, at Houston. The left-hander was the victim of a four-hit barrage and some sloppy support in the sixth inning.

Singles by Pete Runnels, Howie Goss, Carroll Hardy and Hal Smith, plus two Dodger errors led to four Houston runs.

The poor Mets, still winless, suffered their third shutout in five games. They have scored only three runs and have a team batting average of .124, on 19 hits, a shade under four per game.

Bob Hendley held the Mets to four hits. Roger Craig was the victim. He matched zeros with Hendley through nine innings, but gave up a run in the 10th on a walk, a sacrifice and Ty Cline's single.

Ex-Dodger Hurler Williams Wins Debut With Yankees

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Attention slump-ridden batters! Shell-shocked pitchers!

Are you tier of going hitless day after day? Are you fed up with the way hitters are teeing off on your best pitches?

Would you like to see your batting average without having to use a microscopic lens? Would you like to win a game for a change?

Here's what you do: Get a transfer to another major league club.

It has done wonders for others. For example, Jerry Walker, Ron Kline, Larry Osborn, Stan Williams and Orlando Pena of the American League.

Walker hurled shutout ball through 4⅔ innings after coming to the relief of star Jim Grant yesterday and was credited with Cleveland's 6-0 victory over Detroit. Walker was 8-9 at Kansas City last year.

SPARKLING RELIEF

Kline's sparkling four-inning relief stint helped the Washington Senators defeat the Boston Red Sox 7-6. Osborne drove in two runs with a double and secrifice and scored another Senator run. Kline was 3-6 and Osborne batted .230 at Detroit last year.

Williams turned back the Baltimore Orioles 5-1 with a five-hitter as he pitched the New York Yankees into first place. He had a mediocre 12-10 record with Los Angeles last year and wore the goat's horns after walking in the winning run in the Giants' final playoff victory over the Dodgers.

Pena pitched five dazzling relief innings in Kansas City's 5-4 triumph over Minnesota. The Cuban right-hander, a bust with Cincinnati, was rescued by the Athletics from the minors last summer.

A minor miracle occurred in Los Angeles, where the only other A.L. game was scheduled. Rain washed out the Chicago White Sox and the Angels.

A five-run fourth inning that sent starter Camilo Pascual to the showers gave the Athletics their third straight victory after two losses. Manny Jimenez, a pinch hitter, doubled home the first three runs and Joe Tartabull tripled home the other two.

Rookies Vic Davalillo, Tony Martinez and Max Alvis collected seven hits among them in the Indians' triumph over the Tigers. Davalillo drove in two runs with his first major league home run. Martinez had three singles and Alvis two.

Walker took over with one out in the fifth when Grant was hit by a line drive on the pitching hand. He not only hurled scoreless ball the rest of the way but singled home a pair of runs.

FANS EIGHT

Williams, acquired from the Dodgers last winter in exchange for Bill Skowron, fanned eight Orioles in recording his first Yankee triumph. New York scored all its runs in the first three innings against loser Chuck Estrada, with Clete Boyer and Ellie Howard driving in two each.

Chuck Hinton had four hits for Washington, including a double and triple. Kline, third Senator pitcher, allowed only two hits and one run in the last four innings after the Senators had forged ahead 6-5 with a four-run rally against loser Hal Kolstad in the fifth. Ken Retzer's two-run single was the big hit.

Grayson Is Fired As Huskies Cage Mentor

SEATTLE (UPI)—Jim Owens, athletic director at the University of Washington, today promised speedy action to name a new head basketball coach to replace John Grayson.

Owens, also head football coach, announced Saturday the contract of Grayson, 47, coach of the Huskies for the past four years, would not be renewed for next season.

Grayson came to Washington from Idaho State College where he had a mark of 69-17 in three years. His Washington teams during his tenure had a 57-49 mark and were 13-13 during the past season when the Huskies finished in a tie for third in the Big Six Conference race.

Both Owens and Grayson denied Grayson's health was a factor in the dismissal. Grayson said he had been under a doctor's care for three years for a slight tremor of the left hand and that in March he visited the Mayo Clinic at the request of Owens.

"The Mayo Clinic wrote a letter after my visit March 25 that its examination showed no condition that could affect my efficiency as a coach," Grayson said.

Owens said he was not yet in a position to name a successor to Grayson in the $10,000-a-year job.

"eW will move as fast as we ca'," he said.

Early speculation for a successor centered on Mac Duckworth, assistant to Grayson, and Jim Rodgers, a Grayson star at Idaho State College and now coach at Columbia Basin Junior College at Pasco, Wash.

Grayson said the timing of his dismissal was a "hardship" and that when he attended the National Coaches' Convention in Louisville recently he had no idea then he needed to look for a new job.

GARIBALDI'S RECORD FOR TACOMA: 1-0

SAN DIEGO—Bob Garibaldi scattered 11 hits, walked one and struck out nine yesterday on his way to pitching the Tacoma Giants of the Pacific Coast League to a 5-3 victory over San Diego.

Third baseman Jimmy Hart hit a three-run homer in the eighth inning to provide the winning margin for the San Francisco farm club.

Garibaldi went the full nine innings on the hill. The only extra base hit he allowed was a two-run homer by Dan Dobbek which gave the Padres a 2-1 lead in the fourth inning.

Morrison Green Wins Drawing

Morrison E. Green of 56 Meadow Avenue, San Rafael, won two reserve tickets to the San Francisco Giants home opener tomorrow and a pair of reserved tickets to 12 Sunday home games in the San Rafael Youth Baseball League drawing yesterday.

Richard Schau, league president, announced the second place winner of a transistor radio as Mrs. Vincent Nicolai of 150 Deer Hollow Road, Sleepy Hollow.

Celts Escape With 117-114 Playoff Win

BOSTON (UPI) — The Boston Celtics figured they were lucky —very, very lucky—to escape with a win. And they may have lost a key player in the process.

The aging National Basketball Assn. champions, hunting their fifth successive playoff crown, took a one-game lead on the Los Angeles Lakers in the best-of-seven final playoffs, 117-114, last night.

But when the game ended, rookie utilityman John Havlicek, was in a hospital.

Havlicek suffered an injury to his left ankle when he dived over the Los Angeles bench while going for a loose ball in the second period. He was helped from the court and the ankle already was badly swollen when he was taken to St. Elizebath's Hospital later.

Celtic officials said they wouldn't know until later today whether Havlicek will be back for tomorrow night's second game—or at all—in the final playoffs.

Actually, the Celtics had a bad game and they were the first to admit it. But for a last-minute scoring spree by Tom Heinsohn, the lakers might have been the series leader.

Guard Sam Jones, Boston scoring leader over the regular season, wound up with 29 points while Bill Russell netted 25 and Heinsohn 19. Jones also grabbed 15 rebounds to run second to Russell's 29, and had seven assists, second only to Bob Cousy's 11.

Boston's shooting was off in the first half, when the Celtics couldn't even hit from the foul line. After two periods, Boston had only 11 points on 22 free throw attempts while the Lakers had hit on 18 of 19 attempts.

LOCKED DOORS

But the Lakers, despite Elgin Baylor's 33 points, 25 by Jerry West and 23 more for Dick Barnett, couldn't hold onto leads that at times reached 13 points.

The Los Angeles coach, Fred Schaus, whose team lost a seven-game overtime playoff decision to Boston last year, didn't permit his players to talk with newsmen. In fact, Schaus kept the Los Angeles dressing room door locked for 15 minutes after the game, and sent his players out a side door before admitting the press.

NORTH CAL ROUNDUP

Stanford Spikers Nipped By Ducks

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Oregon's NCAA champion track team came from behind to edge Stanford's cindermen 74-71 Saturday in one of the best meets at Stanford Stadium since the Russia-United States competition there last summer.

The Stanford squad, one of the top track aggregations at Palo Alto in the last decade, lost it in the final 100 yards of the final event, the mile relay.

Ray Van Asten turned on the steam in the anchor leg of the relay to pass Stanford's Keith Emmanuels and give the victory to the Ducks.

In the other major Northren California meet during the weekend, California's Bears used their depth to overcome UCLA and the brilliant C. K. Yang by a score of 86-59.

Oregon's Keith Forman turned in two outstanding efforts at Stanford, winning the mile in 4:00.5 and the two-mile in 8.56.8. Steve Cortright of the Indians took three events—the 120-yard high hurdles in 14.3, the 330-yard hurdles in 37.4, and the triple jump with a leap of 47 feet 5 inches.

Yang did even better for the Bruins at Berkeley. He won the pole vault with a meet record vault of 15 feet ¾ inches, and also finished first in the 120 high hurdles, the javeline and the broad jump.

Sophomore Dave Archibald was the only double winner for the victorious Bears. He scored in the 440 and 220-yard dashes on the rain-besogged Edwards Field track.

U.S. Teams Ready For Pan-American Games

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — The men's track squad, largest group in America's delegation for the Pan American Games, assembled today minus one of its star high jumpers.

As this country's forces of some 370 men and women athletes were processed for the journey to Sao Paulo, Brazil, and the April 20-May 5 games, Art Lentz, assistant executive director of the U.S. Olympic Committee, reported that Joe Faust, Olympic high jumper from Southern California, had wired that he would be unable to compete in Brazil.

Lentz said he assumed Faust, who has cleared 7-feet 1, possibly faced difficulty in trying to arrange classroom absence.

That left the men's track squad of 41 with only one high jumper, Gene Johnson of the University of California. In the track competition, the major event on the Pan Am schedule, each nation is limited to two entries in each event.

Besides the trackmen, Monday's arrivals also included the strong U.S. swimming team and the wrestling squad. Already on hand, and awaiting the hectic processing routine, are 180 athletes including the men's basketball team and soccer squad, boxers, men and women divers, cyclists and women's basketball and volleyball players.

The last arrivals tomorrow will include the baseball team which has been training at Lakeland, Fla., 36 rowers and the 18-member girls track squad.

Some of the U.S. yachtsmen already have departed for Brazil. The equestrian group of 10 riders will leave from Delray Beach with their 20 horses.

The departure will be staggered over three days, with 147 contestants on each of three chartered flights leaving tomorrow, Wednesday and Thursday. Others in the total party of 469, including athletes, trainers, coaches and officials, will be carried to Sao Paulo by regular flights.

The American track team will be the final group departing Thursday.

Seals Lose, Return To S.F. For Win-Or-Else Situation

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Portland Buckaroos will be skating on alien ice when they go after the clinching victory for the Southern Division crown of the Western Hockey League Wednesday

The Portland team nosed into a 3-2 lead in the best-of-seven series by edging San Francisco 2-1 in overtime at home last night, while Seattle, also at home, stopped Vancouver 5-2 and deadlocked the Northern Division play-offs, 2-2.

Neither Portland nor San Francisco managed to score until Gordon Fashoway slammed in a close shot and put the Buckaroos in the scoring column with almost eight minutes gone in the third period.

MANTHA SCORES

Moe Mantha evened the score for the Seals by slapping in a shot from just over the blue line five minutes from the end of the period. A 15-foot shot by Tom McCarthy at 3:12 in overtime gave Portland the victory.

If the Seals win Wednesday's game in San Francisco, a seventh game will be played in Portland April 23 to decide the winner of the Southern Division crown and the Lester Patrick Cup.

Red Wings Win On Faulkner's 'Sunday Punch'

DETROIT (UPI) — Little Alex Faulkner has cut loose with his "Sunday punch" once again and the Detroit Red Wings are back in the running for the Stanley Cup hockey championship.

For the third straight Sunday, the 5-foot-8, 165-pound Faulkner scored Detroit's game-winning goal in the National Hockey League playoffs, this latest tally enabling the Red Wings to beat the Toronto Maple Leafs, 3-2, last night.

Faukner, a player the Leafs let get away last year, scored twice last night, giving him five goals in nine playoff games against Chicago and Toronto. He scored only 10 during the regular season.

The Red Wings' victory cut Toronto's lead to 2-1 in this best-of-seven final series for hockey's most coveted trophy.

Are physically fit children better students?

There is some evidence that the physical fitness of children makes a difference in their scholastic performance.
Even without specific evidence, it stands to reason that the better a child's health, the better he may do in his studies.
Many schools have recognized this fact and are stepping up their programs of physical education. But in a surprisingly large number of our schools, there is still not enough emphasis on daily activities that develop stamina, strength, agility and other desirable qualities.
For the sake of your child's physical and mental progress, find out about the activities required of him daily. Urge your local school officials to provide for his physical development with at least 15 minutes of vigorous exercise daily.

Sanders Captures Greensboro Title

GREENSBORO, N.C. (UPI)—Doug Sanders fired his worst round of the tournament yesterday but still won the Greater Greensboro Open going away with a 72-hole total of 270.

The tall Georgia boy who plays out of Ojai, Calif., shot a two-under-par 69 over the par 71 Sedgefield Country Club course yesterday. This combined with three other sub-par rounds—68-65-68—to put him four strokes ahead of second-place Jimmy Clark at 274.

Sanders took the lead after his brillian 65 in the second round, but frankly admitted he felt the pressure all the way.

"So many freak things happen in golf, I don't think a man can count on anything until he is right down to the wire," said Sanders, who collected $5,500 for his victory. He said he felt most pressure from veteran Sammy Snead, who has won this tournament seven times.

SNEAD EVEN

Snead, however, was even par 71 on his final round and finished in a three-way tie with Gary Player and Jack McGowan for seventh place with a 278.

Clark's second place finish was worth $3,500 and Australian Kel Nagle collected $2,400 for third place with a 275.

Sanders shot birdies on the fifth and ninth holes to make the turn two under par. He eagled the 14th, but took bogies on the 12th and 15th for a regulation 35 on the back nine.

Bunched at fourth place at 277 were Bob Charles, Art Wall Jr., and Harold Kneece.

BATHYSCAP — A 100-ton floating crane starts to swing the bathyscap—Trieste aboard the Point Defiance at the Naval Electronics docks in San Diego. The Defiance will transport the Trieste to Connecticut where it will join in the search for the hulk of the nuclear submarine Thresher. (AP Wirephoto)

Naval Court Told Of 'Object'

PORTSMOUTH, N.H. (UPI) — A naval officer testified today that an object at first believed to be a submarine was seen a few hours after the Thresher sank. He said the object disappeared and it may have been a fishing boat.

Lt. Cmrd. Stanley Hecker, 36, skipper of the escort vessel Skylark which was nearby when the Thresher sank Wednesday in the Atlantic with 129 men aboard, testified at a naval court of inquiry.

He said that during the search for the Thresher Wednesday afternoon the Skylark spotted an object which was believed to be a submarine "sail" or fin.

"We were anxious and possibly hoping it was the Thresher, Hecker said.

Hecker said the Skylark moved in closer and challenged the object. It refused to answer the challenge, he said. At one point, the Skylark was within 6,000 yards of the object when it disappeared, he said.

"It was lying to," he said. "Maybe it was a fisherman." He said the Skylark did not pursue the object.

Asked if the ship or object carried any identifying numbers, Hecker said, "No, it might have been grey at one time. It was a dirty color. I don't know what happened to it."

Commander Hecker testified that because of the deep depths in which the Thresher apparently plunged, his vessel, the Skylark, was in no position to offer any assistance.

Hecker earlier described the Thresher's death throes and said he was concerned the submarine might surface beneath the Skylark.

Hecker read off to the inquiry board the Skylark's log of the Thresher's last minutes in water one and one-half miles deep 220 miles east of Cape Cod.

His testimany was about the same as that of Skylark officers who testified Saturday.

Another Victim In Bus Crash

OROVILLE (AP)—Seven-year-old Steve Kendrick died in a hospital here last night, the ninth fatality to result from a bus accident April 6.

He was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Kendrick of Quincy.

The Greyhound bus skidded on a curve and rolled over an embankment on the Feather River route, 17 miles east of Oroville.

Eleven persons still are in hospitals, in satisfactory condition.

Student Building On College Agenda

Marin Junior College District trustees will study plans for a College of Marin student union building and physical education complex at the offices of Balk and Booth, architects and engineers, at 16 Beale Street, San Francisco at 7:30 p.m. today.

The meeting was transferred this morning from the campus to San Francisco because of the number of large drawings to be viewed and the unavailability of a room at the college large enough to display them, said Mrs. Elizabteh M. Deedy, board president.

Corte Madera Councilmen To Hear Differences In State Bond Acts

Town Atty. Sherrod S. Davis will discuss differences between 1911 and 1915 public improvement act bonds in connection with a proposed assessment district at a meeting of the Corte Madera Town Council at 7:30 p.m. today in city hall.

The council requested Davis to furnish comparisons after two developers on April 1 proposed a project to resubdivide 46 lots in the Madera Park tract into 26 single-family building sites. The developers asked for financing under the 1915 public improvement act, under which the town would guarantee the bonds.

The council will discuss changes in a proposed grading and drainage ordinance and set a public hearing for a revised town plan. It will consider an appeal of a planning commission rejection of owner Frank Rusalem's latest proposal for a location of a new postoffice in the Corte Madera Center.

With your life insurance...and the help your agent is trained to give you!

YOU: That's a pretty big promise. How's it possible?

YOUR LIFE INSURANCE AGENT: You simply use any policies that have cash values—as a way of putting money aside for your children's college education.

YOU: And then what?

AGENT: Well, as you know, these cash values in your policies increase, year by year, as you pay your premiums. When college days arrive you can use this money, if you need to, for tuition and other expenses.

YOU: But why do it with life insurance? There are lots of other ways I could save the money.

AGENT: Sure, if you're positive that you'll live to save it. With life insurance you know the full amount will be there—even if you're not.

YOU: I never thought of it that way. The money really is guaranteed, isn't it?

WHEN SOMEONE'S COUNTING ON YOU...YOU CAN COUNT ON LIFE INSURANCE

That's only half good. At Redwood National Bank, we go all the way. And that means every service in the book, and some new ones too. For example—No charges whatsoever on personal checking accounts with balances of more than $200.00. At Redwood National Bank you can have a lifetime of charge-free checking, after a brief visit, a phone call, or a letter. And speaking of letters, did you know that we assume every postage charge on bank-by-mail? Both ways. You just sit back in the sun. Leave it to us and your postman. (Bank-by-mail is also a convenient way to capitalize on our charge-free checking, no matter where in Marin you live). But as our regular customers already know, those are just two of a long list of services that are changing this county's ideas about banking. We're not interested in what other banks do. We're interested in what banks ought to be, and in what people want in banks. And that means service. And that means thinking up the best way to reach into the homes of this county. Half way's only half good. In fact, it's no good at all. Find out about the difference in banking today.

TWO-INCH EASE

Mark Pattern From Hip Line To Give Skirt Tapered Look

"Several weeks ago you told us how to give a tapered effect to our straight skirts by stitching the side seams straight with the grain-line from the hips to the hem. I have tried this, but I can't get a straight seam where the skirt is shaped out at the hem. Is there an easy way to sew this straight seam?"

— Mrs. R. W.

Dear Mrs. R. W.:

First, remember that I mentioned stitching the seam straight from the hip-line to the hem. When you fit yourself, be sure that is a minimum of two inches extra fabric at the hips to assure proper ease.

To be sure the grain-line is perfect, measure from the center front to the side seam at the widest part of the hips (a), after the skirt has been properly fitted. This measurement can be marked the same distance in several places on the lower skirt, see (b) and (c). Do the same with the skirt back (this measurement will not be the same as the front). Stitch the lower part of your skirt on these new marks and it should hang perfect if you have been accurate.

"After each piece of your old dress has been ripped apart, and carefully pressed, (cottons should be laundered and lightly starched), pull a thread down through the center of each piece. This is the exact grain of the fabric and a perfect way to be sure your new dress will be cut with the exact same grain-line that was originally marked on your pattern."

— Mrs. E.

"Should a back zipper be inserted so the edges meet at the center or installed like a skirt zipper?" — Mrs. G. C.

Dear Mrs. G. C.:

You will find that most of your good clothes today will have the back zippers lapped just like a side zipper. After all, the zipper is certainly not a decorative part of your garment and we want to conceal it as much as possible. Pretend you are closing a side seam and simply shift to the center back and your zipper will be lapped in the correct direction.

"I don't look good in a tuck-in blouse and wonder if it is possible to make an overblouse out of one?" —Mrs. M.K.

Dear Mrs. M. K.:

Yes, this is possible and not too difficult. The darts will probably have to be changed to suit your figure. An overblouse is usually fairly straight (however, this should be decided by the individual figure.) You will probably have to shorten the blouse a little.

Be sure to leave a generous hem of at least one and a half inches. The hem should be finished with a bias strip of interfacing one-half inch narrower than the hem. This will give the overblouse a firm look at the hem. After all, an overblouse is actually a type of jacket and if you were making one from scratch, I would suggest you under-line it completely with a light weight firm fabric.

"I made a beautiful suit last fall of a soft tweed with muted colors. The detail of the jacket back, which also became part of the front, was so unusual that I decided to knit this section the exact size of the piece of my pattern

"I carefully blocked it and then backed it with a firm woven interfacing. In addition to being a conversation piece it has held its shape perfectly!"

This is a wonderful and creative idea. Because of the noted interest in knitting, we will welcome questions and suggestions concerning knitting involved with sewing problems.

Mrs. H. F. Shaeffer, Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., is this week's tailor trix winner and will be sent a pressing board.

YOUR SEWING GLOSSARY

Walking foot: This is an attachment that fits some makes of sewing machines which controls the way the fabric feeds into the machine. Part of the foot moves and part of it doesn't, which keeps the top layer of fabric from shifting forward. This attachment is perfect for any top stitching around finished edges, stitching plaids, etc.

Antiques Show, Sale To Feature Expert Advisors On Decorating

Family antiques can be used handsomely and attractively by giving careful attention to appropriate style, line and color, according to A. I. D. member, Mrs. Betty Perdue of Mill Valley.

Mrs. Perdue, who works with her husband, William, on construction, remodeling and interior design, has just completed planning the decor for a large San Rafael colonial home, with the happy result that it "just sings," according to the owner.

"We've used white, gold and shades of green, and have included some beautiful family antiques—a Federal mirror over the mantle, lovely chairs, tables, chests—with a serene, comfortable result."

BY OPENING doorways, adding damask wallpaper, louvred doors, bookshelves and exquisite fixtures, the Perdues have created a setting for both contemporary and antique furniture.

Similar effectiveness has been achieved in other Perdue-decorated homes, also using antiques: a home in Oriental motif, a contemporary ranch-style, and a San Francisco town house.

"Besides adding interest and beauty to your home, antiques are a sound investment," says Mrs. Perdue, "providing enjoyment and satisfaction, and, during the years, increasing in value."

Mrs. Perdue and Mrs. Helen Van Cleave Park, both of Mill Valley, will be on hand for interior decorating advice at the 11th Annual Marin County Antiques Show and Sale, April 25-28. The show is sponsored by the Mill Valley Episcopal Church of Our Saviour.

CHAIRMAN of the show is Mrs. John B. Wyand. Her committee includes the Mesdames Harold Jolley and Ehrling Carolsen, dealer relations; Harrison M. Leppo, publicity; D. Murray Hammond, kitchen; Leslie Wellington, house; Richard D. Rider, hostesses; Eugene W. McGeorge, advance ticket sales; Richard N. Jessup, outdoor advertising; E. M. Tobin, guest book; Clayton Pickersgill, telephoning.

COMPLETING the list of committee chairmen are the Mesdames George Unmacht and Jay Chilton, decorations; Harry Smith and Aubry Harwood, dining room; Herbert B. Marsh, treasurer; John F. Richardson and John J. Savage, Grandmother's Cupboard; A. E. Jurgenson, scrapbook; Earl F. Reinke, staffing; Jay Chilton, quarter cards, and Ennis B. Gicker, art work.

Grandmother's Cupboard features homemade gourmet items: chutneys, chowchow, breads, cakes, rolls, candies, jellies, jams, cookies.

REFRESHMENTS are served; both luncheon and supper will be available. Hours are from noon until 10 p.m., except Sunday, when the show closes at 6 p.m.

THE FAMILY COUNCIL

MRS. ALMA DENNY
Supervising Editor

Don't Swaddle Your 12-Year Olds: They Grow Into Hothouse Plants

MARIE W.—She should let him come to New York alone.

ELAINE A.—I wouldn't dream of letting him travel alone.

MARIE W.—My brother lives in Florida and I live in New York with our parents. We'd counted on a visit from him and his family at Eastertime because their 12-year-old son, whom we haven't seen for two years, had a 10-day vacation. His parents make several trips north a year on business. Well, we were sadly disappointed because Chippy went on a Scout encampment instead. We've asked him up for two weeks when school lets out. He can travel alone. Lots of kids do.

ELAINE A.—I don't care what other kids do. I know my son, and I'm not putting him on a bus, as Marie suggests, to go to New York alone. And we can't make another trip to bring him so soon after this one. It's hard to make our plans coincide with his vacations. Chippy loves New York and really wants to accept his grandparents' standing invitation. But he'd have to be at least 16 before we'd consider letting him travel alone. He'd lose his money or his way.

THE COUNCIL—Let's hope the Scout toughening program can win out with Chippy over his mother's swaddling closeness. She's far behind in her duty of preparing her son to take full responsibility for his social behavior at age 16 when a lapful of new rights and privileges descends upon him.

A child psychiatrist, Dr. Jerome L. Schulman, claims that a normal time-table would have a boy of nine making 50 per cent of all decision affecting his daily life—such as how much milk to drink, what to wear, how to handle his allowance, when to do homework.

If Elaine had been setting the proper groundwork for self-sufficiency, Chippy might now—even at 12—be ready to try a solo trip with enough poise and self-possession not to get lost or even flustered. We don't approve of pushing a child. But neither can we condone "ploughing under" what's ready to grow. How many would-be oaks are metamorphosed by over-protective parents into hothouse plants?

Mrs. Caletti To Preside At Sunny Hills Board Meet

Mrs. Carlo Caletti, first vice president of the Sunny Hills Board of Directors, will preside at a special luncheon board meeting today in the seventh floor assembly room in the Bechtel Corp., 220 Bush Street, San Francisco.

Tonight he will be honored at a cocktail party given by Mr. and Mrs. Donald Perry, at their home in Kentfield. Mrs. Perry is past president of the Sunny Hills Board of Directors.

Mrs. Benjamin Harrison served as first president general of the DAR.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

Czechs Check Alcoholics With Tough Rules To Combat Disease

VAN DELLEN

Many medical and lay experts hope to combat the problems associated with alcoholism and traffic accidents by any means short of a new Volstead act. Instead of prohibition, they pin their hopes on getting tougher with violators. No one has suggested the firing squad, which was faced by one foreign motorist who caused a death while tipsy.

Czechoslovakia has a new law order-the confirmed drinker to consult a physician when his condition endangers the state or interferes with his work or family life. In some instances, the alcoholic may be forced to undergo institutional care if the physician believes it necessary.

BUT THIS is only part of the law. The toper's wages are paid in part or in full to his dependents if he cannot control his addiction and it creates a hardship for the family. In addition, he is fired or transferred to another job for six months if he experiences an industrial injury or road accident traceable to drinking. The Czechs feel the person knows what he is doing when he imbibes and then engages in an activity that is potentially dangerous to his fellow citizens. The penalty may be a year's imprisonment.

All Czech traffic policemen carry phials containing a chemical reagent through which any suspected driver is required to blow. If the material changes in color, the individual is taken to the police station for a more accurate test.

THE DRUNKEN driver was described at the Third International Conference on Alcohol and Road Traffic as egotistical, anti-social, unadaptable, and easily tempted. The only defense we have against this group is stiffer laws aimed not only at the violator but also the person serving drinks to a driver.

Alcoholics have a high accident rate. Moreover, the incidence of suicide among these old soaks is far above the national average. Dr. Melvin L. Selber of Ann Arbor, Mich., believes the automobile is an ideal self-descructive instrument, especially for those intent on concealing their desire to commit suicide.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.)

VIOLENT SNEEZING

E. D. writes: My husband always has sneezed very hard — so much so, it tires him out. The other night he sneezed twice and fell to the floor. What happened? Did he cut off his own wind, break a blood vessel, or what?

REPLY

The sneezing reflex, like the cough reflex, may lead to unconsciousness occasionally, especially when the sneeze is violent. Now and then, stroke ensues.

PARALYZED EXTREMITIES

V. T. writes: What is the difference between paraplegia and quadriplegia?

REPLY

Paraplegia is weakness or paralysis of both legs and quadriplegia involves both arms and legs. In addition, the muscles of the bladder and bowel are involved. Injury to the spinal cord usually is responsible.

DIABETES AND DRINKING

R. C. writes: Is is dangerous for a man who is taking diabetic pills to drink alcohol?

REPLY

No, provided he uses discretion and includes the caloric value of the cocktail in the diabetic diet.

COFFEE IS COFFEE

J. F. writes: Does instant coffee coat the kidneys with a harmful substance?

REPLY

No. Instant coffee has the same effect on the kidneys as regular coffee.

Steel Price Excitement Held Good Sign

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—Will the excitement over steel prices give business as a whole the fillip it has been hoping for:

Some stock traders think so. They've been saying for weeks that what the economy really needed to get moving again was not a change in the statistics or indicators, or even the promise of some pump-priming laws. It needed a belief on the part of the public—whether soundly based or partly fancied—that business was about to take off on a climb.

So when the steel industry switches from complaints about stagnation to boosting prices because some products are in sufficient demand to make an increase seem likely to stick, these stock traders think both consumers and businessmen will get the message.

The peril, in the view, is that the price increases might not stick. Then the public might take fright instead of increased confidence.

For this theory of what the economy needs to get moving is that right now psychology is the big thing.

That's because the public has a record amount of savings to tap for purchases. And many companies are in a financial position to step up current activities or are just waiting for a signal the public's in a mood for more spending to expand or start new ventures.

Also behind some of the thinking that sent stock prices up when one steel company raised prices, and again when the president didn't crack down on the move because it involved only a few products, is the effect on union phychology.

Conditions that start prices stirring after a long hibernation may also motivate the unions. They may figure that an economy on the move — more precisely the company they work for — can afford higher wages.

If price and wage increases are large enough and widespread, it spells inflation. This is what President Kennedy fears and warns against. But just the chance of it can send stock prices up, either as a hedge or in hopes of profit and dividend increases.

Price increases on a few steel products by a couple of companies, Wheeling and Lukens, aren't enough to spell inflation or even a significant upturn in industrial activity. Nor would the increases be enough if they spread only to other steel companies. One industry can have a boom or a recession without the general economy tagging along.

But a price boost that sticks because demand is that much better could point the way to price increases on the consumer and industrial products made from steel.

And a number of other industries besides steel have been complaining that operating costs were pinching profits. They, too, have been eager to raise prices—if they could. So a general price and wage increase in steel—as the president said—might trigger similar boosts in other industries.

The greater demand for some steel products is real enough. But in guessing whether a general price boost is feasible, steel makers and users will have to decide how much of the increased ordering is for current use and how much is for stockpiling against the threat of a production stoppage this summer. The union can reopen the wage contract after April 30, and could strike 90 days after that.

NATURE IS UNFAIR TO ELDERLY WOMEN

By DELOS SMITH

NEW YORK (UPI) — It is the contention of Dr. Robert A. Wilson, a veteran woman's doctor, that nature is unfair to elderly women but that medical science can do something about it.

Nature "desexes" woman when she approaches her 50s and thereafter she declines rapidly mentally and physically even though she may live to be a hundred, in his view. Nature does no such deteriorating thing to man, although it usually kills him sooner.

"Our streets abound with them, (elderly women,) walking stiffly in twos and threes, seeing little and observing less," he said. "It is not unusual to see an erect man of 75 vigorously striding along on the golf course, but never a woman of this age."

The young girl is "essentially of neuter gender." With puberty her body chemistry is flooded with the hormones of feminity and they make her a woman. At the menopause, the "change of life," estrogens production is abruptly curtailed. She returns to essential "neuter gender."

"There is variation in degree but not in fact," continued Wilson. "Men do not live as long as the so-called weaker sex. However, they age, if free from serious disease, in a proportional manner. The gonads fade gradually, but there is no sudden shutdown."

Because these gonad hormones are responsible for conspicuous sex characteristics, the layman thinks of them as "sex hormones." Biochemistry knows, however, that they play important parts in the chemical processes which maintain whole body functional efficiency.

Wilson said that in the "estrogen-starved" elderly woman, muscle cells lose their strength, there is a loss in weight, energy and height, arteries "harden" at a greatly accelerated rate, she is made susceptible to mounting blood pressure, and her bones become progressively more brittle.

And there are mental effects.

"A large percentage of women who escape severe depression acquire a vapid cow-like feeling called a 'negative state'," he said. "It is a strange misery. Such people react poorly to pleasant stimuli, yet do not sink to great depths of depression. The world appears as through a gray veil, and they live as docile harmless creatures missing most of life's values."

Wilson wishes medical science to apply "replacement therapy" to those elderly women who are markedly declining, that is, give them synthetic estrogens to replace those which their gonad glands are no longer producing.

He is devoting himself to persuading other gynecologists to accept this view. At present and generally speaking, synthetic estrogens are administered to elderly women with caution. Wilson recently rebutted at length in the Journal of the American Medical Assn. a common medical suspicion that they might somehow cause cancer.

For his newest persuasion he used the journal of the American Geriatrics Society.

"Lifelong substitution therapy is simply a matter of 'knowledge'," he said. "There is great need for the reorientation of almost every man and woman in the civilized world."

Wilson has been practicing gynecology and obstetrics for 42 years, and is still at it, at the Methodist Hospital of Brooklyn.

Twice A Year Finland Sends Check For $400,000 To U.S.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Twice a year, the U.S. receives from Finland a check for $400,000—a check that has a bit of history attached to it.

The money represents Finland's installment on its debt to the U.S. that resulted from World War I. Sixteen other countries that borrowed money during that era just stopped paying.

"They're still on the books as debts owed," a Treasury spokesman said.

Except for the semi-annual check from the Finns and a page or two devoted to the subject in the Treasury's annual report, the World War I debts appear to be a dead issue.

A reporter seeking information on these overdue bills soon finds this to be true. When the question is posed, usually knowledgeable federal officials scratch their heads and reach for tomes that have to be dusted before being opened.

The most recent data on the subject in the Treasury Department library consists of mimeographed reports already yellowing with age.

The bills accumulated for armaments shipped to the Allies during the war, and supplies and services sold to the Allies and other countries to help them during the post-war rehabilitation.

The indebtedness of foreign governments resulting from World War I originally totaled about 10.3 billion dollars. Approximately 2.7 billion dollars was paid before the debtors gave up.

Two countries—Cuba and Liberia—paid their bills in full. Nicaragua's debt was cancelled by a 1938 agreement.

The sixteen others are being carried as delinquent on Treasury books.

The latest report shows that the balance—with annual accumulating interest of about 4 per cent—has shot to nearly 20 billion dollars.

And as each year goes by, the interest is added on, and the total rises even higher.

Finland originally owed 8.2 million dollars for supplies purchased on credit. The Finns have paid 13.5 million dollars in interest and on the principal. They still owe about six million dollars.

Congress in 1949 passed a law under which Finland's payments are used to finance an educational exchange program between that country and the U.S.

So far, the U.S. has done much better in collecting the bills that resulted from World War II. Uncle Sam originally was due 22 billion dollars from 78 countries—all charged to the last war.

About nine billion dollars of this has been paid, and nearly all of the countries, including Russia, are meeting their annual installments. The big exception is China which still owes 251 million dollars for World War II, and hasn't paid anything.

317,000 Persons On Jobless Rolls

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The State Employment Department says that 317,000 persons a week received unemployment insurance benefits during February under insurance programs administered by the Department.

Total payments amounted to 14.4 million dollars a week.

Meanwhile, convictions were obtained in 442 unemployment insurance cases involving fraud.

Advertising helped it happen

By stimulating mass demand, advertising helped create a mass market for electric light bulbs. As demand grew, more and more were made. The more of them made, the less each one cost. Result: new and better electric light bulbs mass produced for more people at lower prices by America's remarkable and competitive economic system. Is this worthwhile? Then, so is advertising worthwhile.

The Way Construction Is Going, Population Of 200,000 Is Near

From the rate of Marin residential construction—particularly that in apartment dwelling—one might be tempted to forecast a 200,000 population figure for the county by the end of the year, but it's hardly likely. Chances are, there will be enough housing for that many this year, but the Marin County Development Assn. notes a longer lag in new apartment occupancy than in single family dwellings. It's a reasonable guess that the 200,000 mark may be reached sometime in 1964.

Residential building permits taken out in March exceeded the number for January and February together. Multiple units represented 77.6 per cent of the total, with 55.6 per cent in dollar volume. Much of this activity was concentrated in the incorporated San Rafael area around Terra Linda—the current "hotbed," between housing and Northgate Shopping Center construction.

All Marin construction permits for March totaled $8,919,894—79.2 per cent higher than February and 28.3 per cent higher than March, 1962.

YORK AND CO., investment securities firm headquartered in San Francisco, celebrated its eighth anniversary last Thursday. Palmer York Jr. who attributes much of his company's rapid growth to its specialized program for training young men in the securities field, told newsmen that he looks for increased interest in insured mutual fund savings investments in California in 1963.

The firm which maintains an office in San Rafael under resident partner Jess J. France Jr., is responsible for the Independent-Journal's daily list of over-the-counter quotations.

GORDON WALKER, president of Marin Mortgage Co., San Rafael, has announced the future opening of a newly affiliated company — Columbia Mortgage Co.—to be located in Santa Rosa. It will be the exclusive representative in that city for San Francisco Federal Savings and Loan Assn. John Belton has been appointed manager.

B. D. SCHULZ REALTY, formerly at 2042 Fourth Street, San Rafael, has moved to new offices at 1817 Fourth Street. This doubles the office capacity which will mean expanding services and enlarging the staff. David J. Crabtree of Marinwood is new sales manager.

NEW MANAGER at Annex Motors, San Rafael, is David Cargill, former Rambler dealer in Vallejo and Antioch. He lives in Martinez.

BARRY JEWETT of Santa Rosa has been appointed sales supervisor covering all of Marin County for Royal Crown Cola Beverage Co. of San Rafael and Santa Rosa.

MARIN DISTRIBUTORS for Anheuser-Busch's new Busch Bavarian beer that was placed on the Bay Area market today are Silvio and Joseph De Maestri. A separate firm has been set up under the name of De Maestri and Son Beverages to handle Budweiser and Michloeb beers as well as the Busch Bavarian.

Eventually a warehouse will be built at 43 Bay Street, San Rafael. Until then, business will be transacted from De Maestri Distributing Co., 628 Linardo Street. The younger De Maestri who's given up professional baseball will be in charge of the new operation.

Busch's new product has been on the market in other regions for six years. Complete California coverage is expected by April 22.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain — without surgery.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by a doctor's observations.

Pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all — this improvement was maintained in cases where a doctor's observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such astonishing statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®) — the discovery of a world-famous research institution. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

This new healing substance is offered in suppository or ointment form called Preparation H®. Ask for individually sealed convenient Preparation H Suppositories or Preparation H Ointment with special applicator. Preparation H is sold at all drug counters.

FILM ON CANCER TONIGHT

Gordon Isaacs, 7, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Isaacs, 690 Camino Del Canon, Mill Valley, peers into video lens at the KRON-TV studios in San Francisco. Young Gordon, the victim of a rare eye cancer, was in "Cancer: Enigma of Life," an "Assignment Four" documentary which ran a year ago. It will be seen again at 6:30 p.m. tonight on Channel Four. The second of a two-part series will be run next Monday. Young Gordon, who is with program manager Robert H. Glassburn of Greenbrae, was treated by an atom-smasher device better known in nuclear research than in saving the life of a small boy.

March Building Permits Reach All-Time Record

March building permits in Marin County hit an all-time record for the month.

Building permit valuation for the month was $8,919,894, the Marin County Development Assn. reported today. This total is 28.3 per cent above the total for March, 1962.

San Rafael led the pace with the building department issuing permits with a total valuation of $4,139,889.

The accumulated total for the first three months of 1963 stands at $19,685,205 which is 27.6 per cent above the total for the first three months of last year.

Apartments again dominated construction last month with 421 out of the total 585 residential permits issued being for multiple dwellings.

Other leaders in the March construction were Novato with a total $960,221, Tiburon Peninsula with $818,779, and Larkspur with $772,625.

The county building department issued a total of $2,178,669 for construction in unincorporated areas. Total for the 10 cities of Marin was $6,741,225.

Other city totals were: Mill Valley, $229,625; San Anselmo, $219,358; Corte Madera, $126,426; Fairfax, $117,742; Belvedere, $108,600; Sausalito, $61,600, and Ross, $4,800.

An art competition to provide three wall murals for the new William Babcock Memorial Wing at Marin General Hospital was announced today by the hospital and the Marin Society of Artists.

Only Marin County artists may enter the contest, the sponsors ruled.

Marin Retail Sales In Gain

Marin is one of 22 counties in the state which more than doubled general merchandise retail sales between 1950 and 1961, the California State Chamber of Commerce reported today.

Marin County's total retail sales of general merchandise amounted to $6,621,000 in 1950. The figure had jumped to $15,712,000 in 1961, for a gain of 137 per cent.

Marin's percentage of increase was 14th highest among the 58 counties in California.

The two highest-gain counties were Orange, with 505 per cent increase, and Contra Costa, with 329 per cent gain. The state as a whole showed a 93 per cent gain in the same period.

Today fewer than 20,000 bighorn sheep range from western Canada to Mexico.

Openings are now available in the 362nd Army Reserve Regiment, 46 Louise Street, San Rafael, whose primary mission is to train basic infantry trainees. After a six-month tour of duty, military obligations are completed by attending weekly reserve meetings.

Who Will Get Council Position?

By BRYCE W. ANDERSON

Three members of the San Rafael Planning Commission are among at least seven persons being put forward to fill a vacancy on the city council.

The vacancy comes about through election of Councilman David Menary Jr. as city attorney. His term on the council has two years to run.

Mentioned as having "indicated interest" in the council appointment are, among others, Gene F. O'Connor, Carl S. Brown and Orlando Conti, all members of the planning commission. Conti has twice in the past been an unsuccessful candidate for election to the city council.

Also definitely interested in the council appointment is Lothar Salin, who ran for the council in last Monday's election but failed to unseat either Dr. Charles W. Aby or Fred E. Jensen, incumbents who

More Steel Rises Bring Congress Inquiry Order

Republic Third Firm To Announce Increase

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen. Paul H. Douglas (D-Ill.), today scheduled a series of "impartial and factual" congressional hearings on steel prices, production costs and profits.

Douglas, acknowledged senate authority on economics, said his House-Senate Economic Committee would begin hearings April 22 and 23. He stressed they would be "non-partisan" and part of a previously agreed study of the domestic economy.

The move came within a week in which three steel companies—Republic, Wheeling and Lukens—raised prices on certain products one year after President John F. Kennedy's historic clash with U.S. Steel over a price raise in April, 1962. (See also story page 2.)

Douglas said he had no intention of obtaining and using subpoena powers to get cost data or to force witnesses to appear. Industry representatives will be invited to testify, Douglas said, and the Iron and Steel Institute, the Industry Trade Assn., and the AFL-CIO Steelworkers Union will be asked to send observers.

The use of subpoenas led to the abortion of a similar inquiry into steel prices called by the Senate antitrust and monopoly subcommittee of Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.), after the April, 1962, steel crisis.

(Republic Steel Corp., the nation's third largest producer, was the third company putting selective price increases into effect in an announcement made today, the Associated Press reported.

(Republic said in Cleveland, Ohio, it is increasing by an average of $5.24 a ton prices of carbon steel products.

NEAR FAIRFAX

Planners Approve 1,800-Acre Zoning

Limited agricultural zoning for nearly 1,800 acres of steep, wooded land near Fairfax was approved unanimously today by the Marin County Planning Commission.

The approval for agricultural zoning to replace the county's old interim "D" zoning for the area came after two public hearings. At the first hearing March 18, residents near the area objected to proposed single-family residential zoning as being "too restrictive."

"Our first job is to get rid of the interim zoning," said Chairman William Upton. "The agricultural zoning will allow more uses but will still allow even more restrictive zoning as time goes on."

"One reason we want to eliminate the 'D' zoning," said Commissioner Felix H. Warburg, "is that the old zoning allows duplexes. The new zoning will prevent that."

The largest single section in the area, between Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, the city of Fairfax and Bolinas Road, is about 800 acres including Boy Scout Camp Tamarancho.

At suggestion of Warburg, part of the area along Bolinas Road and a small section near White's Hill were excluded from the agricultural zoning and held for future consideration.

The zoning approved by the commission will allow single-family residences on 10,000-square-foot lots as well as non-residential uses such as riding academies, dog kennels, and even hospitals.

E. W. Elliott of 650 Cascade Drive, Fairfax, owner of 500 acres, had previously protested residential zoning, but asked the commission today to exclude about 19 acres south of Bolinas Road and consider that section for residential use after all. He said he was about to sell the land for subdivision.

Also asking for "more restrictive" zoning was Gilbert P. Murphy, an architect living near Bolinas Road, who said many residents of the area would like to keep horses, but objected to too general an application of agricultural zoning.

The commission will consider other uses for the Bolinas Road area May 6. The agricultural zoning for the bulk of the land will be considered by the board of supervisors for setting of public hearing dates on April 23.

Netherlands Princess At Muir Woods

Princess Beatrix Wilhelmina Armgard of The Netherlands slipped quietly into and out of Marin today in a brief visit to Muir Woods National Monument.

The princess told Lawson H. Brainerd, supervisory park ranger, "I am impressed by the solitude, the sheer beauty and the size of the trees."

Brainerd was with the tour party which took the princess's mother, Queen Juliana, through the park in the mid-1940s.

The Dutch princess was in company of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Zellerbach, her host and hostess during her Bay Area sty, Brainerd said. (See story, page 2)

Cassini Rites

NEW YORK (UPI)—Nearly 150 relatives and friends attended the funeral today of Mrs. Charlene Wrightsman Cassini, 38, who died here last Tuesday after taking an overdose of sleeping pills.

Candidates, Issues In Schools Election

Tomorrow is election day throughout Marin County.

Every community will be voting on district school trustees or members of the county board of education, or both. In several districts, tax and bond measures will also be on the ballot.

San Rafael residents, who voted April 8 in the city election, will go to the polls again to help choose a member of the county board of education and three trustees of Marin Junior College District.

Biggest bond issue proposal is for $1,600,000 in Dixie Elementary School District — where voters also turned out last week for a share in electing the San Rafael Board of Education.

Kentfield School District residents will decide the fate of an $850,000 bond issue.

Tamalpais High School District — which includes Reed, Sausalito, Mill Valley, Larkspur, Kentfield, Ross, San Anselmo, Fairfax and Lagunitas Elementary School Districts — has a ballot proposal to continue the $1.90 operating tax limit, due to expire June 30 if not renewed.

Lagunitas District has a whopping $1.05 operating tax rate hike proposal on the ballot—which has split its five candidates for two trusteeships. This would raise the ceiling from $2 to $3.05, plus debt payment and "override" taxes.

A smaller increase is proposed in Tomales Bay Elementary School District, to raise the 80-cent operating tax lid to $1.30, again plus debt service, etc. All the tax proposals are to continue the new ceiling indefinitely.

Sixteen of the country's school districts have contests for trusteeships. There is one

Marin's Easter Sunrise Services, Egg Hunt Washed Out By Rain

All Easter sunrise religious services were forced indoors by rain yesterday, as was a children's Easter egg hunt scheduled for Albert Park in San Rafael.

Weekend rain varied from .66 of an inch in Sausalito to 1.16 in downtown San Rafael. It came in a series of showers interspersed with brief glimpses of sunshine.

The Weather Bureau, which had been predicting rain daily throughout the week—and being right each time—changed its prediction today. Tomorrow will be fair, the bureau said.

About 150 persons turned out despite rain for a sunrise service scheduled atop San Rafael Hill, sponsored by the Marin Council of Churches. But as a downpour started before dawn, the service was moved indoors at the First Presbyterian Church.

The service scheduled at Cushing Memorial Theater on Mount Tamalpais, sponsored by the 666th Radar Squadron and Mill Valley churches, was held instead at the Mill Valley Radar Station's base theater. One hundred and fifty worshipers showed up with umbrellas and rain gear.

Similarly, the outdoor service planned at Fort Baker was moved to the post chapel, and a Novato community sunrise service that was to have been held in the parking lot of Good Shepherd Lutheran Church moved inside the church itself. Crowds were much smaller than usual in all cases because of the rain.

The San Rafael 20-30 Club had planned to hide 1,800 Easter eggs for youngsters in Albert Park. But as the showers continued, the hunt was moved to San Rafael High School, with a small turnout.

Novato children were more fortunate. The sun stayed out long enough for a real scramble on Saturday afternoon for 2,160 colored eggs hidden by Novato Volunteer Firemen in the clipped grass of the Patterson Ranch.

San Rafael topped the rainfall readings, with 1.16 inches over the weekend to noon today. Novato and Larkspur's Chevy Chase district were close behind with 1.15 and 1.14 inches, respectively. Other readings for the 48-hour period to 8 a.m. today included:

Galapagos Island Volcano Erupts

QUITO, Ecuador (UPI)—The Chico Volcano on Isabella Island, largest in the Galapagos group off the Ecuadorean coast, erupted yesterday and was still spewing smoke, lava and ashes today, according to reports reaching here.

There was no report of deaths or injuries in the fragmentary reports reaching here.

The reports said the volcano, located in the center of the island, gave little warning before the eruption.

Gravy On Head? He Asks $25,000

A San Rafael bar-owner, who contends his employee poured some gravy like substance over his head, filed a $25,000 damage suit against the employee for "assault and battery."

William G. Taylor, who operates the Old Fashioned Bar at 1105 Fourth Street, says employee Kenneth Kelly poured the substance over his head and body last April 5. Taylor filed the suit in Marin Superior Court, alleging he was humiliated in front of his patrons and has become highly nervous and easily disturbed.

SCHOOL POSTS VOTING DAY TOMORROW

It will be a short voting day tomorrow for voters in eight small Marin school districts.

Although most districts will have polls open during the usual hours of 7 a.m. to 7 p.m., the eight will have balloting for a shorter time.

In West Marin District, polls will open at 10 a.m. to 7:30 p.m. In Nicasio, Point Reyes, Bolinas-Stinson, Tomales Bay, Union, Lincoln and Lagunitas districts, voting hours will be from 1 to 7 p.m.

Blizzards Hit Sierra Highways

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Snow and high winds made driving hazardous over the northern Sierra highways today as blizzards blurred visibility.

Highway 40A, the Feather River route, was reported closed just before 8 a.m.

Highway 40, the Donner Summit highway, was subject to temporary closing, with blizzards blowing.

Conditions were almost as bad on Highway 50, the Echo Summit route.

Easter Throngs

NEW YORK (UPI)—Plenty of sunshine and an absence of publicity stunts made for a dignified and pleasurable Easter parade along Fifth Avenue yesterday.

25,000 Pilgrims Leave Holy Land

JERUSALEM, Jordan (UPI)—Nearly 25,000 pilgrims headed for home today following the commemoration of Easter in this historic city.

Shouts of "Christ Is Risen" and the joyous pealing of bells rang out over Jerusalem while jubilant clergy, choirs and pilgrims celebrated the central belief of the Christian faith—the resurrection of Christ more than 1,900 years ago.

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Sgt. Alvin C. York, the ailing hero of World War I, was listed in critical condition today with heart trouble, possible pneumonia and a blood circulatory disturbance.

York

The 75-year-old veteran from Pall Mall, Tenn., was brought to St. Thomas Hospital Saturday after his condition became worse. His wife and seven children were called to the bedside.

York rested well yesterday, though his condition has not changed materially since his admittance.

Attendants said he was conscious and talked with his doctor and members of the family.

He was awarded the Medal of Honor, the nation's highest military decoration, for what Gen. John J. Pershing termed the greatest individual feat of World War I.

Governor Says State Economy Excellent

SACRAMENTO (AP)—Gov. Edmund G. Brown says California's economy is off to "an excellent start in 1963," with 20 firms announcing new plants or expansions in the million-dollar class.

The total new investment in the first three months of the year was estimated at 408 million dollars, Brown said. During all of 1962 it was only 700 million dollars.

"All indications," said Brown, "are that we will sustain a high level of growth throughout the year."

Pilot Averts Further Tragedy

OSLO, Norway (UPI)—The pilot of an Icelandair airliner which crashed yesterday, killing all 12 persons aboard, may have averted a bigger tragedy with quick thinking, autorities said today. The lives of villages on the ground had been imperiled.

Reumert

The victims included Danish actress Anna Borg Reumert, 60, a star and instructor in the royal theater in Copenhagen. Six other passengers and five crew members perished.

"The plane crashed exactly where it had to in order not to cause tragedies," a police official said.

A witness said the plane changed its course slightly just before the accident.

Princess Beatrix said the remainder of her journey will include visits to Washington, D. C., New York, and Ottawa.

Mail Carrier Floods City Hall

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Mail carrier Noel Volz, 32, broke into City Hall yesterday and turned on firehoses on all four floors.

In a half-hour he had created rivers running up to four inches deep and had sent water cascading down an elevator shaft to the basement. Police said he broke a dozen windows, overturned lobby displays, stripped trees in City Hall Plaza and threw the limbs into the fountain pool.

Volz told newsmen he chose Easter because, "If anything, it's the proper time. I've been wanting to do this for a long time. I thought City Hall needed a flushing out."

He was booked on charges of suspicion of burglary, resisting arrest, assaulting a police officer and malicious mischief.

'Flabbergasted' Crew Lets JFK Take Catamaran Tiller

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — A barefooted President John F. Kennedy succumbed yesterday to the lure of an unusual sailboat. He hitched a boat ride and soon was at the tiller for a 15-minute sail, taking a soaking from salt spray.

The crew rated the World War II PT-boat skipper a good sailor and one chuckled over having "ordered the president of the United States around."

Kennedy had taken his family on an afternoon cruise after they attended a private Mass at the oceanfront home of his ailing 74-year-old father, former Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy.

It had been a traditional Easter, with the First Lady photographed in her pale pink sleeveless sheath Easter dress and Caroline, 5, and John Jr., 2, enjoying a fluffy Easter toy bunny and taking part in egg rolling.

The president took his daughter for an Atlantic swim off the yacht's ladder.

Then, as the 92-foot presidential yacht was ending a two-hour cruise, a speedy twin-hulled, sloop-rigged catamaran swept in and caught the president's eye.

He stood up to watch it whip past on close runs and finally shouted: "Any chance of getting a ride?"

The three men and three girls aboard the Pattycat said later they had run their boat up close to the Honey Fitz, joking about giving Kennedy a ride.

Mainly, though, the girls just wanted a closer look at the president. "I was just flabbergasted," said Toni Briant, 24, when she realized Kennedy wanted to come aboard.

"The girls were screaming so I wondered how he kept a straight face," said crewman Charles Graves, a pre-dental student at Palm Beach Junior College.

A ladder was put over the side of the Honey Fitz. Kennedy donned a tan windbreaker, took off his shoes and boarded the sailboat with his friend and wartime PT-boat buddy, Undersecretary of the Navy Paul Fay.

There wasn't enough room on the sailboat, so the three girls temporarily were transferred to the Honey Fitz, where they chatted with Jacqueline Kennedy.

They noted fashionable Mrs. Kennedy shift and regretted that they were in shorts and rugged bad weather sailing jackets.

"And I was barefooted," lamented Chris Greer, 19, a language major at Palm Beach Junior College. With her and Miss Briant was Rita Tedder, 20. All are from West Palm Beach.

The president introduced them to Caroline, who stopped playing with her toy Easter bunny long enough to curtsy.

Mrs. Kennedy offered them refreshments, and with an evident interest in sailing asked questions about the 27-foot Pattycat, skippered by Paul Lindenberg, 28, a West Palm Beach boat designer and builder.

Graves and the other crewman, Dr. Ivan Schmidt, a West Palm Beach surgeon, joined in rating Kennedy a real good sailor.

Second Firm Raises Its Steel Price

NEW YORK (AP)—President John F. Kennedy was reported today to be skeptical on whether the price increase announced by the Lukens Steel Co. meet the "public interest" criteria he suggested for the industry.

Kennedy, anxious to head off any steel industry rush to boost prices, held a series of telephone conferences yesterday after Lukens became the second company to announce price increases on part of its products.

The Wall Street Journal said today: "The nation's big steel producers, convinced President Kennedy will tolerate selective price increases, are expected soon to seek their first substantial price relief since mid-1958. Indications over the holiday weekend were that their move could start this week."

The Wheeling Steel Corp. announced increases in prices on a number of its products last Tuesday. On Thursday, Kennedy issued a statement on the Wheeling action.

Laos Factions Sign Food Supply Accord

VIENTIANE, Laos (UPI) — Leaders of the pro-Communist Pathet Lao and neutralist forces signed an accord today to permit sending of food supplies to neutralists bottled up between the battle-scarred Plain of Jars and Dhan Dong.

Signing of the agreement was disclosed by members of the international control commission and the British and Soviet ambassadors who returned here today after accompanying Laotian Prime Minister Souvanna Phouma to the plain yesterday.

The group, including diplomats from five nations, was capitalizing on a temporary cease-fire to press mediation efforts among rival Laotian factions in an effort to head off new fighting in this troubled Southeast Asian kingdom.

LAWMAKERS HAVE TEN WEEKS TO TO FINISH JOB

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The Easter break marks a definite dividing line for California's legislature. Little has happened in the first 14 weeks of the 1963 session; plenty remains to be done before adjournment in less than 10 weeks. The following review brings you up to date on the situation at the Capitol.)

By MORRIE LANDSBERG

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Every major issue remains to be decided in the California Legislature as the 120 lawmakers return to their desks today from a long Easter weekend.

The situation, building toward a frantic finish by June 21, may not differ from other sessions in recent years, but here's how it stands:

Budget? Still in committee.

Dealth penalty? Awaiting Assembly action.

Withholding tax? Not set for its first hearing.

Fair housing? Has to get by a second committee.

Education funds? Up in the air.

Welfare benefits? Not set for hearing yet.

Only a single bill of more than ordinary interest has cleared both houses. It's the administration proposal to establish special school programs for "culturally disadvantaged" youngsters. Gov. Edmund G. Brown probably will sign it shortly.

The 3.25-billion-dollar state budget is not expected to reach the Assembly from its Ways and Means Committee until early May. That committee also is holding the session's key civil rights bill, directed at discrimination in private housing.

There's a good chance, however, that the Assembly will go to a vote on the death penalty issue in the next week or so. The bill, backed by Brown, would suspend capital punishment for a four-year trial moratorium.

The Senate has passed legislation to increase highway user taxes by 70 million dollars a year. It also has sent a bill to the Assembly postponing the effective date of the 1961 Fisher teacher training act from July 1 to Jan. 1, 1964.

The Assembly, meanwhile, has voted for conflict-of-interest regulations affecting state employees; agreed to allow Indians to chew hallucinatory peyote during religious rites, and to permit the reading of the Bible in public schools if it's done to teach literature, not religion.

Neither house has been exactly idle in going over the heavy volume of bills in a general session, held every other year. The defeated list includes proposals to:

Repeal anti-hot cargo, anti-secondary boycott laws; authorize local school districts to select their own textbooks; limit inter-county transfer of liquor licenses; require chemical tests for drunken driving; enact a Purity of Elections act; realign supervisorial districts on a population basis and ban tobacco ads in school publications.

Still other pieces of legislation have been given the interim study treatment. These range all the way from making it a misdemeanor to abandon a cat to prohibiting the sale of model airplane glue to teenagers.

A controversial bill giving a tax break to some duPont stockholders has been delayed for 30 days by the Assembly.

Among still others that have survived their first committee hearings are measures:

Arming the Fair Employment Practices Commission with broader investigating powers; providing state aid for public libraries; setting aside one per cent of state tideland oil income for local beaches; and increasing the number of horse racing days.

There have been no decisions at all on Governor Brown's programs to revise tax payments, billboards, further reorganize the state government, revise the state's welfare setup, legislate against consumer frauds and abolish separate sanity trials in criminal cases.

But the governor's bills have plenty of company in the pending bin. These others include:

Licensing marriage counselors, regulating auto repairmen, allowing therapeutic abortions, restoring permission for women to work overtime in defense industries, requiring licenses to sell products manufactured in Communist countries and legalizing bingo for charity.

Most of the big decisions, by design or not, are usually made in the final two or three weeks of a session. This year's shows no signs whatsoever of being any different.

Comedian Returns

NEW YORK (AP)—Comedian Lenny Bruce, ousted from Great Britain for the second time within a week, tearfully commented at Idlewild airport yesterday that he was too embarrassed to discuss the situation.

Bruce had flown to London Saturday. He was denied admission and ordered to return to the United States.

The American, known for his "sick jokes," flew to London a week ago and was denied admission.

There has been no official indication why Bruce was ordered from the country.

BOTULISM DANGER TO CATS IS OVER

The danger of cats contracting botulism by eating a brand of tuna fish cat food has passed, according to Dr. Malcolm H. Merrill, director of the State Health Department.

The health department had asked all grocery stores to remove cat food cans with the serial numbers WY2 and WY3 from shelves "as a precaution" after tuna for human consumption with the same code numbers, packed by Washington Packing Corp. of San Francisco, was found to be contaminated.

The tuna cat food, Tuna 4 Cats, and a number of cases of Drakes Bay tuna had turned up on market shelves in Marin County. Tastewell and Ocean Beauty tuna were also believed to be contaminated.

Merrill said yesterday, "We have not found any can of tuna packed as cat food with any indication of botulism." Tuna for human consumption, suspected of being tainted, has been withdrawn from market shelves, Merrill said.

Rabies Test On Mongrel Is Negative

Rabies tests on a mongrel dog that was with a sick fox near Point Reyes Station one month ago have all been negative, Dr. Carolyn B. Albrecht, county health officer, said today.

The dog, which had never been vaccinated against rabies, had been near a fox which was frothing at the mouth and acting strangely. The fox was shot by a ranch hand.

Boy, 18, Arrested For Skier's Slaying

RENO (UPI) — Thomas Lee Bean, a stringy, tousle-haired teen-ager who has confessed to the strangulation slaying of British ski star Sonja McCaskie, was to be arranged on a murder charge today.

The lean, dark, 18-year-old was arrested Saturday after a camera missing from the apartment of the 24-year-old murder victim was found in a pawn shop, and the pawn ticket was traced to Bean.

After police questioning, he admitted strangling the blonde divorcee with a piece of twine and methodically dismembering her body.

It was the sight of women's underwear hanging on a clothesline, Bean told police, that determined his victim. He said he was prowling Miss McCaskie's neighborhood when he saw the underthings. He entered through an unlocked rear door and strangled the attractive skier when she awoke.

Dist. Atty. William Raggio said he would seek a murder indictment from the grand jury, eliminating the need for a preliminary hearing.

Young Bean re-enacted the crime after his confession Saturday night. He said he spent five and a half hours in the apartment of his victim.

Bean, a Reno High School student, had spent eight months in a Nevada reformatory for attempting to strangle a woman in Salt Lake City.

The youth's father, Elza Bean, stood by his son as he was questioned yesterday. "I'd be a helluva a father if I didn't stick by him," said the elder Bean, who added to newsmen, "we feit he was not all right."

U.S. Farms Off

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The number of farms in the nation last year declined 3 per cent to 3,688,000, according to Agriculture Department figures. This number is nearly 2 million less than in 1950. Department experts look for another drop this year to 3,580,000 farms.

Greyhound Lines Shuts Marin City Ticket Office

The Western Greyhound Lines ticket agency, a landmark for 20 years at the entrance to Marin City, died a quiet death today.

"Things are slow," said depot manager Margot Marker at noon. Of course, she added, "it's muddy as usual." She said a few people were buying tickets for the week and commute books in order to save 10 per cent reduction.

The depot, located in a temporary World War II building, was to close at 6:30 p.m. since Greyhound had announced it will no longer have a ticket agency in Marin City but that passengers will be able to buy tickets on the buses.

There is indication that the disappearance of the depot, to be demolished for site improvements for redevelopment starting May 1, might be subject to some after-cries. A petition, with 1,000 signatures, protesting closing of the depot, is to be discussed at tomorrow's meeting of the board of supervisors.

Miss Marker said that a small shelter has been built, facing into the wind and rain, on Donohue Avenue near Drake Avenue where buses are to stop starting tomorrow.

The bus cafe depot, operated by Mamie Rae Judson, is to remain open through April 30.

County Planners Turn Down Gallinas Village Duplexes

Because of the loud protests of Gallinas Village residents, a request to build duplexes in the community was withdrawn today from the Marin County planning commission.

International Investment Co. of Oakland had proposed 36 duplexes at Vendola Drive and North San Pedro Road. Residents in the area protested last week to the Gallinas Village community services district board, saying duplexes "do not belong in our residential community."

"In view of recent objections to this reclassification by a number of property owners in Gallinas Village and in deference to their wishes," wrote Dudley Deane of the investment firm, "we hereby withdraw our petition for amendment."

The company had asked that the single-family area be rezoned to allow duplexes on an eight-acre site.

A request for subdivision, under existing zoning for one-family homes, will be considered by the commission May 20.

Felon Kicks Another In Courtroom

A San Quentin convict kicked another convict in the face in open court this morning and was dragged out by three prison guards.

Robert Gene Glover, 31, a Kern County robber, had appeared before Judge N. Brusatori of Marin Superior Court on a charge of assault by a life termer. The judge appointed William O. Weissich to defend the convict, and the case was put over two weeks for plea.

As Glover walked back down the aisle, he suddenly kicked at another convict, Alvin Thompson Jr., 23, who was sitting in the courtroom. Thompson, an Alameda car thief, was in court on a charge of having a sharp instrument in prison.

Dist. Atty. Roger P. Garety said he turned around and saw the guards grab Glover around the neck, pull him away from Thompson and haul him out of the courtroom. No one was seriously hurt.

"There is evidence of prior bad feeling between the two," said Garety.

Both Glover and Thompson had testified last year in the murder trial for Alfred J. Jimenez, 25, and Robert B. Dorado, 26. Convicts Jimenez and Dorado were found guilty of killing Abel A. Nevarez, 26, at the prison on Dec. 12, 1961.

The district attorney said the and Thompson may stem from the Nevarez slaying.

were voted another term. Salin was the only candidate went to the people for endorsement besides the two incumbents.

The vacancy will be filled by appointment by the four remaining councilmen. The city gives them 20 days after the vacancy occurs—which is tonight with Menary's oath of office as city attorney — in which to appoint. If the council fails to act within that time, the appointing power falls to the board of education.

The city charter requires the affirmative votes of three councilmen for the appointment, and provides that "all legislative sessions of the council, whether regular or special, shall be open to the public."

Mentioned as interested in the appointment, besides Salin and the three planning commissioners, are Walter Zurcher, Melvin Geister, and Dr. Louis Lustre Robinson. Others may have indicated interest to individual councilmen.

Although Salin is the only candidate who went before the public to seek election, he is not expected to get the appointment. Councilmen Jensen and L. H. Bud Baar have expressed opposition to naming him.

Conti may be considered an unlikely choice for the same reason that apparently militates against Salin: he has gone before the voters in the past for election, and been rejected.

Zurcher, owner of the San Rafael Toy Shop, is being urged for appointment by some members of the San Rafael Chamber of Commerce retail merchants committee.

Brown, executive manager of the Associated Home Builders of Marin, reportedly has backing from the construction industry.

O'Connor, an insurance man, has been active in the San Rafael Beautiful Committee, as well as serving on the planning commission, and frequently attends council sessions—as does Brown.

Geister, a partner in Geister Brothers, trucking company, has been a frequent spokesman for Bret Harte industrial property owners before the council—usually a highly critical one.

Dr. Robinson may be considered a "dark horse" candidate. His former wife is owner of one of the lots for which the city is negotiating for a new city hall site.

Coin Thief Will Eat —In Jail

Parking meter coin thief Joe Junior Johnson, 34, of San Francisco, who shrugged to the judge, "Well, you gotta eat," will be assured of meals for some time—at San Quentin.

Judge N. Charles Brusatori of Marin Superior Court this morning sentenced Johnson to state prison for repeated thefts from parking meters.

San Rafael police caught Johnson red-handed on Nov. 22, 1961. He drew one year county jail and probation for two years. As soon as he got out of jail Johnson was caught again, stealing from meters in San Francisco last January.

This morning in court, Johnson explained why he had to steal the coins: "Well, you gotta eat."

"I'm not being facetious," replied the judge. "But whether you go downstairs (county jail) or to prison, you'll be eating."

Thorp said he's been a driver for 40 years, never got a ticket, never had an accident.

"I just want to quit while I'm still ahead," he explained.

LOST WALLET RETURNED, BUT TOOK BIT OF DOING

An honest man turned Charles J. Lesca's sadness to joy, though it took a bit of doing.

Lesca, who lives in Petaluma, reported to Novato police Friday afternoon that he had lost his wallet containing $160 and all his identification papers, at the Novato Inn at 7410 Redwood Highway.

Howard Doyle of Boyes Springs spotted the wallet lying in front of the inn when he was making a delivery. He phoned Lesca at an address in Healdsburg, which was on his driver's license, but Lesca had moved. Doyle then contacted Healdsburg police to get their help in locating Lesca. He finally located him through his employer, a poultry dealer.

The wallet with all of its money and identification papers, was finally returned to Lesca on Saturday afternoon. He gave Doyle $25 reward.

Thousands In London In Ban-Bomb Brawl

LONDON (UPI) — Tens of thousands of jeering, nose-thumbing "ban-the-bomb" demonstrators brawled with police through the heart of London today in a wild melee that surged to the walls of Buckingham Palace and Parliament.

Police estimated the crowd at 35,000 but Canon John Collins, a ban-the-bomb leader, said it swelled to 70,000 as the crowd converged finally on Hyde Park's marble arch "speaker's corner" with cries of "get your official secrets here."

This was a reference to distribution during the weekend of thousands of pamphlets listing secret hideouts to be used by the government in event of nuclear attack — a security breach so serious that Prime Minister Harold Macmillan took personal command of an investigation expected to implicate thousands.

Central London was paralyzed by scuffles and fistfights as reinforced police charged into the unruly crowd on white horses. Tourists gaped in amazement as the fighting swirled through such fashionable shopping districts as Regent Street.

At 5 p.m. police said they had made 73 arrests and expected the arrests might approach 100.

The number of injured was not determined. One girl suffered facial bruises when a policeman threw her to the ground. Another man was kicked by a police horse and taken away in an ambulance.

At least two policemen were hurt, both in a five-minute battle outside Admiralty House, Macmillan's residence near Trafalgar Square. One suffered facial cuts, the other was hit by a bus in the chaotic traffic.

Two boys were swept away by policemen when they unfurled a small banner giving the location of an underground "regional seat of government" which the government would use in the event of nuclear war.

At one point marchers linked arms and blocked the street outside the government offices of Whitehall. Banners proclaiming peace and anarchy fell to the ground. Women screamed as the mounted policemen charged in to break up the mob.

There were long-haired youths in blue jeans—some of them Americans. They marched by the thousands—groups from Ghana, dancers from India, steel bands from the Caribbean, middle-aged men and women carrying Communist banners.

There were members of Parliament, clergymen in white collars, young mothers pushing baby carriages. They were joined by 48 persons who had achieved their own publicity by refusing to fasten their seat belts aboard an airliner at Duesseldorf, Germany, for three days.

As the column passed Victoria Station on a swing toward Parliament, leaders shouted "Keep calm, keep calm . . . don't use violence . . . no violence . . ." But there were more scuffles and fistfights with police.

As they moved through Whitehall more fistfights broke out at the Cenotaph Memorial to Britain's war dead. A woman with a large yellow bag sat in the road and refused to move. The demonstrators passed over her.

The invasion of London climaxed a four-day march from the government's nuclear weapons establishment at Aldermaston, 60 miles northwest of London.

As the marchers neared London, they broke into three groups. Two were composed of members of the campaign for nuclear disarmament, various peace groups, union delegations, national groups and members of the Socialist and Communist parties. They marched quietly, four abreast, past Buckingham Palace, parliament and Piccadilly Circus.

Chiropractor's Role In Health Explained

by Dr. Robert W. Pearce

Do you know what a chiropractor does? Many folks make the mistake of thinking that a chiropractor gives massages to people with sore backs. That's far from the truth.

Actually, a doctor of Chiropractics works with a person's nerves. You see, the center for all nerves is in the brain. These nerves flow down through the spine to all parts of the body.

Often these soft nerves are pinched by the hard bones of the spine. Sickness then results . . . for no part of the body can work properly without nerve energy from the brain.

By correcting defects in the spine, chiropractors have been able to restore this nerve energy and help folks with almost every type of sickness you can name.

Chiropractors use X-ray and other scientific instruments to determine whether your spine is in line. They have been so successful in getting sick people well that more than 500 insurance companies now pay claims for Chiropractic care.

OBITUARIES

Ex-Pitcher Earl Kunz Dies At 64

Earl (Pinches) Kunz, 64, former big league pitcher for the Pittsburgh Pirates and Marin County resident, died yesterday in his Sacramento home after a heart attack.

Kunz played for the Oakland Oaks, Sacramento Senators, San Francisco Seals and Seattle Rainiers in the minor leagues.

The Pirates purchased Kunz's contract for $25,000 and four players from the Sacramento Senators of the Pacific Coast League in 1923. He played for the Pirates for two years.

Kunz lived in Fairfax and San Rafael from 1920 to about 1940 in the off-season. After retiring from baseball, he operated restaurants and raced horses.

Kunz got his nickname, Pinches, because of his ability as a pinch-hitter—a rare role for a pitcher.

He is survived by his wife, Alvena Kunz, and two daughters and a son, Mrs. Dorothy Flynn of Greenbrae and Patricia and Walter Kunz of Sacramento.

Funeral services will be held Wednesday at the George Klump Mortuary in Sacramento.

JAMES PATTON

James Patton of 209 First Street, San Rafael, a Marin resident for 50 years, died Saturday in his home after a short illness.

Patton, 86, a native of Ireland, was a retired carpenter and teamster. He was a member of the San Rafael Gospel Chapel.

He is survived by his wife, Frances, and a brother, Matthew Patton of Canada.

Funeral services will be held at 11 a.m. tomorrow at Keaton's, San Rafael. Burial will be in Mount Tamalpais Cemetery.

LELA HONESS

Mrs. Lela Velora Honess, 88, aunt of Roy A. Brown of San Rafael, publisher of the Independent-Journal, died Saturday night at her home in Asheville, N. C., after long illness.

Mrs. Honess was born in Iowa and spent most of her life in Chicago. She and her late husband, Dr. Charles Honess, lived about a year in San Mateo County about a decade ago before moving to Asheville.

She reared her nephew after the death of his mother, her sister-in-law, when he was an infant.

Mrs. Honess was active in welfare work and in the Presbyterian Church.

The funeral will be in Asheville.

ANDREW BENNETT

Andrew (Shorty) Bennett, 97, a self-employed gardener and rock mason for the last 30 years, died yesterday at San Rafael General Hospital after a short illness.

Bennett was born in San Jose. He had lived in Mill Valley 44 years, residing at 147 California Street.

A law suit, filed last October by the county welfare department, is still pending against Bennett. The county was seeking to recover $16,779 in welfare checks paid Bennett since June 28, 1938.

Bennett counted out $300 from his wallet last June as evidence of his inability to pay his own way in a boarding home. But nurses at San Rafael General Hospital found $5,000 in his wallet when he registered in October at the hospital as a welfare patient.

Bennett has been on old age assistance, according to welfare Director Betty L. Presley.

He has no known survivors. Funeral services will be held Wednesday at 10 a.m. at the Russell and Gooch Mortuary, Mill Valley. Burial is pending at Fernwood Cemetery, Sausalito.

BOETTCHER II

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Charles Boettcher II, member of a wealthy Colorado family who was held in a 1933 kidnaping, died today of a heart attack in his sleep. He was 62.

Boettcher and his wife had been living on Nob Hill since last November after spending a year in Hawaii.

Mrs. Boettcher said she found her husband dead at 4 a.m. She said he had been ill with heart trouble for a considerable time.

Boettcher was abducted from the garage at his Denver home in February 1933 and held for $60,000 ransom. He was freed unharmed several weeks later after his father, the late Claude K. Boettcher, paid the ransom.

The kidnapers were captured and sentenced to long prison terms.

Boettcher's grandfather, Charles, founded sugar beet, cement and stockyards industries in Colorado and was a figure in other business ventures.

2 Contests To Be Decided On County Education Board

Two contests for positions on the Marin County Board of Education will be decided by voters tomorrow.

Three candidates are vying to represent area 4, composed of the Reed, Larkspur, Ross and Kentfield school districts.

They are Henry B. Grandin Jr., James A. Carroll and Theodore V. Cole. Cole is husband of retiring board member Alce Ann Cole.

Two seek to represent area 2, the territory of San Rafael High School District. They are incumbent Adele Alphers and Irwin Taranto.

Two other candidates for the county board, incumbent Walter L. Johnson of Ignacio for area 1 (North Marin) and Ben Rourk Jr. of Olema for area 6 (West Marin), are unopposed.

These are the candidates in area 2:

Mrs. Alphers, 67, of 139 Bayview Drive, San Rafael, has been a member of the county board ever since before it became an elective body in 1956.

Active for many years in local and state Parent-Teacher Associations, she was recently given the Golden Apple award by the Bay Section of the California Elementary School Administrators Assn. She has served eight years on the Marin County Committee on School District Organization.

She is president of the Marin County Juvenile Hall Auxiliary and an adviser to the Marin Youth Assn. of University Women.

She has served twice as president of the county board.

Mrs. Alpers, a native of Oakland, is a widow. She studied two years at the University of California at Berkeley.

Taranto, 27, of 144 Duran Drive, San Rafael, a Radio Corp. of America systems representative in San Francisco, is a native of New York City. He has a bachelor's degree from City College of New York, has worked as an insurance broker, a securities broker and analyst, and in the electronic computor field.

He and his wife, Arlene, have two sons, Barry, 5, attending Santa Margarita School, and Marc, 4.

He believes one of the first steps in providing better education in Marin County is creating larger and more complete school districts through unification. The county schools office must provide more specialized services which the districts cannot now provide, he says.

He is concerned over the cost of education and wants a more business-like and efficient operation. He foresees the day when the 180-day school year will overlap and schools will be in service all year long.

These are the candidates in area 4:

Carroll, 31, of 33 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, Ross is a teacher and chairman of the English department at Herbert Hoover Junior High School, San Francisco.

A native of San Francisco, he has a bachelor's degree in English and Latin and a master's degree in secondary education from the University of San Francisco. He and his wife, Ann, have a boy, James Jr.

He is a member of the San Francisco Municipal Improvement League, California Teachers Assn. and American Classical League. He is a Korean War veteran.

He believes the primary responsibility of the county board is maintaining high standards of curriculum.

He favors an elective county superintendent of schools because it provides an "extra margin" of voter control. He thinks it is desirable to have at least one person with professional training on the county school board and says his training would be an asset to the board.

Grandin, 36, of Upper Road, Ross, is an owner and secretary of Barton Development Co., developers of commercial properties. He is president of the Ross Parent-Teacher Assn.

He attended the U.S., Naval Academy during World War II, was graduated from Pomona College, and received a master's degree in business administration from Stanford University. He studied in Europe under a State Department grant in the "Marshall Plan in Action" program.

He and his wife, Mary, have five children, the four oldest attending Ross School.

He is a trustee of Sunny Hills Home, secretary-treasurer of the Stanford Business School Alumni, a Cubmaster and district director of Boy Scouts.

He believes in as much local control and responsibility for education as possible and sees the county board as "an important service system to influence the quality of education.

"I want Marin to have the best educational system in the United States—and this should include vocational training at the high school level just as it should include top-flight preparatory courses," he said.

Cole, 46, of 140 Rancheria Road, Kentfield, is a native of Peoria, Ill. He is production manager of Special Products division of Union Machine Co. in San Francisco.

Cole studied for eight years at night school to receive a bachelor's degree in business administration from Golden Gate College in San Francisco.

He served on the board from 1956 to 1961 when he resigned because of moving from the Novato area which he then represented. He is a Navy veteran and saw duty in the Pacific during Warld War II.

He has three children, Stephen, an adult; Linda, a junior at Redwood High School, and Cynthia, a ninth grader in Nevada City, the home of his first wife. He also has a stepson, Renny Rust, a sophomore at College of Marin.

Cole favors an appointive rather than an elective county school superintendent. He argues that the superintendent should follow the policies set by the elective board. With the present situation of an elective superintendent, he believes there could be serious conflicts that might "stalemate" progress toward better education.

WEDDING ANNIVERSARY, BIRTHDAYS

Five Generations Gather For Easter

It wasn't just Easter Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Bolton of 18 Queva Vista, Novato.

It was a double birthday celebration, a wedding anniversary and a sendoff for a son going into the service — plus the gathering of five generations.

From top to bottom they were:

Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Fisher of Palm Lane Trailer Court, Novato, great-great-grandparents in their 80s who have been married 55 years.

Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Henderson of Roseville, great-grandparents married 43 years.

Mr. and Mrs. William Bolton, the grandparents, who were celebrating their 18th wedding anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Fowler of Citrus Heights, near Sacramento, the parents (Mrs. Fowler is Mrs. Bolton's daughter by a former marriage).

The three Fowler children are Deborah, 5; Sandra, 4, and Thomas Jr., 1.

Due to leave May 1 for military service is Robert Saylors, 22, of Broderick, son of Mrs. Bolton by a former marriage.

"The last time we had a picture in the paper, she (Mrs. Fowler) was just a little thing and my great-grandmother was still alive," said Mrs. Bolton. "We live a long time in this family."

There were 18 present in all for Easter dinner. By evening, when most of the visitors had departed, the "second shift" arrived—Bolton's parents, who had been unable to be present earlier.

Businesses Plagued By Thefts

A rash of burglaries plagued business establishments in Marin County during Easter weekend, sheriff's deputies reported.

Several rifles and knives were stolen from the Sausalito Boat and Tackle Shop at Waldo Point last night or early today. Owner Richard Urbais arrived for work about 5 a.m. and found the back door broken. He told Deputy Sheriff Ernest Nielsen and Identification Technician Edward Klementovich that two .22 caliber rifles, one 30-06 automatic rifle with scope, a pellet gun, and five picket knives are gone. Total loss is about $250.

About 2:25 a.m., Deputy Sheriff Joseph Kelly noticed a rear window open at Goodman Building Supply at 775 Redwood Highway, Mill Valley. The officer said the rear door and office doors had been pried open. The automatic coffee maker was damaged. How much money was taken, if any, was not known.

At nearby Seville Electric Co., 765 Redwood Highway, owner Raymond H. Kostens reported a similar break-in at 8 a.m. The side door was broken, but nothing appeared to be missing.

Rifle Missing

A .22 calibre single-shot bolt-action rifle, worth $35, is missing from a home near Corte Madera, owner Theodore C. Mollinet of 1401 Casa Buena reported to the sheriff Saturday night. Tschirgi said the thief must have reached in through a broken storeroom window.

Wet Marin Roads Cause String Of Injury Accidents

A Novato motorist suffered head cuts in a freak rear-to-rear auto accident on Highway 101 at Terra Linda today.

The accident was the latest in a string of injury accidents during the weekend on Marin streets and highways which were for the most part wet from the intermittent rainfall.

Hansel Harding Stevens of Napa, southbound between Marinwood and Terra Linda, braked for traffic about 9:30 a.m. Richard J. Connell of 1523 South Novato Boulevard, Novato, behind him, also hit the brakes. Connell's car spun completely around, crashing with Steven's auto rear-to-rear, the California Highway Patrol reported.

Connell was admitted to Novato Hospital for treatment, but his injuries were not believed to be serious.

A 73-year-old Nicasio man employed as a caretaker suffered broken neck vertebrae last night when his car skidded on a curve of the Petaluma-Point Reyes station road and hit an embankment, the California Highway Patrol reported.

Richard Hugh McFadden was southbound about 1.2 miles north of Nicasio road when the accident happened about 6:15 p.m., reported officer Gerald Walkup. He was treated at Novato hospital, then transferred to San Rafael general hospital, where his condition today was "fair."

A woman dispatcher for Yellow Cab Co. in Petaluma suffered a nose cut last night when her car hit a power pole in the Novato area.

Mona Sylvan Putnam, 54, was driving on Atherton Avenue about 225 feet west of Bugeia Lane when the accident happened about 11:20 p.m.

Jerry Lee Page, 18, of Marin City was cited by Sausalito police yesterday at 6:34 p.m. for driving without his glasses after his 1953 Mercury sedan hit two parked cars at Spring Street and Bridgeway.

A passenger, Edward Green, 18, of 343 Drake Avenue, Marin City, was treated for a cut right knee at Marin General Hospital. David Barrow, 18, of House 95, Marin City, also a passenger, was taken to hospital but not treated.

Police Chief Howard Goerndt said Page, who lives at 175 Drake Avenue, was northbound when his car struck cars of Louis Treasrau of 2007 Bridgeway and Carl Nielsen of San Francisco.

Jeannette June Mickle, 22, of Santa Rosa, suffered a sprained neck yesterday yesterday when her southbound car skidded off the rain-wet freeway near the Linden Lane overpass in San Rafael, said the California Highway Patrol.

The vehicle shot over the embankment and landed on the railroad right of way. Miss Mickle was treated at Marin General Hospital.

A 15-year-old Belvedere girl was slightly injured in a sideswipe collision on Highway 101 about one-half mile south of the Alto overpass at 12:35 a.m. yesterday.

The girl, Kathy Wilson, of 39 Bella Vista, was taken to a private physician for treatment, the highway patrol reported. She was a passenger in a car driven by Benjamin C. Train, 16, of 41 Pixley Avenue, Apt. 6, Corte Madera. The CHP said Train, northbound, was changing lanes when his car went over the center divider, colliding with one driven by Sherwin Miller, 33, of 315 Edgewood Avenue, Mill Valley.

Watersoaked brakes were believed responsible for a rear-end collision on Highway 101 in San Rafael Saturday night, officers said.

Barbara Ann Green, 18, of 18 Chickasaw Court, Corte Madera, told officers she braked her northbound car when another vehicle ahead of her slowed suddenly, "but there was nothing there." It hit the rear of a car driven by Leon Strauss Jr., 47, of 256 Parkway, Novato, who had slowed because of flares set out to warn motorists of an earlier accident. Strauss received minor injuries, for which he told officers he would seek private treatment.

Four persons were injured Saturday at 5:50 p.m. in a three-car rear-end collision on the northbound on-ramp to Highway 101 in Corte Madera. However, all went to private physicians.

Highway patrolman said Winnie Irene Weiser, 38, of Sonoma, and Ethelynn Nellie Mott, of 31 Lisbon Street, San Rafael, had stopped on the access ramp to wait for freeway traffic to clear A third car driven by John F. Crooks, 29, of 109 Labrea Way, Santa Venetia, ran into the rear of the Mott car.

The injured were Mrs. Weiser, Verna Williams, 42, of 176 Picnic Avenue, San Rafael, a passenger in the Mott car, and two Crooks children, Debra, 2, and Paul, 4.

Novato Woman Reported Missing

Novato police have been asked to help locate the wife of a Novato resident, who said she ran away Saturday morning with their three children.

Earl David Crawford reported his wife, Alice, had taken children Donna Patricia, 7; Michael Dean, 6, and David Pancho, 4, and left the home at 670 Owen Drive. He said she may have gone back to her parents in Mexicali, Mexico.

Police said they had no word on the missing woman today.

THIEF HITS NOVATO CITY HALL FOR STALE COFFEE

A burglar broke into the Novato City Hall yesterday, but he didn't get much.

Mayor M. E. Silva at 6 p.m. noticed a broken window in the former bank building on Grant Avenue used as city hall. Police found nothing had been disturbed except that whoever entered drank some stale coffee.

Similarly unproductive was a break-in at Trombley's Novato Hardware at Highway 101 and Atherton Avenue. Eugene Trombley, owner discovered at 11 a.m. yesterday that someone had pried open a rear door and then tried to break the safe with a pickax, but without success. A few tools appeared to be missing, he said today.

Pastor Finds Support For Tax Deductions

Rev. Karel F. Botermans of San Anselmo today reported nothing but approval in initial responses to his announcement that he paid only 39 per cent of his federal income tax because the other 61 per cent would go toward a "defense program" aimed at extermination of millions of people.

Rev. Botermans, Dutch-born minister of the Unitarian-Universalist Church of Marin, said members of his congregation and complete strangers had kept his telephone busy with messages of congratulation and encouragement since the story of his stand appeared in Saturday's Independent-Journal.

He said he knew "some members of the congregation disagree with me, but they have encouraged me to act according to my conscience."

The minister made no mention of his tax stand during Easter Sunday services yesterday. Many members of the congregation stopped afterward to congratulate and encourage him, however, he said.

Botermans, who was active in the Dutch Underground during the World War II German occupation of his native land, wrote letters announcing his decision to President John F. Kennedy and Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, among others. He said in them that he is aware of the possible consequences of refusal to pay the full tax but "I cannot any longer willingly pay for the production of our military machine which is designed to kill and overkill millions upon millions of human beings, whether they be friends or foes."

He declared the believes "I have international law on my side" as he regards the U.S. "defense" program as actually preparation for genocide.

Sculpture Stolen

Barney West, Corte Madera and Sausalito artist, told Sausalito police Saturday that his six-foot wooden sculpture, "Madonna in Prayer," was stolen from his work yard at Bridgeway and Litho Street on Good Friday. West, who lives at 146 Redwood Avenue, Corte Madera, said the statue is valued at $900.

'Freedom Riders' Granted Appeal By Supreme Court

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court agreed today to hear the appeal of 10 northern clergymen convicted of unlawful assembly for their 1961 "freedom ride" protest against segregation at the Talahassee, Fla., airport.

In another action regarding the racial issue, however, the court refused to examine a lower court decision that allowed the all-white Chicago suburb of Deerfield, Ill., to condemn land intended for integrated housing. The community held the sites were needed for parks, according to a state supreme court decision.

The high federal court turned down an appeal from that ruling without comment.

It also took these actions:

Ruled 6-3 that the Southern Railway is entilted at least temporarily to lower rates on big shipments of grain from the Midwest to the South and Southwest.

The Arrow Transportation Co., a Tennessee River barge line, protested the rate reduction while proceedings still are pending before the Interstate Commerce Commission. Dissenting were Chief Justice Earl Warren and Justices Tom C. Clark and Hugo L. Black who said the decision "sounds the death knell to barge transportation on the Tennessee River."

Agreed to examine the federal case against David Thomas Dealy and Leonard Malcolm Oeth who in 1962 forced an airplane pilot at gunpoint to fly to Cuba. A federal district judge in Miami dismissed charges on grounds the crime did not fall within the scope of either the federal kidnaping or the aircraft piracy acts.

Let stand a Texas decision that a state may sue alleged violators of its antitrust laws even though the federal government has taken action for the same violations.

Billie Estes Sentenced To 15 Years

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) — Bankrupt promoter Billie Sol Estes was sentenced today to 15 years in prison for mail fraud and conspiracy in manipulating worthless fertilizer tank mortgages worth 24 million dollars.

U.S. Dist. Judge R. E. Thomason overruled a defense motion for a new trial. He described the one-time millionaire financier as "the most gigantic swindler in history."

Estes was convicted March 28 by a federal jury in El Paso on five of 14 counts in an indictment resulting from his complicated mortgage deals wtih farmers and finance companies.

Estes, whose financial empire of fertilizer tanks, grain storage and cotton allotments collapsed a year ago, was given an eight-year prison term last November on state charges growing out of his fertilizer tank mortgages.

Two Die As Auto Hits Guard Rail

PETALUMA (AP) — Two San Francisco motorists were flung to their death on a rainswept Highway 101 last night.

They were Joseph H. McGinn, 53, and Mervin Zant Graff, 42, the driver.

Both lived at 166 Inverness Drive, San Francisco.

Their southbound car hit a guard rail and both men were tossed out onto the northbound lane. Two motorists saw the men and swerved to avoid them. The two cars collided and one or both passed over the men.

TAXES DUE ON CAR, EVEN IF ON BLOCKS

SACRAMENTO (AP) — You have to pay personal property taxes on your car, even if you've got it up on blocks and don't register it, says Atty. Gen. Stanley Mosk.

If you don't register it and pay the state license fee, which is in lieu of local taxes, you must pay the local taxes, Mosk said in an opinion released yesterday.

He said equipment attached to such a vehicle — such as two-way radios or well-drilling equipment — is subject to tax if it costs $200 or more.

Treated For Fall

Mrs. Angus O'Brien, 77, of San Francisco was reported in good condition today at her home after being treated for a head injury at Kaiser Foundation hospital following a fall at the home of her son, John O'Brien, 53 Sunshine Avenue, Sausalito.

Quentin Inmate, 23, Is Found Hanged By Bedsheet In Cell

A 23-year-old San Quentin inmate, in prison for escape from the California Rehabilitation Center in Corona, was found hanged in his cell in the maximum security portion of the prison at 8:35 a.m. today.

Charlres Lee McMurray had used a rope which he wove out of his bed sheeting and attached to a ceiling fixture to hang himself, according to William Bradley, assistant county coroner.

McMurray, who was in the rehabilitation center for treatment as a narcotics addict, was found by Sgt. R. J. Milloy after he failed to make an 8 a.m. check-in required of maximum security prisoners. At 6:30 a.m., McMurray had talked to a fellow inmate in a neighboring cell, Bradley said.

McMurray had a history of arrests for armed robbery, burglary, escape and narcotics dating back to 1953, according to Bradley. He was brought to San Quentin in September, 1962, and was serving a one-year-to-life sentence.

Rifle Stolen

San Franciscan William Carl Huber told Marin County sheriff's deputies yesterday that someone broke into his summer house on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard in Forest Knolls recently and stole a .22-caliber rifle and two bottles of wine.

Easter Seal Drive Results Are Due

"Somewhat disappointing so far" was the indication from initial tabulations today of the 1963 Easter Seal fund drive in Marin County, according to chairman Roderic L. Robinson of Mill Valley who thought final figures might show "half the money" of the usual total.

Robinson said that replies to the seals sent out have been greater in number but less in cash return so far as the first check-overs went. But complete official results won't be known until the end of this week.

DAILY Independent-Journal Est. 1861
SERVING ALL OF MARIN COUNTY

8 EDITORIAL PAGE Monday, April 15, 1963 San Rafael, Calif.

TODAY'S EDITORIAL

Everyone Should Vote On School Issues Tomorrow

A chance to stand up and be counted, and to have your say in the operation of Marin County schools will be afforded citizens in every section of the county tomorrow—provided they will take a few minutes time to go to the polls, and VOTE.

Voting in a school election, as well as any other election should be a must—for we have no right to sit back for four years and gripe about how our trustees run our schools, if we, individually and collectively, are too busy, (or too lazy) to vote.

In addition to electing school district trustees in every district except San Rafael, voters in Tamalpais and Kentfield districts will have to decide upon a substantial bond issue and a major tax policy question.

While we all strive to maintain high educational standards, we must remember that the quality of our schools, and school personnel, can only equal the time, interest and attention which the citizens in general, and parents in particular, are willing to devote to the program.

In the Tamalpais Union High School District, voters will express their views on the proposal to continue the present $1.90 operating tax rate, in order to maintain the quality of educational programs at Tamalpais, Drake and Redwood High Schools.

This program, which merits support of the citizenry, lacks the complexity of most school issues. The rate was approved in 1959 on a limited five year basis, and only twice in the last four years have trustees levied the maximum rate.

In the Kentfield district, the voters are being asked to take a stand on the $850,000 school bond issue. Proponents of this issue contend that the funds are needed to provide for the estimated increase in school attendance through 1970. The funds will be used for classrooms, a library at Greenbrae, instructional materials, storage rooms, shower and locker facilities, a principal's office and other school facilities.

Proponents claim passage of the bonds will not boost taxes.

In urging a vote, backers of the two key issues expressed a fear that public apathy—failure to take time to vote—would be the only reason either measure might fail at the polls.

Inasmuch as the expenditures of the school system costs as much as the combined outlay of our city and county governments, it behooves each of us to take time tomorrow to exercise our sacred franchise, and take a stand on these important measures.

Dogs Ignore Danger In Chasing Autos

Our neighbors' lovable boxers, mother and son, have suddenly adopted the dangerous habit of chasing cars and trucks as they go up and down our street. Such is the path to dogicide.

Most dogs chase cars out of their age-old hunting instinct. It is a hard habit to break. One method we have read about is to fill a water pistol with very diluted ammonia water and give it to them in the face as they chase the auto. But one would have to be sure to make it plenty diluted.

Dogs are like people. Sometimes only a bad accident will discourage them.

And some dogs seem to be compulsive car chasers. Pavlov's dogs drooled as a reflex action. Others chase cars.

Such impulsive pets are a danger to themselves as well as to the people who try to avoid hitting them at all costs.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Voter Apathy On Schools Hit

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

I wish to thank the many people who worked for me, supported and voted for me in the recent San Rafael Board of Education election campaign.

It was discouraging to realize that only approximately 30 per cent of the voting residents outside the San Rafael city limits, and 50 per cent of the San Rafael city residents were sufficiently interested in our schools and education to vote in Monday's election, especially since our schools are using approximately 58 per cent of our property tax dollars, and our school costs in Marin County increased 20 per cent last year in comparison to an average of 8 per cent increase for the rest of the state.

There is a real need for parents and citizens to take a greater interest in our schools and our educational system, to work constantly to bring about improvements in curriculum, communications, discipline and financial responsibility, to attend school board meetings, to read about and keep informed of the latest trends, developments, ideas and experiments in education, to come forth with opinions and suggestions: in short, to take a more active interest in the operation and management of our schools.

Mental Illness Stand Lauded

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

I wish to express the deep appreciation of the Marin Mental Health Foundation for your editorial discussing the mental outpatient clinic to be opened by the Foundation. Your excellent presentation of the basic facts touched off a great deal of public interest and conviction of the need of such a clinic. This is evidenced by the number of letters and inquiries we have received.

Little Space For Outdoor Lovers In State For '83

By PAT KEEBLE

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — California has thousands of outdoor-loving people with lots of leisure time, but if you think they're a problem now wait until 1983.

At that time, a University of California agronomist thinks, there will be twice as many of them—all looking for the right to camp, hunt, fish, hike or observe nature on the same amount of land there is today.

Merton Love, chairman of the university's agronomy department, told a recent wildland conference that the solution was not to leave all wildlands alone.

RATHER, he said, man must use his knowledge of soils, climates and plant growth to improve them in the same way he has used it to improve agriculture.

He said youngsters today were attracted to careers in outer space. "Not enough young people are going into agriculture and forestry to work on the problems of space on earth," he said.

He chided wildland lovers for "thinking too small."

"We are grateful for a $5,000 grant of funds for wildlands research. We should think in terms of hundreds of thousands of dollars, to help make this land on earth a little more useful to all of us," Love said.

LEWIS CLARK, Alameda, a national vice president of the co-sponsoring Sierra Club urged more attention to multiple uses of land, adding, "A number of land uses are compatible."

He said these would include grazing, dairying, hunting, fishing, camping, hiking, contemplating the scenery, study of game habitats or use for ecological study and biological research.

He noted there were other legitimate but incompatible land uses, such as mining, lumbering, farming, industry and subdivisions. But he said, "we must think deeper on the term multiple use."

Possible end of winter floods in San Rafael was seen as city councilmen ordered first steps to form a special assessment district, perhaps including the whole city.

A homeowner living above the old railroad tunnel through White's Hill, Mrs. Anna Grimm, sued Marin County for $6,000 damages done to her home in 1951 when the county removed supporting timbers to give county emergency vehicles easier passage through the tunnel.

TRY AND STOP ME

BENNETT CERF

A Paris socialite took umbrage at a remark made about him by a widely read, very arrogant newspaper columnist, and demanded satisfaction on the dueling field. Neither man knew much about swordplay, but the socialite actually succeeded in wounding his opponent superficially before friends pulled them apart. While they were bandaging the columnist's wound, he delivered his best bon mot. "I believe," he said, "that this is the first time in my life I was ever stuck for a phrase."

Shortly before the outbreak of the Civil War, President Lincoln had a mild attack of smallpox (the doctors called it varioloid) to add to his troubles. Informed of the nature of his illness, Lincoln didn't lose his precious sense of humor. "It is too bad," he noted drily, "that this one time while I have something to give everybody—no one comes near me!"

"Writing and Its Consequences" was the subject of a recent symposium in Chicago. Which reminded an elderly lawyer of a famous adage: "Do right and fear no man. Don't write and fear no woman."

I-J REPORTER'S NOTEBOOK

By THERON NEWELL

Democrats Steal March On GOP In Naming Of Novato Streets!

I haven't heard any official comment yet from the Republicans, but the Novato City Council took some very partisan action last Wednesday night.

They approved a street light for the intersection of Truman Drive and Jackson Drive, obviously both Democratic streets.

When I do hear the official Republican comment on this, I suppose it will run something like this: "The Democrats need the extra light to see their way out of the darkness."

Or, on the other hand, I expect the residents of Washington, Lincoln, Tyler, Harrison, Pierce, Buchanan, Garfield and Wilson streets to demand equal lighting.

LAST MONDAY the Novato police got a call that some boys were disturbing the peace. When they responded to the call, they found two boys rowing a boat in a drainage ditch.

Of course, nothing was done to the boys. I merely bring this up to remind people who might have forgotten that this was the first day of Spring vacation and it had been raining. Wherever there is water and spare time, there you will find boys.

It must be awful to grow so old and remote from the world that one forgets what magic there is in youth. Things that we older people take for granted in our every day world, are things to be explored and become a great adventure when one is young.

I DON'T THINK that there ever was a boy who didn't throw rocks at frogs in ponds. I can't ever remember of one hitting a frog, and I seem to remember that the frogs seemed to be enjoying the game as much as the boys. It is just something that is a part of being a boy — like playing in water and getting muddy. Also it seems to make for healthier boys and more rounded men.

When I went to the city council meeting the other night, I saw five boys just standing and talking. At first my adult suspicions wondered what deviltry they were up to. Then I remembered—momentarily I had forgotten the magic in a spring night. Who hasn't lingered outside making small talk, just to enjoy such a night?

SEVERAL YEARS ago I was in New Mexico at this time of year, and went to the Santo Domingo Pueblo on Easter Sunday to see the "rites of spring," Indian dances. They were beautiful and symbolic, with the children dressed up in their ancient tribal finery.

Among the spectators was a little white girl in her Easter finery of white lace dress and matching hat. She and a dark skinned Indian girl of the same size got together and just stared at each other.

It would have made an excellent picture--the white and dark skinned girls, each realizing in her own way that this was the birth of a new season with its similarly, yet different symbolisms — each wanting to exchange experiences with the other in looks and words.

It was a picture that I have always regretted not taking.

AT THE NOVATO volunteer firemen's meeting last week, they were planning the annual Easter egg hunt scheduled for last Saturday.

They made plans for the three age groups of children —1 to 4, 5 and 6, and 7 and 8 years old.

Up spoke one fireman — "And mothers one to 60."

Everyone laughed, because they all knew that the mothers actually hunt the eggs for the children.

Science 'Trick' Feared In Space-Spectacular

By ALVIN B. WEBB JR.

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI)—A bit of scientific trickery seems suspiciously afoot these days. It concerns that familiar creature called the "space spectacular."

"Spectacular" is a good, colorful word. It also is perhaps the most overworked word of the space age—and there is a hint that it is being used where the less appetizing term "stunt" might be more appropriate.

The case in point is the Federal Space Agency's spectacular (that word again) announcement recently that it would use the new Saturn "super-rocket" to place a pair of nine-ton satellites into orbit this year.

The shots were promptly billed as this nation's "most spectacular" space ventures of this year—by no less than the National Aeronautics and Space Council headed by Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson.

It is quite true that these will be far and away the largest satellites ever launched by the United States. But there is more here than immediately meets the eye.

THE FIRST of these giant satellites will weigh in at 18,000 pounds—of which 9,000 pounds will consist impurely of Cape Canaveral tap water. In fact, the only useful item in the whole bulk will probably be a tape recorder with a human voice announcing in parrot fashion something to the effect that "I am in orbit . . . I am in orbit."

These two shots will be milestones, but to concentrate on the satellites alone will be to lose their true significance—the first two-stage shots of the mighty rocket that will send teams of astronauts into earth orbits for rehearsals of moon flights.

BILLING such satellites as "spectacular" is a mild form of deception that has been practiced by both sides virtually since the start of the space race.

America's famed Atlas "10-B" shot of late 1958 was also a case of using "spectacular" where "stunt" was probably more appropriate.

The Atlas shot into orbit, and jubilant scientists promptly proclaimed the advent of the "four-ton satellite" era.

THE FACT that most of the satellite was useless Atlas tankage and that the only valuable item aboard was a small tape recorder with a Christmas message from President Eisenhower was blithefully passed over.

But again, it was a tremendous propaganda bonus.

DOUBTLESS the United States needs such a "bonus" again this year. This is a time in which old programs are "phasing out" and new ones still are getting ready. America's space shot schedule is slender.

Hard-core scientists and technicians deplore the "spectacular" label on their endeavors, but they are willing to admit privately that it does create a "good atmosphere."

Particularly when it comes to prying money out of an impressionable Congress.

IF ALL this business about the Saturn shots being the "most spectacular" space launchings of the year for America, where is Air Force Maj L. Gordon Cooper Jr. left?

Cooper is scheduled to make America's next manned orbital flight—and probably the only one this year — on May 7. His goal will be to circle the globe 22 times, or longer than his three U.S. orbiting predecessors combined.

But the Mercury man-in-space program is dying. And a surprising lack of interest in the upcoming Cooper voyage, combined with the heavy emphasis on the Saturn flights, seems to be one of the symptoms.

'I DON'T SEE ANY BIRDIE'

What Easter the Seal does see, though, is a piece of fish held by Channel 7 TV cameraman Buck Joseph, and that's why she's sticking her whiskery nose almost into the movie camera lens. Helping feed Easter her birthday "cake" of fish are Donna McHugh (center) and Leilani Bottleson, daughter of Albert Bottleson, director of the Louis A. Boyd Natural Science Museum. All this was on account of Easter's second birthday celebration Saturday at the museum. The children of Marin were her guests. (Independent-Journal photo)

Mill Valley's Community Choir Sings An Admirable Performance

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

Music was admirably chosen and performed by the Mill Valley Community Church Choir for last night's concert—both as an Easter observance and memorial to the late Mill Valley physician, Dr. Donald C. Fowler.

Rich sonority and exquisite tonal effects were not due just to the acoustical qualities of St. Stephen's Church in Belvedere, for David Reed has trained the choir of some 25 voices to produce sustained, resonant tone in a wide range of dynamics and clean-cut phrasing.

In the first group of works from Palestrina, Bach, Faure and Schuetz, most impressive was baritone Robert De Haan's solo, "Libera Me Domine" by Faure.

The high point of the entire concert was the second section, consisting of two chorales from Brahm's "German Requiem." The chorus measured up to the challenge of this master work. Rarely does accompaniment deserve major attention, but Jean Barnard's piano artistry did in these selections. Every note was clearly heard yet never predominant.

Other enjoyable moments were in Schein's "Erschienen Ist Der Herrliche Tag," when Reed, a baritnoe, joined his wife, mezzo-soprano Ethelee, in a duet, and in the opening sonata for trumpet and organ by Purcell with Clifford Reynouls playing the trumpet and Ethlee Reed at the organ.

In selections from J. S. Bach's Cantata No. 4 and elsewhere there was evidence the chorus could profit by further practice to achieve greater flexibility in ornamental passages.

Solemnity of the memorial dedication precluded applause by the audience of more people than might have been expected considering the weather.

Signs By Sam Knock Demos

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Samuel took some potshots at the Democratic city government recently about potholes in a street near his home.

Sherman put up eight signs on utility poles along the street. One read, "Drive slowly—danger ahead." Another warned, "Bad bumps on this road."

A final sign advised: "Road condition reports by S. Sherman, Republican."

Save Your Smile Until Last Card Is Played In Bridge Game

Are you happy when you have made the right bid? Save your smile until the last card has been played. Fate has a way of clobbering the man who smiles too soon.

Opening lead — ♡ A

North didn't know what to do over the opening bid of four hearts. A double would be for penalties, and North wasn't sure of taking four tricks. A bid for eleven tricks would be just as risky, so North passed.

FOUR SPADES

North thought he knew what to do when South bid four spades. He jumped to six spades and smiled.

"Why shouldn't he smile?" you ask. What can possibly happen to take the smile off his face?

Just remember that Jack Ehrlenbach, the famous Flying Dutchman of Los Angeles, was in the East seat. Ehrlenbach conjured up a bogeyman that robbed South of his slam.

PLAYS KING

West opened the ace of hearts, and Ehrlenbach played the king of hearts.

"Clever, but useless," you mutter.

West naturally continued with the jack of hearts, and declarer ruffed in the dummy with the queen of spades to prevent a possible over-ruff. After all, West hight have started with a nine-card heart suit for his opening bid of four hearts.

PRODUCED HEART

When East produced a heart at the second trick South realized that he had been hornswoggled into wasting dummy's queen of trumps. Why? What did East have in mind?

South slowly came to the conclusion that Ehrlenbach had the three missing trumps and was hoping to get a trump trick. This conclusion hung together with West's opening bid and with East's fancy play at the first trick.

So declarer led the seven of spades from dummy and let it ride for a finesse!

West took the setting trick with his singleton jack of spades, and North hasn't smiled once since that day.

ALMANAC

Today is Monday, April 15, the 105th day of 1963.

The moon is approaching last quarter. The morning stars are Venus and Saturn. The evening star is Mars.

On this day in history:

In 1861, President Abraham Lincoln sent Congress a message recognizing a state of civil war and calling for 75,000 volunteers for the Union Army.

In 1865, Vice President Andrew Johnson was sworn in as the 17th president of the United States, three hours after the death of Lincoln.

A thought for the day—American writer Thomas Wolfe said: "There is no spectacle on earth more appealing than that of a beautiful woman in the act of cooking dinner for someone she loves."

A HAPPY ACCIDENT?

Diaper Drooping 22-Months-Old Girl Wins In Adults' Art Show

SOUTHGATE (AP)—Theresa Bates, the Grandma Moses of the falling diaper set, is in the midst of an art controversy today—and could not care less.

Theresa, at 22 months of age, is too young to care.

She was a prize-winner yesterday in an art show for adults.

Some of the mature artists in the show called her work a happy accident" and then angrily yanked their paintings from the show.

One artist who didn't remove his paintings was Albert G. Bates, Theresa's father. Bates, also one of the 10 prize winners, entered his daughter's work.

The father said Theresa's prize work was done one night after she had watched him paint in the kitchen.

"I left for awhile and when I came back, she had made a long mural across the kitchen cabinets," said Bates. "So I taped paper up on the refrigerator and just let her go to it. She did three pictures and I picked the best for the show."

Judge Robert A. Chuey, an art teacher, said: "Many times children's art can be better than adult art. It seems to me that much adult art and many artists become tired and lacking in fresh viewpoints, whereas a child is untarnished, not yet corrupted."

Pat S. Brown, president of the sponsoring South Gate Art Assn., declined comment but barred children's entries for next year.

Menary To Be Sworn In Tonight

The San Rafael City Council will meet tonight with only four members to tackle anew the problem of the Bret Harte Drainage Assessment District.

Swearing in of city officials elected last Monday will open the meeting at 8 p.m. in the city hall. David Menary Jr., now a member of the council, will be sworn in as city attorney, leaving the council with four members. Otherwise it will be unchanged, as Mayor John F. McInnis and Councilman Charles W. Aby and Fred E. Jensen were all re-elected.

The Brete Harte Assessment District will come up as renewal of a frequently continued public hearing. Boundaries of the proposed district were expanded in the latest attempt to overcome majority protests to the million-dollar district.

The council will have before it a letter from the San Rafael Chamber of Commerce urging it to move out of the old city hall so the lot can be made available for parking. Council members have recently expressed themselves as opposed to a precipitate move, with a new city hall planned for completion within two years.

In another "get out" letter, the council will hear from the city's school department, which wants portions of E Street School now used by other city departments vacated by July 15. E Street School is to be used for classes again until Glenwood School is completed early next year.

This presents an involvement. The city is acquiring the portion of the school property where its public works, building and planning departments are housed, for extension of Third Street. A wrangle may be in prospect as to who ousts whom from what.

Opening of bids on the Third Street-Grand Avenue storm drain project also is scheduled.

As an aftermath of the long discussion which followed firing of Lt. Nick Giampoli from the police department, the council may call for an examination for police lieutenant to fill the vacancy.

Board Due Survey On Police Salaries

Fairfax offers new policemen the highest salary in Marin County for beginning law enforcement officers, according to a survey which will be submitted tomorrow to the board of supervisors.

The information on comparitive salaries was requested by the board prior to consideration of a uniform salary schedule, proposed by the sheriff and eight police chiefs.

Asst. Personnel Director Robert D. Elliott found salaries for starting patrolmen range from $515 a month in Fairfax to $400 a month in Belvedere.

Between the high and low are ranged in descending order: San Rafael, Marin County Sheriff's Department, Corte Madera, San Anselmo, Novato, Sausalito, Ross and Mill Valley.

The board will discuss the salaries at its meeting, which will begin at 9 a.m. in the Civic Center.

The supervisors will also review a revised job description for a new chief building inspector and will hear a report on comparative janitor costs for public meetings at the Civic Center and the old courthouse in San Rafael. For several months the board has discussed charging a fee for public meetings in the Civic Center.

At 2 p.m. the first planning matter will be proposed amendments to the Marinwood master plan to allow construction of about 300 apartments near the entrance to Marinwood. The board's hearing of the amendments, approved by the county planning commission, has been continued for nearly five weeks.

Hub Planners Due Cluster Proposal

A request by Robert Ryan for planned development zoning of about 10 acres of land at the end of Sonoma Avenue will be considered by the San Anselmo Planning Commission when it meets at 8 o'clock tonight at the city hall.

Ryan plans a cluster apartment development for the property, which is hilly. The land already is zoned for multiple dwellings.

Chairman Charles R. Leitzell said the commission once considered rezoning Ryan's property for single family residences, which surround it, but decided it would be a hardship on the owner.

Among other matters on the agenda is an application by San Francisco Theological Seminary for a permit to build a shop building on two lots now occupied by two small cottages.

A hearing will be held on an application by Ray E. Nolan to rezone two lots in the Karlsrue Subdivision from single to multiple dwellings.

Fleur de Lys Restaurant Shut

The Fleur de Lys Restaurant at 112 Spaulding Avenue, San Anselmo, has closed for an indefinite period, it was announced today by owner Robert Charles.

Charles kept his establishment open yesterday for Easter dinner, but said he had found it increasingly difficult to divide his time profitably between San Anselmo and the Fleur de Lys at 777 Sutter Street, San Francisco which he will continue to operate. He did not rule out the possibility of reopening in Marin County but said there is no definite plan now.

The hillside French restaurant overlooking the City of San Anselmo was opened in May, 1959. Charles had previously maintained a similar establishment for a brief period on San Anselmo Avenue in 1956. This was closed before he opened the Fleur de Lys in San Francisco.

Teacher Salaries On Agenda

Teacher salary schedules for next school year will be discussed again and possibly adopted tomorrow at 8 p.m. by the San Anselmo School District board in the Isabel Cook School faculty room.

Teacher representatives asked at a recent meeting for selective increases throughout the schedule.

In other business, the board will call for bids on three projects.

Two of them will cost about $2,000 each, which would permit the board to seek bids informally. The third, a plan for tennis courts at Hidden Valley School, would require formal bid advertisement since it is expected to cost $9,000 or $10,000.

The smaller jobs were recommended by the city fire department. One is a modification of a fire alarm system at Brookside School and the other is installation of solid core doors at Isabel Cook School.

Supt. Steven Parodi will report on the status of plans for the Wade Thomas School addition, which has been tentatively approved by the State Division of Architecture.

Has Trouble In Own Backyard

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — As registrar of contractors, Allen Rhodes must see that house and buildings are put up right and stay that way.

A recent investigation determined that termites ate away an area around a window pane, causing part of the wall to give way.

The wall was located in Rhodes' office.

Scientists Work On Moon Landing

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—Engineers are looking for a soft-touch way to land a space vehicle on the moon.

Engineers at the Bendix aerospace division here say the shock absorber used must cushion the impact but cannot contribute to rebound that will make the space vehicle bounce.

They now are testing an aluminum honeycomb that will crush under the impact of the space vehicle's landing.

LAND DONATION BILL INTRODUCED

Special to the Independent-Journal

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The Federal Government could donate surplus land to state park and recreation agencies under a new bill sponsored by Sen. Clair M. Engle (D-Calif.).

Senator Engle said the legislation provides assistance to the states in meeting the growing demand for more outdoor recreational facilities and has the full support of the National Conference on State Parks and the National Park Service.

Senator Engle joined with Sen. Hubert Humphrey (D-Minn.) in introducing this bill.

The measure amends the Federal Property and Administrative Services Act of 1949 to enable the Federal Government to donate surplus property to state agencies for public recreation, park, historic monuments, promotion of fish and wildlife management and development activities. The Secretary of the Interior would implement this authority.

Use for parks of a portion of the Southern Marin forts which has been marked for future disposal has been proposed.

Framed Dollars Taken From Wall

A burglar who broke into the Depot Cafe in Marin City may have been disappointed Saturday night to find the cash register empty, but the night wasn't a total loss.

Sheriff's deputies said the burglar took two framed dollar bills off the wall.

The burglary was reported by Horace K. White, 16, of 59 Cole Drive, who noticed a broken window while he was waiting for a bus. Owner of the cafe is Mamie Rae Judson of C-44, Apt. 345, Marin City.

Night after night, Edmondson talked about the advantages of Navy life and McAlpin finally signed up.

Nation's Tax Head Files —Tonight Is Deadline

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mortimer M. Caplin, the nation's chief tax collector, has safely beat the income tax deadline—but not by much.

At the dinner hour Saturday, Caplin deposited Form 1040 in a letterbox near his Northwest Washington home. The deadline is midnight tonight.

(This also is the deadline for filing California state income tax with the tax franchise board.)

Caplin doesn't want to be known as a Hairbreadth Harry although, like millions of other Americans, he concedes he did dilly-dally a bit.

The Internal Revenue Service commissioner told a reporter last night he got the adding and subtracting done a week ago. Why did he wait a week to get the form in?

Well, during the week, Caplin had a revenue agent "give me an audit." Then, on Saturday, the tax chief spent an hour doublechecking the agent who had doublechecked him, had Mrs. Caplin sign the joint return, and got the form away.

Explaining the extra care, the former professor of tax law at the University of Virginia said: "I suppose my position is rather unique when it comes to income tax."

The United States Parcel Post system started operation on New Year's Day 1913.

Whales Swim South Annually

MONTEREY (AP)—California gray whales migrate annually.

Through January they pass Monterey, spouting their way past Lovers Point and Point Joe.

The whales, some as long as 50 feet, stay in Mexican waters until April, then head back to the North Pacific's colder waters.

Umbrella Taken

William P. Firpo of 90 Hoag Street, San Rafael, reported to police Saturday that a patio umbrella valued at $70 and three or four folding aluminum chairs worth $20 apiece were stolen from his patio.

S. F. Cheers Giants At Big Parade; Opener Tomorrow

The National League Champion San Francisco Giants aren't going to win 'em all in 1963, but they got a welcoming-home parade today anyway.

They lost their first game of the season yesterday, a 3-1 thing to the Chicago Cubs after capturing their first four tilts. Then they grabbed a plane for San Francisco.

They open the 1963 Candlestick Park campaign tomorrow against the Houston Colt combine that they've already trounced three times this young season.

The Giants missed out on a parade last year when the New York Yankees edged them in the final game of the season at Candlestick. So this is a sort of a belated congratulations to the club that won the playoff for the National League title from the Los Angeles Dodgers. The team then went seven rounds with the Yankees before losing the World Series.

The parade today was through the main section of the city, then up to the steps of city hall, where they were officially welcomed home by the mayor.

Tomorrow's game is a sellout. It has been for six weeks, with all 42,000 seats snapped up. The weather, which has been rainy for the past week, is supposed to clear up in time for the start of the 14-game home stand.

Tomorrow at the ball park pennant raising ceremonies are scheduled for 12:30 with the game starting at 1 p.m.

Following Houston will come Chicago, Cincinnati, St. Louis and Milwaukee. By that time, Giant fans will have had a good chance to look over the 1963 performances of their heroes.

They wouldn't have had much to cheer about if they had watched the team in action against the Cubs at Chicago yesterday.

Larry Jackson, with a ninth-inning assist from Lindy McDaniel, had the San Francisco sluggers eating out of his hand. They got only three hits off jackson and one off his reliever.

The lone San Francisco run came in the last inning when Chuck Hiller was safe on an error and scored on Willie McCovey's double.

Pitcher Juan Marichal failed to go the distance for the second straight time. The Cubs got only five hits and two runs off him in the five innings he worked. But that was enough.

Old Billy Pierce (1-0), who has won 13 games without a defeat at Candlestick Park, will be on the mound tomorrow for the Giants. There haven't been many nice things said about this windy, some-times watery park, but Pierce loves it.

Manager Alvin Dark came off the road well pleased with the performances of his troops. He was a bit unhappy with the fielding which was a major feature of the club last year. But the hitting and the pitching have been above expectations.

Felipe Alou, Willie Mays, Orlando Cepeda and McCovey each has clouted two homers. And the clutch hitting, except for yesterday, has been superb.

"If we can win four of five on the road the rest of the season," says Dark, "we'll be in pretty good shape."

A team usually is content to capture half its games while travelling and then make up the extra mileage while at home.

But if the Giants can do as well at home a sthey have done on the road they'll be away and winging for their second straight pennant.

Giants Pin Hopes Of Pennant On Three Regular Starting Hurlers

CONNOLLY

Not since 1914 when the Boston Braves, under the late George Stallings as manager, has a ball club swept to a pennant with three regular starting pitchers.

In last place in late July the mighty Bostonians, using three clutch pitchers —Tyler, James and Ludolph — roared down the stretch and went on to win the National League pennant and the World Series.

When you size up our glorious S.F. Giants pitching you must simmer down to three solid, known performers—Jack Sanford, Juan Marichal and Billy O'Dell. Without attempting to slight Billy Pierce, he has to be considered as the "tag-along" guy who could easily be one of the winningest of them all.

Placing the chances of a repeat performance as 1963 National League flag winners on the shoulders of three pitchers is stretching things pretty fine. Roughly 75 per cent of the pitching load has to be carried by Sanford, O'Dell and Marichal. Those three wil rotate, or should as starting pitchers with Pierce being sandwiched in every fifth day. Should Jack Fisher become a member of the Giant starting staff, it could change the complexion of the whole picture.

THE RELIEF chores for the starting pitchers, at this period, look exceptionally well. Bob Bolin, Jim Duffalo, Gaylord Perry and now, the new southpaw Jim Constable, might be just what the doctor ordered.

If Manager Alvin Dark isn't being coy, he can't help recognize Bolin and Duffalo as his long relievers along with Don Larson. Properly handled and smartly directed the Giant bullpen, heretofore a nightmare, could easily become a safety valve for Dark.

THE THEORY of the Giants is for a starting pitcher to throw as hard and as long as he can. After that the outcome depends on how the relievers perform.

Outside of their questionable pitching stability, the Giants are far and away the best ball club in the National League and perhaps in organized baseball. They make more hits, score more runs, hit more home runs and are scored upon less than any other team in the circuit.

In 1962 the Giants averaged better than seven runs per game, so if they duplicate that feat this coming season the pitchers have something in their favor.

THE GIANTS are home today and await the season's opener tomorrow.

So far their work since the season opened is above reproach. All they have to do against the Houston Colts is to tame them as they did in Houston to satisfy all hands. Following the Colts come the Chicago Cubs in four games, two with Cincinnati, two with St. Louis and two with Milwaukee, in that order.

MUCH TOO HIGH—Jose Pagan, San Francisco Giants shortstop, goes high in the air as he leaps in futile try for a throw from center fielder Willie Mays in yesterday's game. Chicago Cubs Andre Rodgers starts his safe slide into second base on the eighth inning play. (AP Wirephoto)

Cubs Capitalize On Trade; Dodgers, Cincy Lose Again

By Associated Press

"We made the trade of the year."

So said Bob Kennedy, the head of the horde of Chicago Cub coaches, talking about the deal that brought Larry Jackson and Lindy McDaniel to the Cubs from the St. Louis Cardinals during the winter.

"We got our ace starter, and our best relief pitcher, in one deal," the Cubs' head coach said.

Kennedy's words looked very wise today. Jackson tamed the mighty San Francisco Giants for the first time this year, 3-1, yesterday, with ninth-inning help from McDaniel.

The defeat dropped the Giants into a first-place tie with the Pittsburgh Pirates and the Philadelphia Phils, all with 4-1 records.

Alvin McBean scattered 10 hits and pitched out of two bases-loaded messes, to best the Cincinnati Reds and Joey Jay, 1-0 for the Pirates.

Jack Baldschun, the relief workhorse of the Phils—132 games in the last two years—picked up the decisions in both ends of a doubleheader victory over the Cards, 4-3 in 10 innings, and 5-4.

KOUFAX BEATEN

The Houston Colts whipped Sandy Koufax and the Los Angeles Dodgers 5-4, and the hapless New York Mets went down 1-0 in 10 innings before the Milwaukee Braves, in the other National League games.

Jackson's sparkling performance against the Giants was in line with the fine pitching the Cubs have gotten all season. In five games, all against the Dodgers and the Giants, Cub pitchers have a 1.20 earned run average. Jackson, who lost the opener to Don Drysdale of the Dodgers, has allowed but two earned runs in 15⅔ innings.

FOURTH STRAIGHT

McBean pitched the Pirates to their fourth straight, although he left the bases loaded twice and stranded two men in three other innings.

Joey Jay pitched a five hitter for the Reds for eight innings, but three of the hits, singles by Smoky Burgess, Donn Clendenon and Bill Virdon, came in the fourth inning for the only run.

It was Cincinnati's fourth straight defeat after an opening victory.

The St. Louis pitching staff, which had 53 consecutive scoreless innings including the last 21 innings of last season, came down to earth with a thud against the Phillies. Wes Covington doubled home a run in the sixth inning of the opener to snap the string. Charley James tied the score at 3-3 with a Cardinal homer in the ninth, and then Earl Averill's short sacrifice fly in the 10th pushed over the winner.

In the second game, Ray Sadecki had a 4-0 lead for the Cards until Tony Taylor hit a two-run home in the seventh and Don Demeter hit another in the two-run eighth. Taylor reached first on Dick Groat's error in the ninth, was sacrificed to second and scored the winner on Demeter's single off relief pitcher Ron Taylor. Baldschun worked 2⅓ innings—⅓ of an inning in the first game —in picking up the two victories.

Koufax, who has never beaten the Colts in five starts, lost his first against one victory, at Houston. The left-hander was the victim of a four-hit barrage and some sloppy support in the sixth inning.

Singles by Pete Runnels, Howie Goss, Carroll Hardy and Hal Smith, plus two Dodger errors led to four Houston runs.

The poor Mets, still winless, suffered their third shutout in five games. They have scored only three runs and have a team batting average of .124, on 19 hits, a shade under four per game.

Bob Hendley held the Mets to four hits. Roger Craig was the victim. He matched zeros with Hendley through nine innings, but gave up a run in the 10th on a walk, a sacrifice and Ty Cline's single.

Ex-Dodger Hurler Williams Wins Debut With Yankees

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Attention slump-ridden batters! Shell-shocked pitchers!

Are you tier of going hitless day after day? Are you fed up with the way hitters are teeing off on your best pitches?

Would you like to see your batting average without having to use a microscopic lens? Would you like to win a game for a change?

Here's what you do: Get a transfer to another major league club.

It has done wonders for others. For example, Jerry Walker, Ron Kline, Larry Osborn, Stan Williams and Orlando Pena of the American League.

Walker hurled shutout ball through 4⅔ innings after coming to the relief of star Jim Grant yesterday and was credited with Cleveland's 6-0 victory over Detroit. Walker was 8-9 at Kansas City last year.

SPARKLING RELIEF

Kline's sparkling four-inning relief stint helped the Washington Senators defeat the Boston Red Sox 7-6. Osborne drove in two runs with a double and secrifice and scored another Senator run. Kline was 3-6 and Osborne batted .230 at Detroit last year.

Williams turned back the Baltimore Orioles 5-1 with a five-hitter as he pitched the New York Yankees into first place. He had a mediocre 12-10 record with Los Angeles last year and wore the goat's horns after walking in the winning run in the Giants' final playoff victory over the Dodgers.

Pena pitched five dazzling relief innings in Kansas City's 5-4 triumph over Minnesota. The Cuban right-hander, a bust with Cincinnati, was rescued by the Athletics from the minors last summer.

A minor miracle occurred in Los Angeles, where the only other A.L. game was scheduled. Rain washed out the Chicago White Sox and the Angels.

A five-run fourth inning that sent starter Camilo Pascual to the showers gave the Athletics their third straight victory after two losses. Manny Jimenez, a pinch hitter, doubled home the first three runs and Joe Tartabull tripled home the other two.

Rookies Vic Davalillo, Tony Martinez and Max Alvis collected seven hits among them in the Indians' triumph over the Tigers. Davalillo drove in two runs with his first major league home run. Martinez had three singles and Alvis two.

Walker took over with one out in the fifth when Grant was hit by a line drive on the pitching hand. He not only hurled scoreless ball the rest of the way but singled home a pair of runs.

FANS EIGHT

Williams, acquired from the Dodgers last winter in exchange for Bill Skowron, fanned eight Orioles in recording his first Yankee triumph. New York scored all its runs in the first three innings against loser Chuck Estrada, with Clete Boyer and Ellie Howard driving in two each.

Chuck Hinton had four hits for Washington, including a double and triple. Kline, third Senator pitcher, allowed only two hits and one run in the last four innings after the Senators had forged ahead 6-5 with a four-run rally against loser Hal Kolstad in the fifth. Ken Retzer's two-run single was the big hit.

Grayson Is Fired As Huskies Cage Mentor

SEATTLE (UPI)—Jim Owens, athletic director at the University of Washington, today promised speedy action to name a new head basketball coach to replace John Grayson.

Owens, also head football coach, announced Saturday the contract of Grayson, 47, coach of the Huskies for the past four years, would not be renewed for next season.

Grayson came to Washington from Idaho State College where he had a mark of 69-17 in three years. His Washington teams during his tenure had a 57-49 mark and were 13-13 during the past season when the Huskies finished in a tie for third in the Big Six Conference race.

Both Owens and Grayson denied Grayson's health was a factor in the dismissal. Grayson said he had been under a doctor's care for three years for a slight tremor of the left hand and that in March he visited the Mayo Clinic at the request of Owens.

"The Mayo Clinic wrote a letter after my visit March 25 that its examination showed no condition that could affect my efficiency as a coach," Grayson said.

Owens said he was not yet in a position to name a successor to Grayson in the $10,000-a-year job.

"eW will move as fast as we can," he said.

Early speculation for a successor centered on Mac Duckworth, assistant to Grayson, and Jim Rodgers, a Grayson star at Idaho State College and now coach at Columbia Basin Junior College at Pasco, Wash.

Grayson said the timing of his dismissal was a "hardship" and that when he attended the National Coaches' Convention in Louisville recently he had no idea then he needed to look for a new job.

GARIBALDI'S RECORD FOR TACOMA: 1-0

SAN DIEGO—Bob Garibaldi scattered 11 hits, walked one and struck out nine yesterday on his way to pitching the Tacoma Giants of the Pacific Coast League to a 5-3 victory over San Diego.

Third baseman Jimmy Hart hit a three-run homer in the eighth inning to provide the winning margin for the San Francisco farm club.

Garibaldi went the full nine innings on the hill. The only extra base hit he allowed was a two-run homer by Dan Dobbek which gave the Padres a 2-1 lead in the fourth inning.

Morrison Green Wins Drawing

Morrison E. Green of 56 Meadow Avenue, San Rafael, won two reserve tickets to the San Francisco Giants home opener tomorrow and a pair of reserved tickets to 12 Sunday home games in the San Rafael Youth Baseball League drawing yesterday.

Richard Schau, league president, announced the second place winner of a transistor radio as Mrs. Vincent Nicolai of 150 Deer Hollow Road, Sleepy Hollow.

Tennis Winner

HOUSTON (AP)—Manuel Santana of Spain defeated Chuck McKinley yesterday to become the third foreign player in as many years to capture the River Oaks tennis trophy.

Bears Anxious To Take On Mighty Washington Crew

OAKLAND (AP) — Mighty Washington begins its crew season late this year, but the California Bears already are anxious to get their oars on the Huskies.

In a race last Saturday advertised as an indicator to the possible challanger to Washington's West Coast supremacy, California stroked to an easy two and one-half length victory over Stanford in 5 minutes, 58.2 seconds for 2,000 meters.

Stanford won the frosh race on the rain-pelted Oakland Estuary in 6:17.2. Cal took the junior varsity clash in 6:35.

California travels south next Saturday to race Southern California and Long Beachc State. Stanford heads north for a race against Oregon State at Corvallis.

Celts Escape With 117-114 Playoff Win

BOSTON (UPI) — The Boston Celtics figured they were lucky —very, very lucky—to escape with a win. And they may have lost a key player in the process.

The aging National Basketball Assn. champions, hunting their fifth successive playoff crown, took a one-game lead on the Los Angeles Lakers in the best-of-seven final playoffs, 117-114, last night.

But when the game ended, rookie utilityman John Havlicek, was in a hospital.

Havlicek suffered an injury to his left ankle when he dived over the Los Angeles bench while going for a loose ball in the second period. He was helped from the court and the ankle already was badly swollen when he was taken to St. Elizebath's Hospital later.

Celtic officials said they wouldn't know until later today whether Havlicek will be back for tomorrow night's second game—or at all—in the final playoffs.

Actually, the Celtics had a bad game and they were the first to admit it. But for a last-minute scoring spree by Tom Heinsohn, the lakers might have been the series leader.

Guard Sam Jones, Boston scoring leader over the regular season, wound up with 29 points while Bill Russell netted 25 and Heinsohn 19. Jones also grabbed 15 rebounds to run second to Russell's 29, and had seven assists, second only to Bob Cousy's 11.

Boston's shooting was off in the first half, when the Celtics couldn't even hit from the foul line. After two periods, Boston had only 11 points on 22 free throw attempts while the Lakers had hit on 18 of 19 attempts.

LOCKED DOORS

But the Lakers, despite Elgin Baylor's 33 points, 25 by Jerry West and 23 more for Dick Barnett, couldn't hold onto leads that at times reached 13 points.

The Los Angeles coach, Fred Schaus, whose team lost a seven-game overtime playoff decision to Boston last year, didn't permit his players to talk with newsmen. In fact, Schaus kept the Los Angeles dressing room door locked for 15 minutes after the game, and sent his players out a side door before admitting the press.

NORTH CAL ROUNDUP

Stanford Spikers Nipped By Ducks

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Oregon's NCAA champion track team came from behind to edge Stanford's cindermen 74-71 Saturday in one of the best meets at Stanford Stadium since the Russia-United States competition there last summer.

The Stanford squad, one of the top track aggregations at Palo Alto in the last decade, lost it in the final 100 yards of the final event, the mile relay.

Ray Van Asten turned on the steam in the anchor leg of the relay to pass Stanford's Keith Emmanuels and give the victory to the Ducks.

In the other major Northren California meet during the weekend, California's Bears used their depth to overcome UCLA and the brilliant C. K. Yang by a score of 86-59.

Oregon's Keith Forman turned in two outstanding efforts at Stanford, winning the mile in 4:00.5 and the two-mile in 8.56.8. Steve Cortright of the Indians took three events—the 120-yard high hurdles in 14.3, the 330-yard hurdles in 37.4, and the triple jump with a leap of 47 feet 5 inches.

Yang did even better for the Bruins at Berkeley. He won the pole vault with a meet record vault of 15 feet ¾ inches, and also finished first in the 120 high hurdles, the javeline and the broad jump.

Sophomore Dave Archibald was the only double winner for the victorious Bears. He scored in the 440 and 220-yard dashes on the rain-besogged Edwards Field track.

U.S. Teams Ready For Pan-American Games

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — The men's track squad, largest group in America's delegation for the Pan American Games, assembled today minus one of its star high jumpers.

As this country's forces of some 370 men and women athletes were processed for the journey to Sao Paulo, Brazil, and the April 20-May 5 games, Art Lentz, assistant executive director of the U.S. Olympic Committee, reported that Joe Faust, Olympic high jumper from Southern California, had wired that he would be unable to compete in Brazil.

Lentz said he assumed Faust, who has cleared 7-feet 1, possibly faced difficulty in trying to arrange classroom absence.

That left the men's track squad of 41 with only one high jumper, Gene Johnson of the University of California. In the track competition, the major event on the Pan Am schedule, each nation is limited to two entries in each event.

Besides the trackmen, Monday's arrivals also included the strong U.S. swimming team and the wrestling squad. Already on hand, and awaiting the hectic processing routine, are 180 athletes including the men's basketball team and soccer squad, boxers, men and women divers, cyclists and women's basketball and volleyball players.

Seals Lose, Return To S.F. For Win-Or-Else Situation

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Portland Buckaroos will be skating on alien ice when they go after the clinching victory for the Southern Division crown of the Western Hockey League Wednesday

The Portland team nosed into a 3-2 lead in the best-of-seven series by edging San Francisco 2-1 in overtime at home last night, while Seattle, also at home, stopped Vancouver 5-2 and deadlocked the Northern Division play-offs, 2-2.

Neither Portland nor San Francisco managed to score until Gordon Fashoway slammed in a close shot and put the Buckaroos in the scoring column with almost eight minutes gone in the third period.

MANTHA SCORES

Moe Mantha evened the score for the Seals by slapping in a shot from just over the blue line five minutes from the end of the period. A 15-foot shot by Tom McCarthy at 3:12 in overtime gave Portland the victory.

If the Seals win Wednesday's game in San Francisco, a seventh game will be played in Portland April 23 to decide the winner of the Southern Division crown and the Lester Patrick Cup.

Red Wings Win On Faulkner's 'Sunday Punch'

DETROIT (UPI) — Little Alex Faulkner has cut loose with his "Sunday punch" once again and the Detroit Red Wings are back in the running for the Stanley Cup hockey championship.

For the third straight Sunday, the 5-foot-8, 165-pound Faulkner scored Detroit's game-winning goal in the National Hockey League playoffs, this latest tally enabling the Red Wings to beat the Toronto Maple Leafs, 3-2, last night.

Faukner, a player the Leafs let get away last year, scored twice last night, giving him five goals in nine playoff games against Chicago and Toronto. He scored only 10 during the regular season.

The Red Wings' victory cut Toronto's lead to 2-1 in this best-of-seven final series for hockey's most coveted trophy.

Are physically fit children better students?

There is some evidence that the physical fitness of children makes a difference in their scholastic performance.
Even without specific evidence, it stands to reason that the better a child's health, the better he may do in his studies.
Many schools have recognized this fact and are stepping up their programs of physical education. But in a surprisingly large number of our schools, there is still not enough emphasis on daily activities that develop stamina, strength, agility and other desirable qualities.
For the sake of your child's physical and mental progress, find out about the activities required of him daily. Urge your local school officials to provide for his physical development with at least 15 minutes of vigorous exercise daily.
If you'd like more information, write to The President's Council on Physical Fitness, Washington 25, D. C.

Sanders Captures Greensboro Title

GREENSBORO, N.C. (UPI)—Doug Sanders fired his worst round of the tournament yesterday but still won the Greater Greensboro Open going away with a 72-hole total of 270.

The tall Georgia boy who plays out of Ojai, Calif., shot a two-under-par 69 over the par 71 Sedgefield Country Club course yesterday. This combined with three other sub-par rounds—68-65-68—to put him four strokes ahead of second-place Jimmy Clark at 274.

Sanders took the lead after his brillian 65 in the second round, but frankly admitted he felt the pressure all the way.

"So many freak things happen in golf, I don't think a man can count on anything until he is right down to the wire," said Sanders, who collected $5,500 for his victory. He said he felt most pressure from veteran Sammy Snead, who has won this tournament seven times.

SNEAD EVEN

Snead, however, was even par 71 on his final round and finished in a three-way tie with Gary Player and Jack McGowan for seventh place with a 278.

Clark's second place finish was worth $3,500 and Australian Kel Nagle collected $2,400 for third place with a 275.

Sanders shot birdies on the fifth and ninth holes to make the turn two under par. He eagled the 14th, but took bogies on the 12th and 15th for a regulation 35 on the back nine.

Bunched at fourth place at 277 were Bob Charles, Art Wall Jr., and Harold Kneece.

BATHYSCAP — A 100-ton floating crane starts to swing the bathyscap—Trieste aboard the Point Defiance at the Naval Electronics docks in San Diego. The Defiance will transport the Trieste to Connecticut where it will join in the search for the hulk of the nuclear submarine Thresher. (AP Wirephoto)

Naval Court Told Of 'Object'

PORTSMOUTH, N.H. (UPI) — A naval officer testified today that an object at first believed to be a submarine was seen a few hours after the Thresher sank. He said the object disappeared and it may have been a fishing boat.

Lt. Cmrd. Stanley Hecker, 36, skipper of the escort vessel Skylark which was nearby when the Thresher sank Wednesday in the Atlantic with 129 men aboard, testified at a naval court of inquiry.

He said that during the search for the Thresher Wednesday afternoon the Skylark spotted an object which was believed to be a submarine "sail" or fin.

"We were anxious and possibly hoping it was the Thresher, Hecker said.

Hecker said the Skylark moved in closer and challenged the object. It refused to answer the challenge, he said. At one point, the Skylark was within 6,000 yards of the object when it disappeared, he said.

"It was lying to," he said. "Maybe it was a fisherman." He said the Skylark did not pursue the object.

Asked if the ship or object carried any identifying numbers, Hecker said, "No, it might have been grey at one time. It was a dirty color. I don't know what happened to it."

Commander Hecker testified that because of the deep depths in which the Thresher apparently plunged, his vessel, the Skylark, was in no position to offer any assistance.

Hecker earlier described the Thresher's death throes and said he was concerned the submarine might surface beneath the Skylark.

Hecker read off to the inquiry board the Skylark's log of the Thresher's last minutes in water one and one-half miles deep 220 miles east of Cape Cod.

His testimany was about the same as that of Skylark officers who testified Saturday.

Eleven persons still are in hospitals, in satisfactory condition.

Student Building On College Agenda

Marin Junior College District trustees will study plans for a College of Marin student union building and physical education complex at the offices of Balk and Booth, architects and engineers, at 16 Beale Street, San Francisco at 7:30 p.m. today.

The meeting was transferred this morning from the campus to San Francisco because of the number of large drawings to be viewed and the unavailability of a room at the college large enough to display them, said Mrs. Elizabteh M. Deedy, board president.

Corte Madera Councilmen To Hear Differences In State Bond Acts

Town Atty. Sherrod S. Davis will discuss differences between 1911 and 1915 public improvement act bonds in connection with a proposed assessment district at a meeting of the Corte Madera Town Council at 7:30 p.m. today in city hall.

The council requested Davis to furnish comparisons after two developers on April 1 proposed a project to resubdivide 46 lots in the Madera Park tract into 26 single-family building sites. The developers asked for financing under the 1915 public improvement act, under which the town would guarantee the bonds.

The council will discuss changes in a proposed grading and drainage ordinance and set a public hearing for a revised town plan. It will consider an appeal of a planning commission rejection of owner Frank Rusalem's latest proposal for a location of a new postoffice in the Corte Madera Center.

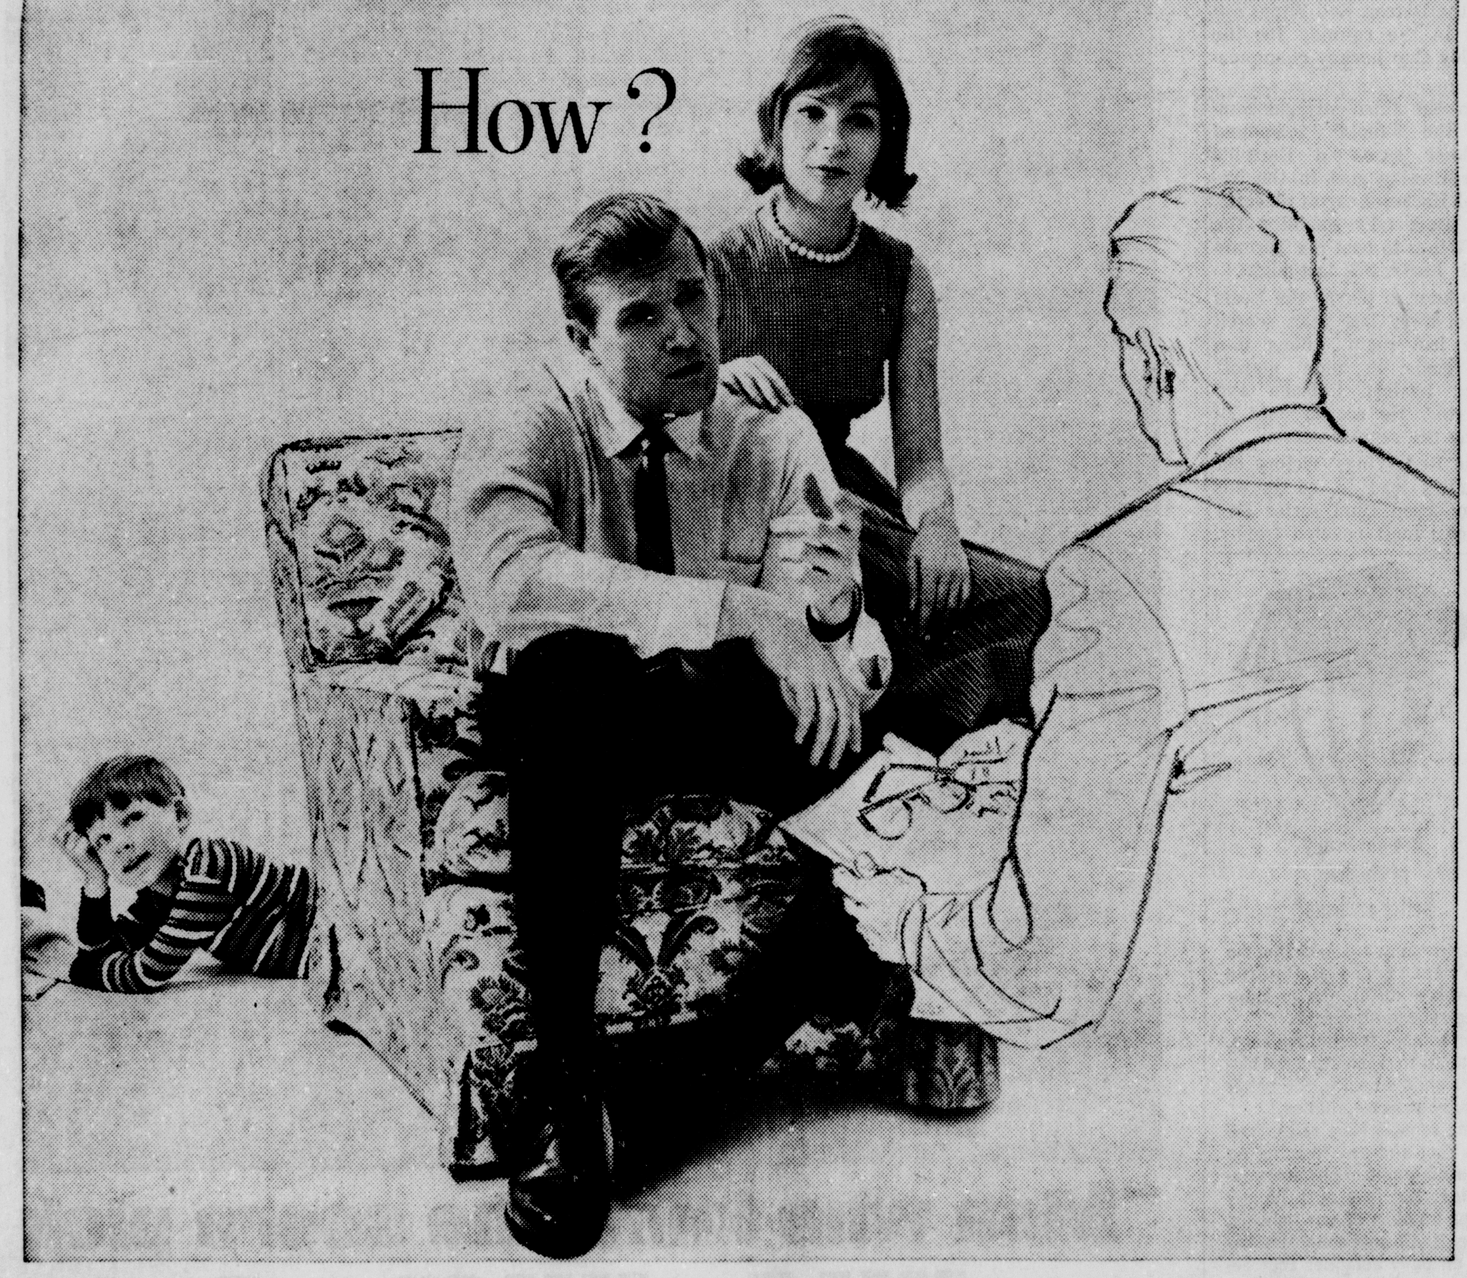
Guarantee money for college?

How?



With your life insurance...and the help your agent is trained to give you!

YOU: That's a pretty big promise. How's it possible?

YOUR LIFE INSURANCE AGENT: You simply use any policies that have cash values—as a way of putting money aside for your children's college education.

YOU: And then what?

AGENT: Well, as you know, these cash values in your policies increase, year by year, as you pay your premiums. When college days arrive you can use this money, if you need to, for tuition and other expenses.

YOU: But why do it with life insurance? There are lots of other ways I could save the money.

AGENT: Sure, if you're positive that you'll live to save it. With life insurance you know the full amount will be there—even if you're not.

YOU: I never thought of it that way. The money really is guaranteed, isn't it?

(Bank-by-mail is also a convenient way to capitalize on our charge-free checking, no matter where in Marin you live). But as our regular customers already know, those are just two of a long list of services that are changing this county's ideas about banking. We're not interested in what other banks do. We're interested in what banks ought to be, and in what people want in banks. And that means service. And that means thinking up the best way to reach into the homes of this county. TWO-INCH EASE

Mark Pattern From Hip Line To Give Skirt Tapered Look

"Several weeks ago you told us how to give a tapered effect to our straight skirts by stitching the side seams straight with the grain-line from the hips to the hem. I have tried this, but I can't get a straight seam where the skirt is shaped out at the hem. Is there an easy way to sew this straight seam?"

— Mrs. R. W.

Dear Mrs. R. W.:

First, remember that I mentioned stitching the seam straight from the hip-line to the hem. When you fit yourself, be sure that is a minimum of two inches extra fabric at the hips to assure proper ease.

To be sure the grain-line is perfect, measure from the center front to the side seam at the widest part of the hips (a), after the skirt has been properly fitted. This measurement can be marked the same distance in several places on the lower skirt, see (b) and (c). Do the same with the skirt back (this measurement will not be the same as the front). Stitch the lower part of your skirt on these new marks and it should hang perfect if you have been accurate.

"After each piece of your old dress has been ripped apart, and carefully pressed, (cottons should be laundered and lightly starched), pull a thread down through the center of each piece. This is the exact grain of the fabric and a perfect way to be sure your new dress will be cut with the exact same grain-line that was originally marked on your pattern."

— Mrs. E.

"Should a back zipper be inserted so the edges meet at the center or installed like a skirt zipper?" — Mrs. G. C.

Dear Mrs. G. C.:

You will find that most of your good clothes today will have the back zippers lapped just like a side zipper. After all, the zipper is certainly not a decorative part of your garment and we want to conceal it as much as possible. Pretend you are closing a side seam and simply shift to the center back and your zipper will be lapped in the correct direction.

"I don't look good in a tuck-in blouse and wonder if it is possible to make an overblouse out of one?" —Mrs. M.K.

Dear Mrs. M. K.:

Yes, this is possible and not too difficult. The darts will probably have to be changed to suit your figure. An overblouse is usually fairly straight (however, this should be decided by the individual figure.) You will probably have to shorten the blouse a little.

Be sure to leave a generous hem of at least one and a half inches. The hem should be finished with a bias strip of interfacing one-half inch narrower than the hem. This will give the overblouse a firm look at the hem. After all, an overblouse is actually a type of jacket and if you were making one from scratch, I would suggest you under-line it completely with a light weight firm fabric.

"I made a beautiful suit last fall of a soft tweed with muted colors. The detail of the jacket back, which also became part of the front, was so unusual that I decided to knit this section the exact size of the piece of my pattern

"I carefully blocked it and then backed it with a firm woven interfacing. In addition to being a conversation piece it has held its shape perfectly!"

This is a wonderful and creative idea. Because of the noted interest in knitting, we will welcome questions and suggestions concerning knitting involved with sewing problems.

Mrs. H. F. Shaeffer, Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., is this week's tailor trix winner and will be sent a pressing board.

YOUR SEWING GLOSSARY

Walking foot: This is an attachment that fits some makes of sewing machines which controls the way the fabric feeds into the machine. Part of the foot moves and part of it doesn't, which keeps the top layer of fabric from shifting forward. This attachment is perfect for any top stitching around finished edges, stitching plaids, etc.

Antiques Show, Sale To Feature Expert Advisors On Decorating

Family antiques can be used handsomely and attractively by giving careful attention to appropriate style, line and color, according to A. I. D. member, Mrs. Betty Perdue of Mill Valley.

Mrs. Perdue, who works with her husband, William, on construction, remodeling and interior design, has just completed planning the decor for a large San Rafael colonial home, with the happy result that it "just sings," according to the owner.

"We've used white, gold and shades of green, and have included some beautiful family antiques—a Federal mirror over the mantle, lovely chairs, tables, chests—with a serene, comfortable result."

BY OPENING doorways, adding damask wallpaper, louvred doors, bookshelves and exquisite fixtures, the Perdues have created a setting for both contemporary and antique furniture.

Similar effectiveness has been achieved in other Perdue-decorated homes, also using antiques: a home in Oriental motif, a contemporary ranch-style, and a San Francisco town house.

"Besides adding interest and beauty to your home, antiques are a sound investment," says Mrs. Perdue, "providing enjoyment and satisfaction, and, during the years, increasing in value."

Mrs. Perdue and Mrs. Helen Van Cleave Park, both of Mill Valley, will be on hand for interior decorating advice at the 11th Annual Marin County Antiques Show and Sale, April 25-28. The show is sponsored by the Mill Valley Episcopal Church of Our Saviour.

CHAIRMAN of the show is Mrs. John B. Wyand. Her committee includes the Mesdames Harold Jolley and Ehrling Carolsen, dealer relations; Harrison M. Leppo, publicity; D. Murray Hammond, kitchen; Leslie Wellington, house; Richard D. Rider, hostesses; Eugene W. McGeorge, advance ticket sales; Richard N. Jessup, outdoor advertising; E. M. Tobin, guest book; Clayton Pickersgill, telephoning.

COMPLETING the list of committee chairmen are the Mesdames George Unmacht and Jay Chilton, decorations; Harry Smith and Aubry Harwood, dining room; Herbert B. Marsh, treasurer; John F. Richardson and John J. Savage, Grandmother's Cupboard; A. E. Jurgenson, scrapbook; Earl F. Reinke, staffing; Jay Chilton, quarter cards, and Ennis B. Gicker, art work.

Grandmother's Cupboard features homemade gourmet items: chutneys, chowchow, breads, cakes, rolls, candies, jellies, jams, cookies.

REFRESHMENTS are served; both luncheon and supper will be available. Hours are from noon until 10 p.m., except Sunday, when the show closes at 6 p.m.

Supervising Editor

Don't Swaddle Your 12-Year Olds: They Grow Into Hothouse Plants

MARIE W.—She should let him come to New York alone.

ELAINE A.—I wouldn't dream of letting him travel alone.

MARIE W.—My brother lives in Florida and I live in New York with our parents. We'd counted on a visit from him and his family at Eastertime because their 12-year-old son, whom we haven't seen for two years, had a 10-day vacation. His parents make several trips north a year on business. Well we were sadly disappointed because Chippy went on a Scout encampment instead. We've asked him up for two weeks when school lets out. He can travel alone. Lots of kids do.

ELAINE A.—I don't care what other kids do. I know my son, and I'm not putting him on a bus, as Marie suggests, to go to New York alone. And we can't make another trip to bring him so soon after this one. It's hard to make our plans coincide with his vacations. Chippy loves New York and really wants to accept his grandparents' standing invitation. But he'd have to be at least 16 before we'd consider letting him travel alone. He'd lose his money or his way.

THE COUNCIL—Let's hope the Scout toughening program can win out with Chippy over his mother's swaddling closeness. She's far behind in her duty of preparing her son to take full responsibility for his social behavior at age 16 when a lapful of new rights and privileges descends upon him.

A child psychiatrist, Dr. Jerome L. Schulman, claims that a normal time-table would have a boy of nine making 50 per cent of all decision affecting his daily life—such as how much milk to drink, what to wear, how to handle his allowance, when to do homework.

If Elaine had been setting the proper groundwork for self-sufficiency, Chippy might now—even at 12—be ready to try a solo trip with enough poise and self-possession not to get lost or even flustered. We don't approve of pushing a child. But neither can we condone "ploughing under" what's ready to grow. How many would-be oaks are metamorphosed by over-protective parents into hothouse plants?

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Czechs Check Alcoholics With Tough Rules To Combat Disease

VAN DELLEN

Many medical and lay experts hope to combat the problems associated with alcoholism and traffic accidents by any means short of a new Volstead act. Instead of prohibition, they pin their hopes on getting tougher with violators. No one has suggested the firing squad, which was faced by one foreign motorist who caused a death while tipsy.

Czechoslovakia has a new law order-the confirmed drinker to consult a physician when his condition endangers the state or interferes with his work or family life. In some instances, the alcoholic may be forced to undergo institutional care if the physician believes it necessary.

BUT THIS is only part of the law. The toper's wages are paid in part or in full to his dependents if he cannot control his addiction and it creates a hardship for the family. In addition, he is fired or transferred to another job for six months if he experiences an industrial injury or road accident traceable to drinking. The Czechs feel the person knows what he is doing when he imbibes and then engages in an activity that is potentially dangerous to his fellow citizens. The penalty may be a year's imprisonment.

All Czech traffic policemen carry phials containing a chemical reagent through which any suspected driver is required to blow. If the material changes in color, the individual is taken to the police station for a more accurate test.

THE DRUNKEN driver was described at the Third International Conference on Alcohol and Road Traffic as egotistical, anti-social, unadaptable, and easily tempted. The only defense we have against this group is stiffer laws aimed not only at the violator but also the person serving drinks to a driver.

Alcoholics have a high accident rate. Moreover, the incidence of suicide among these old soaks is far above the national average. Dr. Melvin L. Selber of Ann Arbor, Mich., believes the automobile is an ideal self-descructive instrument, especially for those intent on concealing their desire to commit suicide.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.)

VIOLENT SNEEZING

E. D. writes: My husband always has sneezed very hard — so much so, it tires him out. The other night he sneezed twice and fell to the floor. What happened? Did he cut off his own wind, break a blood vessel, or what?

REPLY

The sneezing reflex, like the cough reflex, may lead to unconsciousness occasionally, especially when the sneeze is violent. Now and then, stroke ensues.

PARALYZED EXTREMITIES

V. T. writes: What is the difference between paraplegia and quadriplegia?

REPLY

Paraplegia is weakness or paralysis of both legs and quadriplegia involves both arms and legs. In addition, the muscles of the bladder and bowel are involved. Injury to the spinal cord usually is responsible.

DIABETES AND DRINKING

R. C. writes: Is is dangerous for a man who is taking diabetic pills to drink alcohol?

REPLY

No, provided he uses discretion and includes the caloric value of the cocktail in the diabetic diet.

COFFEE IS COFFEE

J. F. writes: Does instant coffee coat the kidneys with a harmful substance?

REPLY

No. Instant coffee has the same effect on the kidneys as regular coffee.

Steel Price Excitement Held Good Sign

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—Will the excitement over steel prices give business as a whole the fillip it has been hoping for:

Some stock traders think so. They've been saying for weeks that what the economy really needed to get moving again was not a change in the statistics or indicators, or even the promise of some pump-priming laws. It needed a belief on the part of the public—whether soundly based or partly fancied—that business was about to take off on a climb.

So when the steel industry switches from complaints about stagnation to boosting prices because some products are in sufficient demand to make an increase seem likely to stick, these stock traders think both consumers and businessmen will get the message.

The peril, in the view, is that the price increases might not stick. Then the public might take fright instead of increased confidence.

For this theory of what the economy needs to get moving is that right now psychology is the big thing.

That's because the public has a record amount of savings to tap for purchases. And many companies are in a financial position to step up current activities or are just waiting for a signal the public's in a mood for more spending to expand or start new ventures.

Also behind some of the thinking that sent stock prices up when one steel company raised prices, and again when the president didn't crack down on the move because it involved only a few products, is the effect on union phychology.

Conditions that start prices stirring after a long hibernation may also motivate the unions. They may figure that an economy on the move — more precisely the company they work for — can afford higher wages.

If price and wage increases are large enough and widespread, it spells inflation. This is what President Kennedy fears and warns against. But just the chance of it can send stock prices up, either as a hedge or in hopes of profit and dividend increases.

Price increases on a few steel products by a couple of companies, Wheeling and Lukens, aren't enough to spell inflation or even a significant upturn in industrial activity. Nor would the increases be enough if they spread only to other steel companies. One industry can have a boom or a recession without the general economy tagging along.

But a price boost that sticks because demand is that much better could point the way to price increases on the consumer and industrial products made from steel.

And a number of other industries besides steel have been complaining that operating costs were pinching profits. They, too, have been eager to raise prices—if they could. So a general price and wage increase in steel—as the president said—might trigger similar boosts in other industries.

The greater demand for some steel products is real enough. But in guessing whether a general price boost is feasible, steel makers and users will have to decide how much of the increased ordering is for current use and how much is for stockpiling against the threat of a production stoppage this summer. The union can reopen the wage contract after April 30, and could strike 90 days after that.

NATURE IS UNFAIR TO ELDERLY WOMEN

By DELOS SMITH

NEW YORK (UPI) — It is the contention of Dr. Robert A. Wilson, a veteran woman's doctor, that nature is unfair to elderly women but that medical science can do something about it.

Nature "desexes" woman when she approaches her 50s and thereafter she declines rapidly mentally and physically even though she may live to be a hundred, in his view. Nature does no such deteriorating thing to man, although it usually kills him sooner.

"Our streets abound with them, (elderly women,) walking stiffly in twos and threes, seeing little and observing less," he said. "It is not unusual to see an erect man of 75 vigorously striding along on the golf course, but never a woman of this age."

The young girl is "essentially of neuter gender." With puberty her body chemistry is flooded with the hormones of feminity and they make her a woman. At the menopause, the "change of life," estrogens production is abruptly curtailed. She returns to essential "neuter gender."

"There is variation in degree but not in fact," continued Wilson. "Men do not live as long as the so-called weaker sex. However, they age, if free from serious disease, in a proportional manner. The gonads fade gradually, but there is no sudden shutdown."

Because these gonad hormones are responsible for conspicuous sex characteristics, the layman thinks of them as "sex hormones." Biochemistry knows, however, that they play important parts in the chemical processes which maintain whole body functional efficiency.

Wilson said that in the "estrogen-starved" elderly woman, muscle cells lose their strength, there is a loss in weight, energy and height, arteries "harden" at a greatly accelerated rate, she is made susceptible to mounting blood pressure, and her bones become progressively more brittle.

And there are mental effects.

"A large percentage of women who escape severe depression acquire a vapid cow-like feeling called a 'negative state'," he said. "It is a strange misery. Such people react poorly to pleasant stimuli, yet do not sink to great depths of depression. The world appears as through a gray veil, and they live as docile harmless creatures missing most of life's values."

Wilson wishes medical science to apply "replacement therapy" to those elderly women who are markedly declining, that is, give them synthetic estrogens to replace those which their gonad glands are no longer producing.

He is devoting himself to persuading other gynecologists to accept this view. At present and generally speaking, synthetic estrogens are administered to elderly women with caution. Wilson recently rebutted at length in the Journal of the American Medical Assn. a common medical suspicion that they might somehow cause cancer.

For his newest persuasion he used the journal of the American Geriatrics Society.

"Lifelong substitution therapy is simply a matter of 'knowledge'," he said. "There is great need for the reorientation of almost every man and woman in the civilized world."

Wilson has been practicing gynecology and obstetrics for 42 years, and is still at it, at the Methodist Hospital of Brooklyn.

Twice A Year Finland Sends Check For $400,000 To U.S.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Twice a year, the U.S. receives from Finland a check for $400,000—a check that has a bit of history attached to it.

The money represents Finland's installment on its debt to the U.S. that resulted from World War I. Sixteen other countries that borrowed money during that era just stopped paying.

"They're still on the books as debts owed," a Treasury spokesman said.

Except for the semi-annual check from the Finns and a page or two devoted to the subject in the Treasury's annual report, the World War I debts appear to be a dead issue.

A reporter seeking information on these overdue bills soon finds this to be true. When the question is posed, usually knowledgeable federal officials scratch their heads and reach for tomes that have to be dusted before being opened.

The most recent data on the subject in the Treasury Department library consists of mimeographed reports already yellowing with age.

The bills accumulated for armaments shipped to the Allies during the war, and supplies and services sold to the Allies and other countries to help them during the post-war rehabilitation.

The indebtedness of foreign governments resulting from World War I originally totaled about 10.3 billion dollars. Approximately 2.7 billion doliars was paid before the debtors gave up.

Two countries—Cuba and Liberia—paid their bills in full. Nicaragua's debt was cancelled by a 1938 agreement.

The sixteen others are being carried as delinquent on Treasury books.

The latest report shows that the balance—with annual accumulating interest of about 4 per cent—has shot to nearly 20 billion dollars.

And as each year goes by, the interest is added on, and the total rises even higher.

Finland originally owed 8.2 million dollars for supplies purchased on credit. The Finns have paid 13.5 million dollars in interest and on the principal. They still owe about six million dollars.

Congress in 1949 passed a law under which Finland's payments are used to finance an educational exchange program between that country and the U.S.

So far, the U.S. has done much better in collecting the bills that resulted from World War II. Uncle Sam originally was due 22 billion dollars from 78 countries—all charged to the last war.

About nine billion dollars of this has been paid, and nearly all of the countries, including Russia, are meeting their annual installments. The big exception is China which still owes 251 million dollars for World War II, and hasn't paid anything.

317,000 Persons On Jobless Rolls

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The State Employment Department says that 317,000 persons a week received unemployment insurance benefits during February under insurance programs administered by the Department.

Total payments amounted to 14.4 million dollars a week.

Meanwhile, convictions were obtained in 442 unemployment insurance cases involving fraud.

Advertising helped it happen

By stimulating mass demand, advertising helped create a mass market for electric light bulbs. As demand grew, more and more were made. The more of them made, the less each one cost. Result: new and better electric light bulbs mass produced for more people at lower prices by America's remarkable and competitive economic system. Is this worthwhile? Then, so is advertising worthwhile.

MARIN BUSINESS And INDUSTRY

By HARRY CRAFT

The Way Construction Is Going, Population Of 200,000 Is Near

From the rate of Marin residential construction—particularly that in apartment dwelling—one might be tempted to forecast a 200,000 population figure for the county by the end of the year, but it's hardly likely. Chances are, there will be enough housing for that many this year, but the Marin County Development Assn. notes a longer lag in new apartment occupancy than in single family dwellings. It's a reasonable guess that the 200,000 mark may be reached sometime in 1964.

Residential building permits taken out in March exceeded the number for January and February together. Multiple units represented 77.6 per cent of the total, with 55.6 per cent in dollar volume. Much of this activity was concentrated in the incorporated San Rafael area around Terra Linda—the current "hotbed," between housing and Northgate Shopping Center construction.

All Marin construction permits for March totaled $8,919,894—79.2 per cent higher than February and 28.3 per cent higher than March, 1962.

YORK AND CO., investment securities firm headquartered in San Francisco, celebrated its eighth anniversary last Thursday. Palmer York Jr. who attributes much of his company's rapid growth to its specialized program for training young men in the securities field, told newsmen that he looks for increased interest in insured mutual fund savings investments in California in 1963.

The firm which maintains an office in San Rafael under resident partner Jess J. France Jr., is responsible for the Independent-Journal's daily list of over-the-counter quotations.

GORDON WALKER, president of Marin Mortgage Co., San Rafael, has announced the future opening of a newly affiliated company—Columbia Mortgage Co.—to be located in Santa Rosa. It will be the exclusive representative in that city for San Francisco Federal Savings and Loan Assn. John Belton has been appointed manager.

B. D. SCHULZ REALTY, formerly at 2042 Fourth Street, San Rafael, has moved to new offices at 1817 Fourth Street. This doubles the office capacity which will mean expanding services and enlarging the staff. David J. Crabtree of Marinwood is new sales manager.

NEW MANAGER at Annex Motors, San Rafael, is David Cargill, former Rambler dealer in Vallejo and Antioch. He lives in Martinez.

BARRY JEWETT of Santa Rosa has been appointed sales supervisor covering all of Marin County for Royal Crown Cola Beverage Co. of San Rafael and Santa Rosa.

MARIN DISTRIBUTORS for Anheuser-Busch's new Busch Bavarian beer that was placed on the Bay Area market today are Silvio and Joseph De Maestri. A separate firm has been set up under the name of De Maestri and Son Beverages to handle Budweiser and Michloeb beers as well as the Busch Bavarian.

Eventually a warehouse will be built at 43 Bay Street, San Rafael. Until then, business will be transacted from De Maestri Distributing Co., 628 Linardo Street. The younger De Maestri who's given up professional baseball will be in charge of the new operation.

Busch's new product has been on the market in other regions for six years. Complete California coverage is expected by April 22.

'Law For Layman' Set At Jewish Center

A new series is the adult education programs offered by the Marin Jewish Community Center, "Law, for the Layman," will start April 24 at 8 p.m. in the center at Mission and Forbes avenues, San Rafael.

Lectures by attorney Julius Selinger of San Anselmo on April 24 and May 8 will be on "Wills, Estates and Probates" and "Real Estate: Pitfalls and Remedies." Attorney Ann Diamond of Ross will talk on "Marriage, Divorce and Property Rights" on May 1.

Aids Play Production

Miss Bronwyn Hughes of Kentfield, a freshman student at Wellesley College, was in charge of costumes for the recent production of an early 19th century German play by the college's German club. Miss Hughes, a Redwood High School graduate, is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard R. Hughes of 233 Evergreen Drive.

FILM ON CANCER TONIGHT

Gordon Isaacs, 7, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Isaacs, 690 Camino Del Canon, Mill Valley, peers into video lens at the KRON-TV studios in San Francisco. Young Gordon, the victim of a rare eye cancer, was in "Cancer: Enigma of Life," an "Assignment Four" documentary which ran a year ago. It will be seen again at 6:30 p.m. tonight on Channel Four. The second of a two-part series will be run next Monday. Young Gordon, who is with program manager Robert H. Glassburn of Greenbrae, was treated by an atom-smasher device better known in nuclear research than in saving the life of a small boy.

Alumni Concert Slated At Tam

Pianist Robert Lamb will give an alumni concert at 8 p.m. today in Ruby R. Scott Auditorium of Tamalpais High School.

Lamb was graduated from Tamalpais High School in 1956, having won a Marin Music Chest Scholarship and Bank of America award for music. He has studied at San Francisco State College, San Francisco Music and Art School, and with Arthur Eisler and Adolph Baller.

He will play selections varying from Bach to Bartok. The Tamalpais Music Club is sponsoring the concert.

Radio Group To Meet

The Citizens Band Assn., an organization interested in two-way radio communication, will meet at 8 p.m. May 11 in the San Rafael High School. The meeting is open to the public.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain — without surgery.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by a doctor's observations.

Pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all — this improvement was maintained in cases where a doctor's observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such astonishing statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®)—the discovery of a world-famous research institution. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

This new healing substance is offered in suppository or ointment form called Preparation H®. Ask for individually sealed convenient Preparation H Suppositories or Preparation H Ointment with special applicator. Preparation H is sold at all drug counters.

March Building Permits Reach All-Time Record

March building permits in Marin County hit an all-time record for the month.

Building permit valuation for the month was $8,919,894, the Marin County Development Assn. reported today. This total is 28.3 per cent above the total for March, 1962.

San Rafael led the pace with the building department issuing permits with a total valuation of $4,139,889.

The accumulated total for the first three months of 1963 stands at $19,685,205 which is 27.6 per cent above the total for the first three months of last year.

Apartments again dominated construction last month with 421 out of the total 585 residential permits issued being for multiple dwellings.

Other leaders in the March construction were Novato with a total $960,221, Tiburon Peninsula with $818,779, and Larkspur with $772,625.

The county building department issued a total of $2,178,669 for construction in unincorporated areas. Total for the 10 cities of Marin was $6,741,225.

Other city totals were: Mill Valley, $229,625; San Anselmo, $219,358; Corte Madera, $126,426; Fairfax, $117,742; Belvedere, $108,600; Sausalito, $61,600, and Ross, $4,800.

Art Competition Slated To Provide Murals For Babcock Memorial Wing

An art competition to provide three wall murals for the new William Babcock Memorial Wing at Marin General Hospital was announced today by the hospital and the Marin Society of Artists.

Only Marin County artists may enter the contest, the sponsors ruled.

Entries must be delivered to the Frances Young Gallery at the Marin Art and Garden Center in Ross by 9 p.m., May 7. Rules and entry blanks are available at the hospital and at the Frances Young Gallery.

The murals will be painted on a 40-foot wall in the nursery viewing room, on a 20-foot wall in the pediatrics ward play area, and on a 12-foot wall in the emergency lounge. Each winning entry will receive $300.

Artists may submit entries for one, two, or all three murals. Judges include William Gaw, Berkeley artist; Jose Moya del Pino of Ross; Robert Stanton, architect who designed the hospital and new wing; Mrs. Roy M. Ibach of Mill Valley, secretary of the hospital board; and Mrs. Walter M. Boland of Stinson Beach, representing the hospital volunteers.

Entries may be done in any medium, but the murals must be done with latex or other plastic base prints.

Marin Retail Sales In Gain

Marin is one of 22 counties in the state which more than doubled general merchandise retail sales between 1950 and 1961, the California State Chamber of Commerce reported today.

Marin County's total retail sales of general merchandise amounted to $6,621,000 in 1950. The figure had jumped to $15,712,000 in 1961, for a gain of 137 per cent.

Marin's percentage of increase was 14th highest among the 58 counties in California.

The two highest-gain counties were Orange, with 505 per cent increase, and Contra Costa, with 329 per cent gain. The state as a whole showed a 93 per cent gain in the same period.
